Origin of the Dutch coastal landscape Peter Vos, 2015-06-30 The topic of this book is the Origin of the Dutch coastal landscape during the Holocene The landscape evolution is visualized in series of palaeogeographical maps and the driving mechanisms behind the environmental changes are discussed The practice to make palaeogeographical map reconstructions in the Netherlands developed after the Second World War when a lot of regional geological and soil scientific mapping programs were carried out by government institutions and universities These maps show when and how the surveyed sediments were formed The palaeogeographical map reconstructions are subsequently used for the understanding and modeling of the long term coastal evolution coastal management issues landscape archaeological purposes and for education and public information reasons Geoarchaeological investigations play an important role in this study Geological and palaeo environmental data from archaeological excavations key sites provided essential information for the palaeolandscape reconstructions In the presented regional and local case studies of this book examples of these sites are shown

Mededelingen Nederlands Instituut Voor Toegepaste Geowetenschappen TNO. Netherlands. Rijks Geologische Dienst, 1997 Rodanum Guus Besuijen, 2008 Beneath the surface of Aardenburg a small town in the south western part of the Netherlands lie the remains of a Roman settlement that is presumed to have been named Rodanum Extensive archaeological excavations from the late 1950s to the late 1980s revealed that the settlement was similar in size or even larger than the modern town Its centre was formed by a large castellum type fortification wall that enclosed several large stone buildings The settlement was connected to the sea by a natural watercourse that defined its economic and logistical importance in the region Rodanum s military function was to secure the regional coast against attacks by Germanic tribes via the North Sea which occurred around AD 175 It continued to be inhabited until the late third century or the beginning of the fourth century after which the settlement was deserted until the early Middle Ages The first part of this study provides an overview of Aardenburg during the Roman period in which its economic and military functions within the region are explored In particular the military and civilian character of the town is discussed The second part contains a study of the metal objects and aims to present significant additional information This part concludes with a critical review of the current state of research at this site Amsterdam's Atlantic Michiel van Groesen, 2017 In 1624 the Dutch West India Company established the colony of Brazil Only thirty years later the Dutch Republic handed over the colony to Portugal never to return to the South Atlantic Because Dutch Brazil was the first sustained Protestant colony in Iberian America the events there became major news in early modern Europe and shaped a lively print culture In Amsterdam s Atlantic historian Michiel van Groesen shows how the rise and tumultuous fall of Dutch Brazil marked the emergence of a public Atlantic centered around

Holland's capital city Amsterdam served as Europe's main hub for news from the Atlantic world and breaking reports out of Brazil generated great excitement in the city which reverberated throughout the continent. Initially the flow of information was successfully managed by the directors of the West India Company. However when Portuguese sugar planters revolted against the Dutch regime and tales of corruption among leading administrators in Brazil emerged they lost their hold on the media landscape and reports traveled more freely. Fueled by the powerful local print media popular discussions about Brazil became so bitter that the Amsterdam authorities ultimately withdrew their support for the colony. The self-inflicted demise of Dutch Brazil has been regarded as an anomaly during an otherwise remarkably liberal period in Dutch history and consequently generations of historians have neglected its significance. Amsterdam's Atlantic puts Dutch Brazil back on the front pages and argues that the way the Amsterdam media constructed Atlantic events was a key element in the transformation of public opinion in Europe.

Religious Choice in the Dutch Republic Judith Pollmann, 1999 How did people learn their Bibles in the Middle Ages? Did church murals, biblical manuscripts, sermons, or liturgical processions transmit the Bible in the same way? This book unveils the dynamics of biblical knowledge and dissemination in thirteenth and fourteenth century England. An extensive and interdisciplinary survey of biblical manuscripts and visual images, sermons, and chants reveals how the unique qualities of each medium became part of the way the Bible was known and recalled, how oral, textual, performative, and visual means of transmission joined to present a surprisingly complex biblical worldview. This study of liturgy and preaching, manuscript culture, and talismanic use introduces the concept of biblical mediation, a new way to explore Scriptures and society. It challenges the lay-clerical divide by demonstrating that biblical exegesis was presented to the laity in non-textual means while the naked text of the Bible remained elusive even for the educated clergy.

