Mededelingen Nederlands Instituut Voor Toegepaste Geowetenschappen TNO. Netherlands. Rijks Geologische Dienst, 1997 Rodanum Guus Besuijen, 2008 Beneath the surface of Aardenburg a small town in the south western part of the Netherlands lie the remains of a Roman settlement that is presumed to have been named Rodanum Extensive archaeological excavations from the late 1950s to the late 1980s revealed that the settlement was similar in size or even larger than the modern town Its centre was formed by a large castellum type fortification wall that enclosed several large stone buildings The settlement was connected to the sea by a natural watercourse that defined its economic and logistical importance in the region Rodanum's military function was to secure the regional coast against attacks by Germanic tribes via the North Sea which occurred around AD 175 It continued to be inhabited until the late third century or the beginning of the fourth century after which the settlement was deserted until the early Middle Ages The first part of this study provides an overview of Aardenburg during the Roman period in which its economic and military functions within the region are explored In particular the military and civilian character of the town is discussed The second part contains a study of the metal objects and aims to present significant additional information This part concludes with a critical review of the current state of research at this site Holocene Evolution of Zeeland (SW Netherlands) M. Koldeweij, 1993 Sp tmittelalter Kunstobjekte ger te Buntmetall Innocence Abroad Benjamin Schmidt, 2001-11-12 Innocence Abroad explores the encounter between the Netherlands and the New World in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries Between Rhetoric and Reality Huibert J. Zuidervaart, Rob H. van Gent, 2013 Felix Meritis the remarkable Temple of Enlightenment adorns the Amsterdam canals since 1788 The building accommodated the most ambitious attempt in the Netherlands for the integration of activities regarding literature music the visual arts commerce and the sciences What so far went unnoticed is that from the very start Felix Meritis was also equipped with an astronomical and meteorological observatory In fact it was the first scientific observatory in the Netherlands designed from the drawing board This book describes the history of the observatory which functioned until 1889 with a special focus on the tensions between the objectives formulated by its founding fathers and the ultimate difficult practice of scientific research The Felix Meritis Observatory was crucial for the training and early careers of various eighteenth and nineteenth century astronomers among which Nieuwland Van Beeck Calkoen Moll Keijser Uylenbroek and Kaiser the father of modern Dutch astronomy Cover

Archaeological and Historical Aspects of West-European Societies Marc Lodewijckx, 1996 The contents of this volume of essays in his honour gives a good overview of the fields in which Prof Van Doorselaer has been active throughout his academic career This book is especially an Album Amicorum filled with reminiscences and intentions to continue the work The voluminous size of this book may be considered as an adequate measure of the overall sympathy for Prof Van Doorselaer We hope that this publication may encourage him to remain active in the field of archaeology and that the co operation among colleagues stimulated by this project may be continued in the future Jan Gossart and the Invention of Netherlandish Antiquity Marisa Bass, 2016-03-29 This is the first in depth historical study of Jan Gossart ca 1478 1532 one of the most important painters of the Renaissance in northern Europe Providing a richly illustrated narrative of the Netherlandish artist s life and art Marisa Anne Bass shows how Gossart s paintings were part of a larger cultural effort in the Netherlands to assert the region s ancient heritage as distinct from the antiquity and presumed cultural hegemony of Rome Focusing on Gossart s vibrant monumental mythological nudes the book challenges previous interpretations by arguing that Gossart and his patrons did not slavishly imitate Italian Renaissance models but instead sought to contest the idea that the Roman past gave the Italians a monopoly on antiquity Drawing on many previously unused primary sources in Latin Dutch and French Jan Gossart and the Invention of Netherlandish Antiquity offers a fascinating new understanding of both the painter and the history of northern European art at large Gevonden voorwerpen H. K. van Nierop, 1993-03-25 This is the first full scale analysis of the social and political transformation of the nobility of Holland during the revolt against Spain in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries In the age of Rembrandt nobles seemed to have been obliterated by the rising bourgeois merchants However in this study of the impact of the Dutch revolt the author finds that Dutch nobles were extremely successful in maintaining their positions within the supposedly bourgeois Republic forming the elite in administrative political and economic systems This is a revised edition of van Nierop's widely acclaimed Dutch publication Palaeohistoria 47/48 (2005/2006) P.
