Modern Architecture and the Sacred Ross Anderson, Maximilian Sternberg, 2020-11-26 This edited volume Modern Architecture and the Sacred presents a timely reappraisal of the manifold engagements that modern architecture has had with the sacred It comprises fourteen individual chapters arranged in three thematic sections Beginnings and Transformations of the Modern Sacred Buildings for Modern Worship and Semi Sacred Settings in the Cultural Topography of Modernity The first interprets the intellectual and artistic roots of modern ideas of the sacred in the post Enlightenment period and tracks the transformation of these in architecture over time The second studies the ways in which organized religion responded to the challenges of the new modern self understanding and then the third investigates the ways that abstract modern notions of the sacred have been embodied in the ersatz sacred contexts of theatres galleries memorials and museums While centring on Western architecture during the decisive period of the first half of the 20th century a time that takes in the early musings on spirituality by some of the avant garde in defiance of Sachlichkeit and the machine aesthetic the volume also considers the many varied appropriations of sacrality that architects have made up to the present day and also in social and cultural contexts beyond the West Rituals and Walls Pier Vittorio Aureli, Maria Shéhérazade

Giudici, 2016 The idea of sacred space has not been considered a relevant topic in recent architecture a neglect even more pronounced in terms of debates about the city The texts and projects in this book aim to redress this oversight and re open a contemporary understanding of its relevance The book itself is the result of a year long investigation developed in the AA s Diploma Unit 14 It consists of design proposals that range from a multifaith school in Strasbourg to the reconstruction of a festival hall in the city of Xian China from a Jesuit monastery in Detroit to a women s Islamic centre in Paris The book is complemented by essays by Pier Vittorio Aureli Maria Shéhérazade Giudici and Hamed Khosravi Provided by publisher

Sacred architecture A. T. Mann, 1996 The Paradigm and Paradox of Place Karim Youssef, Karim W., 2023

The contemporary city needs redemption through the rediscovery of its sacred functions and the architecture of its built form. The contemporary city not only suffers a crisis of representation and imagination but also a crisis of contextualization and identity. The primary task of architecture is not the creation of a pretty building but an impulse for the construction of the human subject defining what it is to be human. To achieve that, our understanding of architecture needs to rediscover its core. Two converging calls for rediscovery of architecture's core are the return to the architecture of place and to the architecture of the sacred. The architecture of place raises issues of determinants of place such as identity, cohesion, character, and aura of place issues that problematize the unity of architecture. The architecture of the sacred, on the other hand, raises issues of memory and imagination, moral virtue, truth, and beauty issues that raise the symbolic quotient as the core of the sacred. The nature of architecture involves simultaneously a rediscovery of place and the sacred. After exploring the dimensions, properties, aspects, and dynamics of space, the book constructs a framework for sacred architecture based on theories of place, systematics, and our six main mental faculties. Inspired by the theory of human becoming, the framework for sacred architecture brings together several strands of scholarly literature and synthesizes perspectives on the sacred from several disciplines such as psychology, philosophy, and religious studies, as well as architecture and urbanism, the latter two of which constitute the focus of the book. Sacred architecture is defined foremost as a place event of human becoming created to transform, empower, and originate. The book does not claim to have solved the enigma of sacred architecture, an enigma that harbors dichotomies between the material and the transcendent, the real and the ideal, matter and mind, the instrumental and the communicative. Nevertheless, the book points out the processes underlying the form of sacred architecture to further an understanding of this topic for architectural and urban design students, designers, and practitioners who face the challenge of creating meaningful, communicative, and transformative places.

The Earth, the Temple, and the Gods Vincent Scully, 2013-10-10

When The Earth, the Temple, and the Gods first appeared in 1962, it was hailed by the critics for its erudition, historical imagination, and boldness. Subsequently, this comprehensive study of Greek temples and site planning has been widely accepted as a landmark of architectural history for it offers an inspired and arresting insight into the nature and function of Greek sacred architecture. Vincent Scully, one of America's most brilliant and articulate scholars, understands the temples as physical embodiment of the gods in landscapes that had for the Greeks divine attributes and sacred connotations. He explores the meanings inherent in the calculated interaction between man-made sculptural forces and the natural landscape, and he relates this interaction to our understanding of Greek culture from the pre-Greek Aegean to the Hellenistic period. Years of research and travel were devoted to The Earth, the Temple, and the Gods. Scores of sites were restudied on the spot, including many lesser-known sanctuaries throughout the Hellenic world. The study includes reconstruction drawings, plans, and maps, along with its richly illustrated, detailed discussions of major sites.

