Architects Of The Culture Of Death:

Architects of the Culture of Death Benjamin Wiker, Donald Demarco, 2009-09-03 The phrase the Culture of Death is bandied about as a catch all term that covers abortion euthanasia and other attacks on the sanctity of life In Architects of the Culture of Death authors Donald DeMarco and Benjamin Wiker expose the Culture of Death as an intentional and malevolent ideology promoted by influential thinkers who specifically attack Christian morality s core belief in the sanctity of human life and the existence of man s immortal soul In scholarly yet reader friendly prose DeMarco and Wiker examine the roots of the Culture of Death by introducing 23 of its architects including Ayn Rand Charles Darwin Karl Marx Jean Paul Sartre Alfred Kinsey Margaret Sanger Jack Kevorkian and Peter Singer Still this is not a book without hope If the Culture of Death rests on a fragmented view of the person and an eclipse of God the future of the Culture of Life relies on an understanding and restoration of the human being as a person and the rediscovery of a benevolent God The personalism of John Paul II is an illuminating thread that runs through Architects serving as a hopeful antidote The Baroque in Architectural Culture, 1880-1980 Andrew Leach, John Macarthur, 2016-03-09 In his landmark volume Space Time and Architecture Sigfried Giedion paired images of two iconic spirals Tatlin s Monument to the Third International and Borromini s dome for Sant Ivo alla Sapienza The values shared between the baroque age and the modern were thus encapsulated on a single page spread As Giedion put it writing of Sant Ivo Borromini accomplished the movement of the whole pattern from the ground to the lantern without entirely ending even there And yet he merely groped towards that which could be completely effected in modern architecture achieving the transition between inner and outer space The intellectual debt of modern architecture to modernist historians who were ostensibly preoccupied with the art and architecture of earlier epochs is now widely acknowledged This volume extends this work by contributing to the dual projects of the intellectual history of modern architecture and the history of architectural historiography It considers the varied ways that historians of art and architecture have historicized modern architecture through its interaction with the baroque a term of contested historical and conceptual significance that has often seemed to shadow a greater contest over the historicity of modernism Presenting research by an international community of scholars this book explores through a series of cross sections the traffic of ideas between practice and history that has shaped modern architecture and the academic discipline of architectural history across the long twentieth century The editors use the historiography of the baroque as a lens through which to follow the path of modern ideas that draw authority from history In doing so the volume defines a role for the baroque in the history of architectural historiography and in the history of modern architectural culture Reading Architecture and Culture Adam Sharr, 2012-11-12 Architecture displays the values involved in its inhabitation construction procurement and design It traces the thinking of the individuals who have participated in it their relationships and their involvement in the cultures where they lived and worked In this way buildings their details and the documents used to make them can be read closely for cultural insights Introducing the idea of reading buildings as cultural artefacts this book presents perceptive readings by eminent writers which demonstrate the power of this approach The chapters show that close readings of architecture and its materials can test commonplace assumptions help architects to appreciate the contexts in which they work and indicate ways to think more astutely about design The readings collected in this innovative and accessible book address buildings specifications and photographs They range in time from the fifteenth century examining the only surviving drawing made by Leon Battista Alberti to the recent past projects completed by Norman Foster in 2006 and Herzog and De Meuron in 2008 They range geographically from France to Puerto Rico to Kazakhstan and they range in fame from buildings celebrated by critics to house extensions and motorway service areas Taken together these essays demonstrate important research methods which yield powerful insights for designers critics and historians and lessons for students

Architecture, Culture, and Spirituality Thomas Barrie, Julio Bermudez, Phillip James Tabb, 2016-03-09 Architecture has long been understood as a cultural discipline able to articulate the human condition and lift the human spirit yet the spirituality of architecture is rarely directly addressed in academic scholarship The seventeen chapters provide a diverse range of perspectives grouped according to topical themes Being in the World Sacred Secular and the Contemporary Condition Symbolic Engagements Sacred Landscapes and Spirituality and the Designed Environment Even though the authors approach the subject from a range of disciplines and theoretical positions all share interests in the need to rediscover redefine or reclaim the sacred in everyday experience scholarly analysis and design

Innovations in Hospice Architecture Stephen Verderber, Ben J. Refuerzo, 2003-09-02 Providing much needed focus on hospice projects in the context of unprecedented rates of societal ageing this new reference book presents an overview of major recent developments in this rapidly evolving building type The authors present an overview of the historical origins of the contemporary hospice and the diverse variations on the basic premise of hospice care and offer a series of case studies of exemplary hospices The most innovative work in this area over the past decade has been in Japan the US Canada and the UK and the authors describe and analyze examples both as individual projects and as comparable yet differing approaches Hospice Architecture will be essential reading for anyone involved in the planning design and construction of hospices

