

A meteorologist believes that there is a relationship between the height above sea level, h m, and the air temperature, $t^{\circ}\text{C}$. Data is collected at the same time from 9 different places on the same mountain. The data is summarised in the table below.

h	1400	1100	260	840	900	550	1230	100	770
t	3	10	20	9	10	13	5	24	16

[You may assume that $\sum h = 7150$, $\sum t = 110$, $\sum h^2 = 7\,171\,500$, $\sum t^2 = 1716$, $\sum th = 64\,980$ and $S_r = 371.56$]

- (a) Calculate S_{th} and S_{hh} . Give your answers to 3 significant figures. (3)
- (b) Calculate the product moment correlation coefficient for this data. (2)
- (c) State whether or not your value supports the use of a regression equation to predict the air temperature at different heights on this mountain. Give a reason for your answer. (1)
- (d) Find the equation of the regression line of t on h giving your answer in the form $t = a + bh$. (4)
- (e) Interpret the value of b . (1)
- (f) Estimate the difference in air temperature between a height of 500m and a height of 1000 m. (2)

Automata Theory, Languages of Machines and Computability Shivam Saxena, 2018-02-05 The book is all about the automata formal language theory and computability Automata theory plays important roles in compilers text processing programming languages hardware designs and artificial intelligence and is the core base of computer science studies The intent is to make automata theory interesting and challenging and break the myth of being a tough topic For that matter topics are covered in an easy to understand manner with the help of elaborative and well described examples For topics which are little complex and fuzzy to understand strategy adopted is to connect the topic with the everyday problems we encounter in order to develop a connective understanding of the topic and get a clear view of the topic Exercise questions are provided with the answers to understand the solution easily The prospective audience for the book are computer science engineering students Computer science scholars and people preparing for competitive exams like GATE UGC NET etc

Climate vulnerability assessment methodology Lotten Wiréhn, 2017-11-27 Food security and climate change mitigation are crucial missions for the agricultural sector and for global work on sustainable development Concurrently agricultural production is directly dependent on climatic conditions making climate change adaptation strategies essential for the agricultural sector There is consequently a need for researchers planners and practitioners to better understand how why and to what extent agriculture is vulnerable to climate change Such analyses involve challenges in relation to the complex social ecological character of the agricultural system and to the multiple conceptualizations and approaches used in analysing vulnerability The aim of this thesis is to identify how vulnerability assessments can be used to represent climate related vulnerability in Nordic agriculture in order to advance the methodological development of indicator based and geographic visualization methods The following research questions are addressed i How can agricultural vulnerability to climate change and variability in the Nordic countries be characterized ii How do selections definitions and emphases of indicators influence how vulnerability is assessed iii How do estimates of vulnerability vary depending on the methods used in assessments iv How can geographic visualization be applied in integrated vulnerability assessments This thesis analyses and applies various vulnerability assessment approaches in the context of Nordic agriculture This thesis demonstrates that various methods for composing vulnerability indices result in significantly different outcomes despite using the same set of indicators A conceptual framework for geographic visualization approaches to vulnerability assessments was developed for the purpose of creating transparent and interactive assessments regarding the indicating variables methods and assumptions applied i e opening up the black box of composite indices This framework served as the foundation for developing the AgroExplore geographic visualization tool The tool enables the user to interactively select categorize and weight indicators as well as to explore the data and the spatial patterns of the indicators and indices AgroExplore was used in focus group settings with experts in the Swedish agricultural sector The visualization supported dialogue results confirm the difficulty of selecting and constructing indicators including different perceptions of what indicators actually indicate the assumption of linear relationships between the indicators and vulnerability and consequently that the direction of the relationship is predefined for each indicator This thesis further points at the inherent complexity of agricultural challenges and opportunities in the context of climate change as such It is specifically emphasized that agricultural adaptation policies and measures involve trade offs between various environmental and socio economic objectives and that their implementation could furthermore entail unintended consequences i e potential maladaptive outcomes Nevertheless it proved difficult to validate indicators due to e g matters of scale and data availability While heavy precipitation and other extreme weather events are perceived as the most relevant drivers of climate vulnerability by the agricultural experts participating in this study statistical analyses of historical data identified few significant relationships between crop yield losses and heavy precipitation In conclusion this thesis contributes to the method development of composite indices and indicator based vulnerability assessment A key conclusion is that assessments are method dependent and that indicator selection is related to aspects such as the system s spatial scale and location as well as to indicator thresholds and defined relationships with vulnerability recognizing the contextual dependency of agricultural vulnerability Consequently given the practicality of indicator based methods I stress with this thesis that future vulnerability studies must take into account and be transparent about the principles and limitations of indicator based assessment methods in order to ensure their usefulness validity and relevance for guiding adaptation strategies