The Return of Sacred Architecture

Herbert Bangs, 2006-11-14 An inspirational call for a return to the tenets of traditional architecture as a remedy for the dehumanizing standards of modern architecture Explains how modern architecture is emblematic of our current estrangement from the spiritual principles that shaped humanity's greatest civilizations Reveals how the ancient laws of sacred proportion and harmony can be restored The ugly buildings that characterize the modern landscape are inferior not only to the great cathedrals of medieval Europe and the temples of ancient Egypt and Greece but even to lesser buildings of the more recent past The great masterworks of our ancestors spoke to humanity's higher nature Architect Herbert Bangs reveals how today's dysfunctional buildings bring out the worst in humanity reinforcing that which is most base within us He shows how through the ancient laws of proportion and number architecture once expressed the harmonious relationship between man and the cosmos In early times the architect worked within a sacred and esoteric tradition of creating structures through which human beings could gain insight into the nature of the divine reality Today that tradition has been abandoned in favor of narrowly defined utilitarian principles of efficiency and economy In The Return of Sacred Architecture Bangs provides the key to freeing architecture from the crude functionality of the twentieth century the architects of the modern human landscape must find the deep felt connection to the cosmos that guided the inner lives of those who built the temples of the past The form of their buildings will then reflect the sacred patterns of geometry and proportion and bring forth greater harmony in the world

The Hermeneutics of Sacred Architecture: Hermeneutical calisthenics : a morphology of ritual-architectural priorities Lindsay Jones,2000 The two volumes of this investigation into how we perceive sacred architecture propose an original interpretation of built environments as ritual architectural events Exploring the world s cultures and religious traditions Volume One maps out patterned responses to sacred architecture according to the human experience mechanism interpretation and comparison of architecture Volume Two an exercise in comparative morphology offers a comprehensive framework of ritual architectural priorities by looking at architecture as orientation as commemoration and as ritual context

New Sacred Architecture Phyllis Richardson,2004 This timely book reflects an awakening of interest in religious faiths and the emergence of a global exchange of architecture and culture While Spain s Rafael Moneo has recently completed a cathedral in Los Angeles Britain s Thomas Heatherwick is designing a Buddhist temple in Japan John Pawson is working on a Cistercian monastery in the Czech Republic and Richard Meier has completed his Jubilee Church in Rome It seems as one Wallpaper registered pundit commented religion is getting a redesign and the architect s faith is as unimportant as his or her nationality I Looking at ways in which contemporary architects are approaching religious or meditative space this book focuses on churches chapels temples synagogues and mosques that have been built in the last few years and that represent a late twentieth early twenty first century aesthetic

Sacred Text -- Sacred Space ,2011-11-11 This book is not designed to define the sacred It is rather a bringing together of case histories a rich varied collection from medieval early modern and nineteenth century contexts in England and Wales that goes beyond familiar paradigms to explore the dynamic protean interaction in different times and places between sacred space and text Essentially an interdisciplinary enterprise it focuses a range of historical and critical methodologies on that complex process of transformation and transmission whereby spiritual intuitions experiences and teachings are made palpable in art and architecture poetry and prayer in histories scriptures and liturgies even landscapes So the sacred variously constructed and inscribed makes itself felt on the pulse is a presence a voice even now not stilled

