Democratic Citizenship and the Free Movement of People Willem Maas, 2013-09-05 Democratic states guarantee free movement within their territory to all citizens as a core right of citizenship Similarly the European Union guarantees EU citizens and members of their families the right to live and the right to work anywhere within EU territory Such rights reflect the project of equality and undifferentiated individual rights for all who have the status of citizen but they are not uncontested Despite citizenship s promise of equality barriers incentives and disincentives to free movement make some citizens more equal than others This book challenges the normal way of thinking about freedom of movement by identifying the tensions between the formal ideals that governments laws and constitutions expound and actual practices which fall short Individual states and the European Union have either created or permitted the creation of direct and indirect barriers to mobility that undermine the promise of freedom of movement The volume identifies these barriers explains why they have arisen discusses why they are difficult to remove and explores their consequences Joseph Carens University of Toronto