The Oxford Handbook of Thomas More's Utopia, 2023-11-15 Thomas More's Utopia is one of the most iconic translated and influential texts of the European Renaissance. This Handbook of specially commissioned and original essays brings together for the first time three different ways of thinking about the book in terms of its renaissance contexts, its vernacular translations, and its utopian legacies. It has been developed to allow readers to consider these different facets of Utopia in relation to each other and to provide fresh and original contributions to our understanding of the book's creation, vernacularization, and afterlives. In so doing it provides an integrated overview of More's text as well as new contributions to the range of scholarship and debates that Utopia continues to attract. An especially innovative feature is that it allows readers to follow Utopia across time and place, unpacking the often revolutionary moments that encouraged its translation by new generations of writers as far afield as France, Russia, Japan, and China. The Handbook is organized in four sections on different aspects of the origins and contexts of Utopia in the 1510s, on histories of its translation into different vernaculars in the early modern and modern eras, and on various manifestations of utopianism up to the present day. The Handbook's Introduction outlines the biography of More, the key strands of interpretation and criticism relating to the text, the structure of the Handbook, and some of its recurring themes and issues An appendix provides an overview of Utopia for readers new to the text Building the Atlantic Empires: Unfree Labor and Imperial States in the Political Economy of Capitalism, ca. 1500-1914 ,2015-10-14 Building the Atlantic Empires explores the relationship between state recruitment of unfree labor and capitalist and imperial development Contributors show Western European states as agents of capitalist expansion imposing diverse forms of bondage on workers for infrastructural plantation and military labor Extending the prolific literature on racial slavery these essays help transcend imperial colonial geographic and historiographic boundaries through comparative insights into multiple forms and ideologies of unfree labor as they evolved over the course of four centuries in the Dutch French English Spanish and Portuguese empires The book raises new questions for scholars seeking connections between the history of servitude and slavery and the ways in which capitalism and imperialism transformed the Atlantic world and beyond Contributors are Pepijn Brandon Rafael Chambouleyron James Coltrain John Donoghue Karwan Fatah Black Elizabeth Heath Evelyn P Jennings and Anna Suranyi With a foreword by Peter Way Memory Wars in the Low Countries, 1566-1700 Jasper van der Steen,2015-07-28 The Revolt in the Netherlands erupted in 1566 and tore apart the Low Countries In Memory Wars in the Low Countries 1566 1700 Jasper van der Steen explains how public memories of the Revolt in the Habsburg Netherlands in the South and the Dutch Republic in the North diverged and became the objects of fierce contestation in domestic political struggles on both sides of the border and throughout the seventeenth century Against widespread assumptions about the supposed modernity of cultural memory Memory Wars argues that early modern public memory did not require the presence of state actors nationalism and modern mass media in order to play a role of political importance in both North and South From Earth-Bound to Satellite Alison D. Morrison-Low,2011-11-11 Marking the anniversary of the telescope s invention these collected essays highlight a number of significant historical episodes concerning this well loved instrument which has played a crucial role in Man s thinking about his position literally and philosophically in the universe Locations of Knowledge in Dutch Contexts ,2019-10-21 Locations of Knowledge in Dutch Contexts brings together scholars who shed light on the ways locations gave shape to scientific knowledge practices in the Dutch Republic and the Kingdom of the Netherlands This interdisciplinary volume uses four hundred years of Dutch history as a laboratory to investigate spatialized understandings of the history of knowledge By conceptualizing locations of knowing as time specific configurations of actors artefacts and activities contributors to this volume not only examine cities as specific kind of locations but also analyze the regionally and globally networked and transformative character of locations Many of the locations which are studied in this volume are still visible until the present day Contributors are Azadeh Achbari Fokko Jan Dijksterhuis Alette Fleischer Floor Haalboom Marijn Hollestelle Dirk van Miert Ilja Nieuwland Abel Streefland Andreas Weber Martin Weiss Gerhard Wiesenfeldt and Huib Zuidervart Farming the North Sea Coast, 900-2000 Piet van Cruyningen,2025-04 The author opens a powerful dialogue between agricultural history on the one hand and environmental history on the other a brilliant and provocative synthesis of a thousand years of coastal farming Tim Soens University of Antwerp Belgium The fascinating story of how the North Sea coast has been farmed is ever changing Long before the industrial revolution the inhospitable fens and marshes of the low lying coastal wetlands on both sides of the Sea had been transformed into one of the most productive agricultural regions in Europe Agriculture in the coastlands reached its apogee during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries as is witnessed by the many impressive farm buildings established then However more recently it has become clear that lowland farming and even the physical existence of the lowlands are in jeopardy owing to rising sea levels and problems of drainage This book offers a history of farming and water management on the North Sea coast assessing the forces driving and inhibiting agricultural progress more broadly It examines the ways in which farmers in the past dealt with the two main constraints on their decision making the natural environment and the human environment of institutional rules and customs regulating behaviour It looks in particular at how setbacks were overcome and how farming practices were improved which then raised the money with which to finance the maintenance of dykes canals and sluices

