Emerging Technologies to

Promote and Evaluate Physical Activity Dan J Graham, James Aaron Hipp, Simon Marshall, Jacqueline Kerr, 2014-10-23

Increasingly efforts to promote and measure physical activity are achieving greater precision greater ease of use and or greater scope by incorporating emerging technologies This is significant for physical activity promotion because more precise measurement will allow investigators to better understand where when and how physical activity is and is not occurring thus enabling more effective targeting of particular behavior settings Emerging technologies associated with the measurement and evaluation of physical activity are noteworthy because 1 Their ease of use and transferability can greatly increase external validity of measures and findings 2 Technologies can significantly increase the ability to analyze patterns 3 They can improve the ongoing systematic collection and analysis of public health surveillance due to real time capabilities associated with many emerging technologies 4 There is a need for research and papers about the cyberinfrastructure required to cope with big data multiple streams processing aggregation visualization etc and 5 Increasingly blurred boundaries between measurement and intervention activity e g the quantified self self tracking movement may necessitate a reevaluation of the conventional scientific model for designing and evaluating these sorts of studies There have been many recent disparate advances related to this topic Advances such as crowdsourcing allow for input from large diverse audiences that can help to identify and improve infrastructure for activity e g large group identification of environmental features that are conducive or inhibiting to physical activity on a national and even global scale Technologies such as Global Positioning Systems GPS and accelerometry are now available in many mobile phones and can be used for identifying and promoting activity and also understanding naturalistically occurring activity SenseCam and other personal visual devices and mobile apps provide person point of view context to physical activity lifestyle and timing Further multiple sensor systems are enabling better identification of types of activities like stair climbing and jumping that could not previously be identified readily using objective measures like pedometers or accelerometers in isolation The ability of activity sensors to send data to remote servers allows for the incorporation of online technology e g employing an online social network as a source of inspiration or accountability to achieve physical activity goals and websites such as Stickk com enable individuals to make public contracts visible to other users and also incorporates financial incentives and disincentives in order to promote behaviors including physical activity In addition the increasing use of active gaming e g Wii XBox Kinect in homes schools and other venues further underscores the growing link between technology and physical activity Improvements in mathematical models and computer algorithms also allow greater capacity for classifying and evaluating physical activity improving consistency across research studies Emerging technologies in the promotion and evaluation of physical activity is a significant area of interest because of its ability to greatly increase the amount and quality of global recorded measurements of PA patterns and its potential to more effectively promote PA Emerging technologies related to physical activity build on our own and others interdisciplinary collaborations in employing technology to address public health challenges This research area is innovative in that it uses emerging resources including social media crowdsourcing and online gaming to better understand patterns of physical activity

Sexual Predation and TEFL Vaughan Rapatahana, 2024-12-16

Teaching English as a Foreign Language TEFL enables sexual predation across the wide range of activities and locales it encompasses beyond schools and inclusive of voluntourist and aid programmes where EFL is taught This predation is carried out not only by male Native speaking English Teachers NETs on their students peers and members of local communities but also carried out on female NETs and EFL students by locals Is TEFL inherently sexist utilising gender biased texts This book is the first to examine in considerable detail such English language sexual imperialism and to suggest ways to curtail it

Against Individualism Henry Rosemont Jr., 2015-03-25 The first part of Against Individualism A Confucian Rethinking of the Foundations of Morality Politics Family and Religion is devoted to showing how and why the vision of human beings as free independent and autonomous individuals is and always was a mirage that has served liberatory functions in the past but has now become pernicious for even thinking clearly about much less achieving social and economic justice maintaining democracy or addressing the manifold environmental and other problems facing the world today In the second and larger part of the book Rosemont proffers a different vision of being human gleaned from the texts of classical Confucianism namely that we are first and foremost interrelated and thus interdependent persons whose uniqueness lies in the multiplicity of roles we each live throughout our lives This leads to an ethics based on those mutual roles in sharp contrast to individualist moralities but which nevertheless reflect the facts of our everyday lives very well The book concludes by exploring briefly a number of implications of this vision for thinking differently about politics family life justice and the development of a human centered authentic religiousness This book will be of value to all students and scholars of philosophy political theory and Religious Chinese and Family Studies as well as everyone interested in the intersection of morality with their everyday and public lives

Language by mouth and by hand Iris Berent, Susan Goldin-Meadow, 2015-05-11 While most natural languages rely on speech humans can spontaneously generate comparable linguistic systems that utilize manual gestures This collection of papers examines the interaction between natural language and its phonetic vessels human speech or manual gestures We seek to identify what linguistic aspects are invariant across signed and spoken languages and determine how the choice of the phonetic vessel shapes language structure its processing and its neural implementation We welcome rigorous empirical studies from a wide variety of perspectives ranging from behavioral studies to brain analyses diverse ages from infants to adults and multiple languages both conventional and emerging home signs and sign languages High-Level Adaptation and Aftereffects Rocco Palumbo, Stefania D'Ascenzo, Luca Tommasi, 2017-04-28 Aftereffects generally occur after a prolonged exposure adaptation to a first stimulus possessing one given property followed by presentation of a stimulus bearing a neutral value of that property The aftereffect consists in a change in appearance of the neutral stimulus following the adapter compared to the appearance of the neutral stimulus when it is perceived without any previous exposure to the adapter The transient phenomena of perceptual aftereffects are believed to depend on the activation of neuron populations that respond selectively to a given property of the stimuli Studying how adaptation occurs which stimulus properties are sensitive to it which timings are necessary whether individual differences modulate its occurrence has thus become an indirect way to probe the plasticity of sensory functions in the nervous system recently extending to more cognitive and representational aspects of neural coding In the last two decades indeed it has been demonstrated that aftereffects occur not only for low level properties of stimuli such as motion color or orientation but also for high level properties Many studies have proven that high level proprieties of the stimuli e g gender identity ethnicity or age of a face or a voice are sensitive to this phenomenon It has been shown for example that the prolonged exposure to a female or male face produces a gender misperception in the opposite direction when an androgynous face is shown after the adapter Furthermore recent studies have also shown that aftereffects are not strictly contingent upon the physical features that make up stimuli but they seem to run across the high level proprieties subjects are adapted to These evidences are supported by cross category adaptation studies which underlie how aftereffects occur even across stimuli that do not share physical features e g bodies and faces but that instead share common higher level properties such as gender Given the growing body of research focused on adaptation and aftereffects in high level perception at the boundaries with perceptual learning attention and cognition the purpose of this topic is to provide a picture of the state of the art relative to the specific phenomena of adaptation in high level perceptual processing
