Historical Dictionary of Lesotho John Aerni-Flessner,Charles Fogelman,Nthabiseng Mokoena-Mokhali,2023-11-30 Lesotho s history has long been defined by its enclave status within South Africa but it is a hard fought and hard won status that helps unite Basotho through the shared history of struggle against colonial rule in the region Since the end of apartheid in 1994 Lesotho s status as a separate entity has been called into question though the fierce national pride built through centuries of resistance to outside rule has mitigated against any serious discussions of incorporating Lesotho into South Africa Still the political instability and lack of a flourishing domestic economy have made life difficult for the majority of Basotho and could call into question the viability and legitimacy of the state in the eyes of its citizens if it cannot enact significant reforms in the coming decades Historical Dictionary of Lesotho Third Edition contains a chronology an introduction and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has more than 500 cross referenced entries on important personalities as well as aspects of the country s politics economy foreign relations religion and culture This book is an excellent resource for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about Lesotho

,1974 Environmental Entanglements Kirk B. Sides,2025-10-22 Environmental Entanglements African Literature s Ecological Imaginary traces a long history of ecological thought in African literature Reading African literatures as environmental literatures Environmental Entanglements offers an interventional step back beyond the mid twentieth century moment of political independence Thinking about entanglement to represent relations ecologically the book explores a form which it argues is an ecological imaginary animating many African literary and cultural repertoires This ecological form gives story to experiences of transversal of colonial and apartheid boundaries the movement of peoples and the cultural and social relations enacted upon land Focusing on literary and filmic texts from the writers such as Thomas Mofolo and Sol Plaatje in the early twentieth century to contemporary science and speculative fiction producers like Nnedi Okorafor and Wanuri Kahiu Environmental Entanglements argues that cultural archives from the African continent display a history of ecological awareness that predates the moment of mid twentieth century decolonization The book is premised on the idea that imagining ecologically as a form of representing relations is not a belated preoccupation in African literatures but rather these early ecological imaginaries present an opportunity to delink notions such as environmentalism ecology and ecocriticism from postcoloniality Reading ecology as an animating organizing trope in African literatures from at least the start of the twentieth century the book offers a genealogy of the present in which the increasingly popular forms of ecologically oriented African futurism and speculative fiction are part of a history of thinking the future through ecological form in African literatures Comparative Education for Global Citizenship, Peace and Shared Living through uBuntu

Re-invigorating ubuntu through water: A human right to water under the Namibian Constitution Ndjodi Ndeunyema, 2021-10-01 This book argues for the existence of a court enforceable human right to water that is implied from the right to life in Article 6 of the Namibian Constitution. The book builds this argument by using tools of constitutional interpretation and with the aid of comparative materials. As such the African value of ubuntu is invoked. Ubuntu which is legally developed through its four key principles of community interdependence dignity and solidarity is anchored in a novel approach to Namibian constitutional interpretation that is conceptualised as re invigorating constitutionalism. The book advances the AQuA adequacy quality accessibility content of water and articulates the correlative duties within the context of the respect protect fulfil trilogy which are duties imposed upon the Namibian state as the primary duty bearer for a right to water. These duties include irreducible essential content duties that are argued to be immediate when compared to general obligations. In giving substance to duties that flow from a right to water international law interpretative resources are also relied upon including General Comment No 15 by the United Nations Committee on Social Economic and Cultural Rights the African Commission's Principles and Guidelines on Social and Economic Rights and the World Health Organisation's Drinking water Quality Guidelines. Moreover the book addresses various justiciability concerns that may arise arguing that Namibian courts are institutionally competent and legitimate in enforcing right to water claims through the application of the bounded deliberation model. Additionally because the Principles of State Policy in Article 95 of the Namibian Constitution are rendered court unenforceable by Article 101 the argument is made that this does not undermine the claim that a right to water anchored in the right to life can be enforced through the courts.

The Palgrave Handbook of Africa and the Changing Global Order Samuel Ojo Oloruntoba, Toyin Falola, 2021-11-22 This handbook fills a large gap in the current knowledge about the critical role of Africa in the changing global order. By connecting the past present and future in a continuum that shows the paradox of existence for over one billion people the book underlines the centrality of the African continent to global knowledge production the global economy global security and global creativity. Bringing together perspectives from top Africa scholars it actively dispels myths of the continent as just a passive recipient of external influences presenting instead an image of an active global agent that astutely projects soft power. Unlike previous handbooks this book offers an eclectic mix of historical contemporary and interdisciplinary approaches that allow for a more holistic view of the many aspects of Africa's relations with the world