Passion and Control: Dutch Architectural Culture of the Eighteenth Century Freek Schmidt,2017-07-28 Passion and Control explores Dutch architectural culture of the eighteenth century revealing the central importance of architecture to society in this period and redefining long established paradigms of early modern architectural history Architecture was a passion for many of the men and women in this book wealthy patrons burgomasters princes and scientists were all in turn infected with architectural mania It was a passion shared with artists architects and builders and a vast cast of Dutch society who contributed to a complex web of architectural discourse and who influenced building practice The author presents a rich tapestry of sources to reconstruct the cultural context and meaning of these buildings as they were perceived by contemporaries including representations in texts drawings and prints and builds on recent research by cultural historians on consumerism material culture and luxury print culture and the public sphere and the history of ideas and mentalities

Artistic Practices and Cultural Transfer in Early Modern Italy Allison Sherman,2017-07-05 For too long the centre of the Renaissance has been considered to be Rome and the art produced in or inspired by it This collection of essays dedicated to Deborah Howard brings together an impressive group of internationally recognised scholars of art and architecture to showcase both the diversity within and the porosity between the centre and periphery in Renaissance art Without abandoning Rome but together with other centres of art production the essays both shift their focus away from conventional categories and bring together recent trends in Renaissance studies notably a focus on cultural contact material culture and historiography They explore the material mechanisms for the transmission and evolution of ideas artistic training and networks as well as the dynamics of collaboration and exchange between artists theorists and patrons The chapters each with a wealth of groundbreaking research and previously unpublished documentary evidence as well as innovative methodologies reinterpret Italian art relating to canonical sites and artists such as Michelangelo Titian Tintoretto Veronese and Sebastiano del Piombo in addition to showcasing the work of several hitherto neglected architects painters and an inimitable engineer inventor

The Women Who Changed Architecture Jan Cigliano Hartman,2022-03-29 A visual and global chronicle of the triumphs challenges and impact of over 100 women in architecture from early practitioners to contemporary leaders Marion Mahony Griffin passed the architectural licensure exam in 1898 and created exquisite drawings that buoyed the reputation of Frank Lloyd Wright Her story is one of the many told in The Women Who Changed Architecture which sets the record straight on the transformative impact women have made on architecture With in depth profiles and stunning images this is the most comprehensive look at women in architecture around the world from the nineteenth century to today Discover contemporary leaders like MacArthur Fellow Jeanne Gang spearheading sustainable design initiatives reimagining cities as equitable spaces and directing architecture schools An essential read for architecture students architects and anyone interested in how buildings are created and the history behind them Constructing a Place of Critical Architecture in China Guanghui Ding, 2016-03-09 For the past 30 years The Chinese journal Time Architecture Shidai Jianzhu has focused on publishing innovative and exploratory work by emerging architects based in private design firms who were committed to new material theoretical and pedagogical practices In doing so this book argues that the journal has engaged in the presentation and production of a particular form of critical architecture described as an intermediate criticality as a response to the particular constraints of the Chinese cultural and political context The journal s publications displayed a dual critique a resistant attitude to the dominant modes of commercial building practice characterised by rapid and large scale urban expansion and an alternative publishing practice focusing on emerging independent architectural practitioners through the active integration of theoretical debates architectural projects and criticisms This dual critique is illustrated through a careful review and analysis of the history and programme of the journal By showing how the work of emerging architects including Yung Ho Chang Wang Shu Liu Jiakun and Urbanus are situated within the context of the journal s special thematic editions on experimental architecture exhibition group design new urban space and professional system the book assesses the contribution the journal has made to the emergence of a critical architecture in China in the context of how it was articulated debated presented and perhaps even produced within the pages of the publication itself The protagonists of critical architecture have endeavoured to construct an alternative mode of form and space with strong aesthetic and socio political implications to the predominant production of architecture under the current Chinese socialist market economy To rebel against certain forms of domination and suppression by capital and power is by no means to completely reject them rather it is to use thos Architectural interventions in rural settings master, 1998