utveckla ett geografiskt visualiseringsverktyg AgroExplore. Verktöget möjliggör interaktivitet där användaren kan välja kategorisera och vikta indikatorer och dessutom utforska data och spatiala mönster av indikatorer och kompositindex. AgroExplore användes i denna avhandling för att stödja fokusgruppdialoger med experter inom den svenska jordbrukssektorn. Resultaten från dessa workshops bekräftar svårigheten med att välja och skapa indikatorer. Dessa svårigheter innefattar olika uppfattningar om vad indikatorer representerar, antagandet om linjära samband mellan indikatorerna och sårbarhet och följaktligen att sambandens riktning fördefinierade för respektive indikator. Utöver de konceptuella och metodologiska utmaningarna med sårbarhetsbedömningar visar avhandlingen på komplexa svårigheter och möjligheter för jordbruket vid klimatförändringar. Särskilt framhålls att klimatanpassningspolitik och tillgången inom jordbruket medför konflikter och avvikelser mellan olika miljö och socioekonomiska mål. Implementering av sådana anpassningsåtgärder kan vidare innebära önskade konsekvenser så kallad missanpassning. Trots kunskap gällande nordiska jordbrukets sårbarhet inför klimatförändringar har det visats sig vara svårt att statistiskt validera indikatorer på grund av exempelvis skalproblematik och datatillgänglighet. Samtidigt som experterna ansåg att kraftig nederbörd och andra extrema vädervändelser är de mest relevanta drivkrafterna till klimatsårbarhet visar den statistiska analysen av historiska data på få signifikanta samband mellan förklarad skördeavkastning och kraftig nederbörd. Denna avhandling bidrar till metodutveckling av kompositindex och indikatorbaserade metoder för sårbarhetsbedömningar. En viktig slutsats är att bedömningar är metodberoende och att valet av indikatorer är relaterat till aspekter såsom systemets utbredning och den spatiala skalan av bedömningen. En indikatorernas tillgänglighet och hur deras relation till sårbarhet är definierade anses vara viktiga faktorer som påverkar hur indikatorer representerar sårbarhet vilket visar på sårbarhetsbedömnings kontextuella beroende. I och med de rådande bristerna hos indikatorbaserade metoder som bland annat har identifierats i denna avhandling vill jag framhålla vikten av att sårbarhetsbedömningar bör vara transparenta gällande den tillämpade metodens principer, antaganden och begränsningar. Detta för att säkerställa användbarhet, giltighet och relevans om metoden och bedömningen ska ligga till grund för anpassningsstrategier hos såväl politiker, planerare och lantbrukare.

