Using Genomics, Metagenomics and Other "Omics" to Assess Valuable Microbial Ecosystem Services and Novel Biotechnological Applications Diana Elizabeth Marco, Florence Abram, 2019-05-15 Most ecosystem services and goods human populations use and consume are provided by microbial populations and communities Indeed numerous provisioning services e.g. food and enzymes for industrial processes regulating services e.g. water quality contamination alleviation and biological processes such as plant microbial symbioses and supporting services e.g. nutrient cycling agricultural production and biodiversity are mediated by microbes. The fast development of metagenomics and other metagenomics technologies is expanding our understanding of microbial diversity, ecology, evolution, and functioning. This enhanced knowledge directly translates into the emergence of new applications in an unlimited variety of areas across all microbial ecosystem services and goods. The varied topics addressed in this Research Topic include the development of innovative industrial processes, the discovery of novel natural products, the advancement of new agricultural methods, the amelioration of negative effects of productive or natural microbiological processes as well as food security and human health and archeological conservation. The articles compiled provide an updated, high-quality overview of current work in the field. This body of research makes a valuable contribution to the understanding of microbial ecosystem services and expands the horizon for finding and developing new and more efficient biotechnological applications.

True Colors Keith Recker, 2024-07-02. The revised updated second edition of an enthralling guided tour of the world of natural dyes and pigments. Combining world textiles and activism, Keith Recker has produced a book filled with essential information about color, the environment, and artists who create beautiful fabrics using natural dyes. The textiles are as colorful and interesting as the makers themselves. In this exquisitely crafted book, Carol Sauvion, Executive Producer and Executive Director, PBS Craft in America, features a revised chapter. True Colors is about artists who create color from natural materials and about the historical importance and environmental sustainability of this practice. Deep conversations with twenty-six artisans from every part of the globe reveal their wisdom, traditions, and know-how and suggest that we ignore what they know at our peril. Traditional approaches to making color offer sustainable options to a fashion system badly in need of them and memorable cultural narratives to a world hungry for beauty and spirituality. True Colors provides an immersive visual experience and an inspiring travelogue of personal stories and practical information from artists who are leaving their mark on the world. Blending passion for color with a visually rich writing style, Keith Recker magically brings to life the robust beauty of natural color and textures from around the world. In his new book, a must-read for anyone inspired by organic principle and the splendor of our natural world, highlighting nature's role as the true innovator, Keith gets us to think differently about our relationship with the planet, the importance of sustainable design, and our decisions as consumers.

Laurie Pressman, Vice President, Pantone Color Institute. This book interweaves literature, philosophy, art, and religion with the traditions, manufacture, and enjoyment of color. The breadth and depth of the stories behind each color makes this a compelling resource to any student of color, craft, art, nature, and history.