The Legacy of Dutch Brazil Michiel van Groesen, 2014-06-09 Argues that Dutch Brazil is integral to Atlantic history and made an impact well beyond the colonial and national narratives in the Netherlands and Brazil Brothers in Arms, Partners in Trade Mark Meuwese, 2011-11-11 Based on Dutch archival records and primary and secondary sources in multiple languages this study integrates indigenous peoples more fully in the Dutch Atlantic by examining Dutch indigenous alliances in Brazil the Gold Coast West Central Africa and New Netherland

Fear and the Shaping of Early American Societies Lauric Henneton, Louis Roper, 2016-04-08 Fear and the Shaping of Early American Societies is the first collection of essays to argue that fear permeated the colonial societies of 17th and 18th century America and to analyse its impact on the political decision making processes from a variety of angles and locations Indeed the thirteen essays range from Canada to the Chesapeake from New England to the Caribbean and from the Carolina Backcountry to Dutch Brazil This volume assesses the typically American nature of fear factors and the responses they elicited in a transatlantic context The essays further explore how the European colonists handled such challenges as Indian conspiracies slave revolts famine popery and tyranny as well as werewolves and a dragon to build cohesive societies far from the metropolis Contributors are Sarah Barber Benjamin Carp Leslie Choquette Anne Claire Faucquez Lauric Henneton Elodie Peyrol Kleiber Susanne Lachenicht Bertie Mandelblatt Mark Meuwese L H Roper David L Smith Bertrand Van Ruymbeke Christopher Vernon and David Voorhees

Designing a New World Janny Venema, 2011 The purpose of this book is to provide more insight into Kiliaen van Rensselaer as a driving force behind the peopling of New Netherland and thus to better understand his motivation for colonization in the hope that this may contribute to a broader knowledge of the development of New Netherland P 13

The Unbound Book Joost Kircz, Adriaan Weel, 2025-10-01 What might the digital revolution we re

currently living through mean for conventional paper books Is there a future for the long form text at all At the onset of the digital deluge books had evolved into the perfect reading machine In the screen era technology increasingly and emphatically foregrounds itself in the digital reading experience It is one thing to identify what we lose in the process which is a natural human tendency but quite another and it might be argued an ultimately more fruitful one to identify how that screen technology might shape the activities for which we always used to use paper Screen technology is likely to determine our learning and entertainment habits Indeed the industrial forms of reading that may be performed by the computer have a very tenuous relationship to what we have always understood by the term Awareness of the issues and eventually new insights are essential if we want screen technology to offer a digital future to the long form text