Sacred Spaces G. J. Wightman,Gregory J. Wightman,2007 A great deal has been written about religious architecture in ancient cultures but the great bulk of the literature has tended to be culture specific Wightman s volume offers for the first time a comprehensive synopsis of the rich manifestations of religious architecture throughout the ancient world In addition the book provides a conceptual framework within which cross cultural comparisons of religious architecture may usefully take place and tackles some fundamental issues in relation to the definition and characterisation of sacred space in ancient contexts The last fifteen years have witnessed the focusing of a great deal of scholarly attention on the archaeology of religions with the result that today researchers are able to make use of a broad armoury of theoretical and methodological approaches Yet theory must at all times be tested against material evidence and here Wightman s volume is timely in laying out empirical data pertaining to all the major traditions of religious architecture in antiquity The book is comprised of twenty one chapters divided into five parts Beginning around twelve thousand years ago at the transition of the Holocene the book embarks on an explorative journey around the ancient globe ending between the 3rd and 5th centuries AD The first four parts of the book deal with broad regions of the ancient world Western Pre Classical Europe and the Mediterranean the Graeco Roman world South and East Asia and the Americas Part Five covering about a quarter of the book has three chapters each dealing with aspects of sacred space Identity and Meaning Language of Sacred Space Text and Image The text is complemented by approximately 400 line drawings in colour many of which are Wightman s reconstructions of ancient temples and sanctuaries and 200 photographic plates most in colour The volume is rounded off by a comprehensive bibliography with essential literature highlighted benefiting both the general reader and specialists Wightman s book will become a work of reference to those interested in gaining or furthering an understanding of architecture archaeology and religion in the ancient world Sacred Power, Sacred Space Jeanne Halgren Kilde, 2008-07-21

Jeanne Halgren Kilde s survey of church architecture is unlike any other Her main concern is not the buildings themselves but rather the dynamic character of Christianity and how church buildings shape and influence the religion Kilde argues that a primary function of church buildings is to represent and reify three different types of power divine power or ideas about God personal empowerment as manifested in the individual s perceived relationship to the divine and social power meaning the relationships between groups such as clergy and laity Each type intersects with notions of Christian creed cult and code and is represented spatially and materially in church buildings Kilde explores these categories chronologically from the early church to the twentieth century She considers the form organization and use of worship rooms the location of churches and the interaction between churches and the wider culture Church buildings have been integral to Christianity and Kilde s important study sheds new light on the way they impact all aspects of the religion Neither mere witnesses to transformations of religious thought or nor simple backgrounds for religious practice church buildings are in Kilde s view dynamic participants in religious change and goldmines of information on Christianity itself Transcending Architecture Julio Bermudez, 2015 Please fill in marketing copy Rituals and Walls Architectural Association (Gran Bretanya). Diploma 14, 2016 The Sacred Architecture of Byzantium Nicholas N. Patricios, 2014-04-24 The churches of the Byzantine era were built to represent heaven on earth Architecture art and liturgy were intertwined in them to a degree that has never been replicated elsewhere and the symbolism of this relationship had deep and profound meanings Sacred buildings and their spiritual art underpinned the Eastern liturgical rites which in turn influenced architectural design and the decoration which accompanied it Nicholas N Patricios here offers a comprehensive survey from the age of Constantine to the fall of

Constantinople of the nexus between buildings worship and art His identification of seven distinct Byzantine church types based on a close analysis of 370 church building plans will have considerable appeal to Byzantinists lay and scholarly Beyond categorizing and describing the churches themselves which are richly illustrated with photographs plans and diagrams the author interprets the sacred liturgy that took place within these holy buildings tracing the development of the worship in conjunction with architectural advances made up to the 15th century Focusing on buildings located in twenty two different locations this sumptuous book is an essential guide to individual features such as the synthronon templon and ambo and also to the wider significance of Byzantine art and architecture Sacred Buildings Rudolf Stegers,2008-05-16 In a systematic section this volume introduces the design technical and planning fundamentals of building churches synagogues and mosques In its project section it also presents about seventy realized structures from the last three decades

Architecture, Culture, and Spirituality Thomas Barrie,Julio Bermudez,Phillip James Tabb,2016-03-09 Architecture has long been understood as a cultural discipline able to articulate the human condition and lift the human spirit yet the spirituality of architecture is rarely directly addressed in academic scholarship The seventeen chapters provide a diverse range of perspectives grouped according to topical themes Being in the World Sacred Secular and the Contemporary Condition Symbolic Engagements Sacred Landscapes and Spirituality and the Designed Environment Even though the authors approach the subject from a range of disciplines and theoretical positions all share interests in the need to rediscover redefine or reclaim the sacred in everyday experience scholarly analysis and design