USA Gwendolyn Wright, 2008-02-15 Gwendolyn Wright s USA is an engaging account the evolution of American architecture from the late nineteenth century to the twenty first Multiform Owen Hopkins, Erin McKellar, 2021-02-23 Guest edited by Owen Hopkins and Erin McKellar Our current moment is one of profound political and economic change Historically these moments of transition have seen a parallel period of cultural and notably architectural flux In the late 1970s this was manifested in Postmodernism Today a number of architects are looking again at this movement and

redeploying a range of its tactics and approaches using contemporary methods and techniques These include different modes of collage formal reference and quotation stylistic eclecticism symbolism in form material and ornament and the bold expressive use of colour both natural and synthetic While the design that results from these multiform tactics and approaches has been seen as a kind of neo Postmodernism this issue argues that this is a simplistic and superficial reading Instead it posits this phenomenon as the architectural attempt both conscious and unconscious to reflect grapple with and make sense of the current political and economic transition and the backdrop of the climate emergency Rather than responding to this situation by attempting to marshal architecture around a single unifying narrative this issue makes the case for the transformative possibilities offered by an approach that is ad hoc eclectic and pluralist Contributors Mat Barnes Jennifer Bonner Graham Burn James Crawford and Alexander Turner Mario Carpo David Knight and Cristina Monteiro David Kohn Stephen Parnell Lera Samovich Geoff Shearcroft Dirk Somers Catrina Stewart and Hugh McEwen L a Catherine Szacka and Amin Taha Featured architects AOC Architecture Bovenbouw Architectuur CAN Groupwork David Kohn Architects DK CM Fala Atelier MALL Studio MUTT Office S M Walala Studio Yinka Ilori Studio Building Institution Kim Föörster,2024-02-21 Building Institution chronicles the expansion of architecture as a profession and discipline in the postmodern era Kim Föörster traces the compelling history of the Institute for Architecture and Urban Studies which was active in New York from 1967 to 1985 Drawing on extensive archival research and oral histories he constructs a collective biography that details the Institute s diverse roles and the dynamic interplay between research and design education culture and publishing By exploring the transformation of cultural production into a practice as well as the culturalization and global postmodernization of architecture the volume contributes significantly to the institutional history of architecture

Architecture and Welfare Thordis Arrhenius, Ellen Braae, Guttorm Ruud, 2025-01-27 Architecture was fundamental to the realization of welfare state policy in the Nordic countries translating democratic ideals into concrete spatial materializations An inclusive notion of welfare for all was embraced by a generation of architects landscape architects and planners who labored to give physical form to ideas of equality collectivity and democracy producing a vast architectural output in Scandinavia during the postwar years Today however the architectural legacy of this era is contested Welfare for all no longer enjoys the social or political consensus it once did This publication critically engages with this contested architectural legacy and provides a nuanced portrait of postwar welfare architecture coming to terms with a contentious past and facing an uncertain future With newly commissioned photographic work by contemporary Nordic artists Based on an interdisciplinary research project by KTH Stockholm Oslo School of Architecture University of Copenhagen Internationally renowned contributors shed light on aspects of the relationship between architecture and welfare The Contested Territory of Architectural Theory Elie G. Haddad, 2022-10-21 This book brings together a diverse group of theoreticians to explore architectural theory as a discipline assessing its condition and relevance to contemporary practice Offering critical assessment in the face of major social and environmental issues of today 17 original contributions address the relevance of architectural theory in the contemporary world from various perspectives including but not limited to politics gender representation race environmental crisis and history The chapters are grouped into two distinct sections the first section explores various historical perspectives on architectural theory mapping theory's historiographical turn and its emergence and decline from the 1960s to the present the second offers alternative visions and new directions for architectural theory incorporating feminist and human rights perspectives and addressing contemporary issues such as Artificial Intelligence and the Age of Acceleration This edited collection features contributions from renowned scholars as well as emergent voices with a Foreword by David Leatherbarrow This book will be of great interest to graduate and upper level students of architecture as well as academics and practicing architects

The Case for Auschwitz Robert Jan van Pelt, 2016-03-23 From January to April 2000 historian David Irving brought a high profile libel case against Penguin Books and Deborah Lipstadt in the British High Court charging that Lipstadt's book Denying the Holocaust 1993 falsely labeled him a Holocaust denier The question about the evidence for Auschwitz as a death camp played a central role in these proceedings Irving had based his alleged denial of the Holocaust in part on a 1988 report by an American execution specialist Fred Leuchter which claimed that there was no evidence for homicidal gas chambers in Auschwitz In connection with their defense Penguin and Lipstadt engaged architectural historian Robert Jan van Pelt to present evidence for our knowledge that Auschwitz had been an extermination camp where up to one million Jews were killed mainly in gas chambers Employing painstaking historical scholarship van Pelt prepared and submitted an exhaustive forensic report that he successfully defended in cross examination in court
