Architecture in Dialogue with an Activated Ground Urs Bette,2020-03-30 Architecture in Dialogue with an Activated Ground sets out to validate the role of the unreasonable in the design process Using case study projects architect Urs Bette gives an insight into the epistemological processes of his creative practice and unveils the strategies he deploys in order to facilitate the poetic aspects of architecture within a discourse whose evaluation parameters predominantly involve reason

Themes discussed include the emergence of space from the staged opposition between the architectural object and the site and the relationship between emotive cognition and analytic synthesis in the design act In both cases there is a necessary engagement with forms of unreasonable thought action or behaviours By arguing for the usefulness and validity of the unreasonable in architecture and by investigating the performative relationship between object and ground Bette contributes to the discourse on extensions growth and urban densification that tap into local histories and voices including those of the seemingly inanimate the architecture itself and the ground it sits upon to inform the site related production of architectural character and space In doing so he raises debates about the values pursued in design approval processes and the ways in which site relatedness is both produced and judged The Surveyor & Municipal & County Engineer ,1892 HCI
