

DBQ: English Colonies in America

Document 1

When the first English colony was established in America, the Virginia Company of London was the only one authorized to do so. The company was granted a charter by the English crown in 1606, which gave it the right to establish a colony in North America. The company's charter was the first of its kind, and it set the precedent for all other colonial charters. The company's charter was also the first to grant the colonists the right to elect their own representatives to the colony's governing body. This was a significant step towards self-government, and it was a key factor in the success of the colony.
