An exciting collection for serious film studies students and scholars interested in new perspectives and fresh approaches to thinking about and doing American film history.

Casting Might-Have-Beens Eila Mell, 2015-01-24

Some acting careers are made by one great role, and some fall into obscurity when one is declined. Would Al Pacino be the star he is today if Robert Redford had accepted the role of Michael Corleone in The Godfather? Imagine Tom Hanks rejecting Uma Thurman, saying that she acted like someone in a high school play when she auditioned to play opposite him in The Bonfire of the Vanities. Picture Danny Thomas as The Godfather or Marilyn Monroe as Cleopatra. This reference work lists hundreds of such stories: actors who didn't get cast or who turned down certain parts. Each entry, organized alphabetically by film title, gives the character and actor cast, a list of other actors considered for that role, and the details of the casting decision. Information is drawn from extensive research and interviews. From About Last Night, which John Belushi turned down at his brother's urging, to Zulu, in which Michael Caine was not cast because he didn't look Cockney enough, this book lets you imagine how different your favorite films could have been.

New York Magazine, 1993-10-18. New York Magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country. With award-winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion, the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea.

From Television to the Internet Wiley Lee Umphlett, 2006 This book complements and expands on the commentary and conclusions of the author's initial inquiry into the modern era of media made culture in The Visual Focus of American Media Culture in the Twentieth Century (FDUP 2004). From the 1890s on to the 1920s and the Depression and World War II years society's pervasively communal focus demanded idealized images and romanticized interpretations of life. But the communal imperative as it was impacted on by evolving social change harbored the seeds of its own disintegration.
