Budget Speech For 2015 2016 South Africa:

Acid Mine Drainage in South Africa Suvania Naidoo, 2016-10-13 This SpringerBrief focuses on Acid Mine Drainage AMD in the three basins in the Witwatersrand South Africa It provides a background to AMD and its impacts from a social science perspective The South African government and non governmental organizations response to AMD is assessed as well the socio economic and developmental effects of AMD This volume which is based on the author s Master s dissertation at UNISA involves interviews with a range of experts in the field from government departments environmental organisations activists the private sector mining tourism sector and the agricultural sector The book discusses existing policy documents on AMD and provides recommendations in response to the many socio economic impacts which have not been fully addressed A literature review on the global context of AMD is provided South Africa s water systems are already severely harmed by climate change different forms of pollution and poorly managed sanitation systems For these reasons the country is becoming increasingly water stressed and therefore water will continue to become much scarcer in the future As a result of AMD s continued impact on South Africa s water systems as a technical or scientific matter as well as the policy implications for the mining sector water security and socio economic sustainability has become a highly contested issue

Problematizing the Foreign Shop Gastrow, Vanya, 2018-08-03 Small businesses owned by international migrants and refugees are often the target of xenophobic hostility and attack in South Africa This report examines the problematization of migrant owned businesses in South Africa and the regulatory efforts aimed at curtailing their economic activities In so doing it sheds light on the complex ways in which xenophobic fears are generated and manifested in the country s social legal and political orders Efforts to curb migrant spaza shops in South Africa have included informal trade agreements at local levels fining migrant shops and legislation that prohibits asylum seekers from operating businesses in the country Several of these interventions have overlooked the content of local by laws and outed legal frameworks The report concludes that when South African township residents attack migrant spaza shops they are expressing their dissatisfaction with their socio economic conditions to an apprehensive state and political leadership In response governance actors turn on migrant shops to demonstrate their allegiance to these residents to appease South African spaza shopkeepers and to tacitly blame socio economic malaise on perceived foreign forces Overall these actors do not have spaza shops primarily in mind when calling for the stricter regulation of these businesses Instead they are concerned about the volatile support of their key political constituencies and how this backing can be undermined or generated by the symbolic gesture of regulating the foreign shop

The Report: South Africa 2013 Oxford Business Group, 2013-09-04 The Rainbow Nation benefits from an internationally competitive private sector which accounts for roughly 70% of GDP and extremely competitive infrastructure its utility sector for example produces just under half of the total power generated on the African continent South Africa represents by far the most developed market in Africa but there are still some structural challenges it is grappling with Government strategies have set a target of increasing labour market participation from 54% in 2010 to 65% by 2030 bringing the number of workers in the formal sector to 25.3m people and lowering unemployment from 25% to 6%. While its fiscal space is narrow, long-term investments in infrastructure, education and health are expected to be key to attaining its growth potential. Recent years have seen both the public and private sectors look to strengthen regulatory frameworks in mining and industry in some cases like the automotive sector with impressive results.

Governance and the postcolony David Everatt, 2019-08-01 Civil society NGOs, governments and multilateral institutions all repeatedly call for improved or good governance yet they seem to speak past one another. Governance is in danger of losing all meaning precisely because it means many things to different people in varied locations. This is especially true in sub-Saharan Africa. Here the postcolony takes many forms reflecting the imperial project with painful accuracy. Offering a set of multidisciplinary analyses of governance in different sectors: crisis management, water, food security, universities in different locales across sub-Saharan Africa and from different theoretical approaches, network to adversarial network governance, this volume makes a useful addition to the growing debates on how to govern. It steers away from offering a correct definition of governance or from promoting a particular position on postcoloniality. It gives no neat conclusion but invites readers to draw their own conclusions based on these differing approaches to and analyses of governance in the postcolony. As a robust critical assessment of power and accountability in the sub-Saharan context, Governance and the Postcolony Views from Africa brings together topical case studies that will be a valuable resource for those working in the field of African international relations, public policy, public management and administration.

Integrated Space for African Society Annette Froehlich, 2019-09-18 This book provides an overview of the space sector in African countries from a legal and policy point of view, analysing how the African Union's Space Policy and Strategy (ASPS) is implemented and highlighting the various space activities in each country. Against this backdrop, it investigates the ASPS, identifying its policy goals, identifying and discussing its strategy. Moreover, it explores the ongoing regional cooperation programmes, the continent's leading space actors and their roles and the space-related regional fora and organizations reflecting on various initiatives including the African Leadership Conference on Space Science and Technology for Sustainable Development (ALC), the Regional African Satellite Communications Organisation (RASCOM) and the African Resource Management Satellite Constellation (ARMS-C). As such, it is a valuable source of information on space capacities in African countries.

Challenging Inclusive Education Policy and Practice in Africa, 2018-11-26 It is a fundamental right for all children to be given access to quality education to ensure they reach their full potential as individuals, a right which is reflected in international law in Article 26 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and supported by the Education for All Agenda 1990 and the United Nations Convention on the Rights of People with Disabilities and Optional Protocol 2006. Nation states across Africa have signed up to these protocols and remain committed to ensuring education for all children. The progress globally, however, in the past 25 years, including in Africa, has been slow. UNESCO 2015 Questions remain on why this is so and what can be done about it This book brings together researchers education policy makers and academics from the African community What is unique about this text is that it includes local insights narrated and critiqued by local professionals This book presents a wide range of African countries across the continent to provide a critical overview of the key issues affecting developments It questions the origins of ideas and definitions around inclusive education and the impact it has made on policy and ultimately practice within local socio cultural and economic communities both urban and rural It highlights positive developments as well as challenges and provides a deep understanding of why the process of implementing inclusive education is so complex in the African continent It provides an understanding of what is needed to develop a more sustainable model of inclusive education across the continent and within specific countries

Greening the South African Economy Mark Swilling, Josephine Kaviti Musango, Jeremy

Wakeford,2016-02-23 The depletion of South Africa's and in some cases the world's natural resources and the degradation of environmental sinks including the atmosphere lakes and rivers and land are continuing at such a rate that natural resource prices are climbing and many critical ecosystem services that underpin human welfare are increasingly threatened The concept of the green economy has gained increasing traction in South African policy discourses over the past few years However in much of this discourse it is viewed in a piecemeal way as one part or sector of the economy e.g an industrial sector dealing with manufacture and installation of renewable energy technologies and energy efficient equipment and appliances In the view of the authors greening the South African economy requires an application of sustainability principles and practices across the full range of primary secondary and tertiary sectors of the economy in an integrated manner The aim of this book is therefore to apply principles of sustainability and green economics to the entire South African socio-economic system and its major elements in an integrated and comprehensive manner Budget Speech Swaziland,2016
