Everything About Gravity - Proceedings Of The Second LECOSPA International Symposium Pisin Chen, 2016-12-29 The proceedings of the 2nd LeCosPA International Symposium. Everything about Gravity collects 78 papers contributed by the symposium's Plenary Session and Parallel Session speakers. Organizers of the Parallel Sessions have, in addition, prepared summaries for their own sessions. The topics range from quasi-local energy in GR in the presence of gravitational radiations, a gauge theory perspective of gravity, naked black hole firewalls related to the black hole information loss paradox, a new theory of spacetime quantization, relations between the Schwinger effect and the Hawking radiation, and Unruh effect, conformal frames in cosmology, surprises in nonrelativistic naturalness, inflation, and tensor fluctuations, emergent spacetime for quantum gravity, understanding strongly coupled magnetism through holographic principle, the detections of dark matter, ultra-high energy cosmic neutrinos and cosmic rays, etc. Last but not least, the closing remark delivered by John Ellis raised the following question: Does cosmological inflation require a modification of Einstein's gravity? After 100 years of remarkable success of Einstein's general relativity, the development of a successful quantum theory of gravity has become a major goal in physics in the 21st century. This volume serves as a valuable reference for scientists who are interested in frontier research topics of gravity.

Contemporary Issues in Defining the Mechanisms of Cognitive Behavior Therapy Nikolaos Kazantzis, Lorenzo, Daniel R. Strunk, Marcus J. H. Huibers, 2021-10-22

New Directions and Trends in Parenting Research Nicolette Vanessa Roman, Yosi Yaffe, Dorit Alt, 2024-08-28

For many decades parenting has been at the center of interest for practitioners and researchers interested in child social and psychological development. The body of research on children's socialization has primarily focused on traditional parenting styles and their related practices in the spirit of Baumrind's and others' conceptualization of parental control and power assertion (e.g., authoritative, authoritarian, and permissive). This research has revealed many domains of children's and adolescents' adjustment and wellbeing that are affected by and affecting parenting quality, but intriguing new parental approaches and types have recently emerged in research literature such as digital parenting, transcendent parenting, parental alienation, overparenting, helicopter parenting, tiger parenting, and several others about which more is yet to be learned. Likewise, in recent years our understanding of the role played by factors such as culture, ethnicity, environmental and familial background in the relationship between parenting styles and children's psychological wellbeing and mental health has greatly improved. However, the question of whether or not there is a global uniform optimal parenting remains controversial as more studies are required to better understand the varying impacts of parenting on the child's wellbeing within different demographic and familial contexts. This is especially true for families with special needs children, i.e., children and adolescents with developmental and psychological disabilities where research on parenting styles in particular is understudied. Additionally, in the present digital era, there is growing interest in relatively new behavioral outcomes in children and adolescents such as sedentary behaviors including eating and nutrition habits, online behaviors, and digital activity vs. physical activity. These and other important contemporary aspects in children's functioning and behaviors contribute to developmental mental health and further establishing our knowledge regarding the parental role in these contexts is essential.