Currency Cooperation in East Asia Frank Rövekamp,Hanns Günther Hilpert,2014-07-08 This book explores the opportunities and limits of currency cooperation in East Asia Currency issues play an important role in the region The Asian crisis of the late 90s was rooted in deficient currency arrangements The Chinese RMB is not freely convertible yet but policymakers in China nevertheless aim for a more international role of the Chinese currency The recent change of direction in Japanese monetary policy caused a drastic depreciation of the Yen and led to warnings against a possible currency war thus demonstrating that currency issues can also easily lead to political frictions Most trade in and with the East Asian zone on the other hand is still conducted in US Against this background different modes of currency cooperation serve the goal of smoothing exchange rate fluctuations and capital flows They are an important element to promote financial stability and to reduce the transaction cost for foreign trade or investment The contributions of this book analyze the environment and design of currency cooperation in East Asia and their effects from a macro and microeconomic viewpoint Concepts and Values in Biodiversity Dirk Lanzerath,Minou Friele,2014-01-23 Biodiversity may refer to the diversity of genes species or ecosystems in general These varying concepts of biodiversity occasionally lead to conflicts among researchers and policy makers as each of them require a customized type of protection strategy This book addresses the questions surrounding the merits of conserving an existing situation evolutionary development or the intentional substitution of one genome species or ecosystem for another Any practical steps towards the protection of biodiversity demand a definition of that which is to be protected and in turn the motivations for protecting biodiversity Is biodiversity a necessary model which is also useful or does it carry intrinsic value Debates like this are particularly complex when interested parties address it from different conceptual and moral perspectives Comprised of three parts each complemented by a short introductory paragraph this collection presents a variety of approaches to this challenge The chapters cover the perspectives of environmental scientists with expertise in evolutionary environmental biology systematic zoology and botany as well as those of researchers with expertise in philosophy ethics politics law and economics This combination facilitates a truly interdisciplinary debate by highlighting hitherto unacknowledged implications that inform current academic and political debates on biodiversity and its protection The book should be of interest to students and researchers of environment studies biodiversity environmental philosophy ethics and management The Oxford Handbook of Refugee and Forced Migration Studies Elena Fiddian-Qasmiyeh,Gil Loescher,Katy Long,Nando Sigona,2014 Refugee and Forced Migration Studies has grown from being a concern of a relatively small number of scholars and policy researchers in the 1980s to a global field of interest with thousands of students worldwide studying displacement either from traditional disciplinary perspectives or as a core component of newer programmes across the Humanities and Social and Political Sciences Today the field encompasses both rigorous academic research which may or may not ultimately inform policy and practice as well as action research focused on advocating in favour of refugees needs and rights This authoritative Handbook critically evaluates the birth and development of Refugee and Forced Migration Studies and analyses the key contemporary and future challenges faced by academics and practitioners working with and for forcibly displaced populations around the world The 52 state of the art chapters written by leading academics practitioners and policymakers working in universities research centres think tanks NGOs and international organizations provide a comprehensive and cutting edge overview of the key intellectual political social and institutional challenges arising from mass displacement in the world today The chapters vividly illustrate the vibrant and engaging debates that characterize this rapidly expanding field of research and practice Knowledge-Intensive

Entrepreneurship in Low-Tech Industries Hartmut Hirsch-Kreinsen, Isabel Schwinge, 2014-05-30 This book will appeal to social scientists economists and students of innovation and entrepreneurship studies Policy makers and company representatives will also find much of interest in this book with its surprising insights into a field that has b Smugglers and States Max Gallien, 2024-02-27 Winner 2025 Theodore J Lowi First Book Award International Political Science Association American Political Science Association Smuggling is typically thought of as furtive and hidden taking place under the radar and beyond the reach of the state But in many cases governments tacitly permit illicit cross border commerce or even devise informal arrangements to regulate it Drawing on extensive fieldwork in the borderlands of Tunisia and Morocco Max Gallien explains why states have long tolerated illegal trade across their borders and develops new ways to understand the political economy of smuggling This book examines the rules and agreements that govern smuggling in North Africa tracing the involvement of states in these practices and their consequences for borderland communities Gallien demonstrates that contrary to common assumptions about the effects of informal economies smuggling can promote both state and social stability States not only turn a blind eye to smuggling they rely on it to secure political acquiescence and maintain order because it provides income for otherwise neglected border communities More recently however the securitization of borders wars political change and the pandemic have put these arrangements under pressure Gallien explores the renegotiation of the role of smuggling showing how stability turns into vulnerability and why some groups have been able to thrive while others have been pushed further to the margins With both rich empirical detail and novel theoretical contributions Smugglers and States offers important insights into security and stability in North Africa and the prospects for economic inclusion in a context where many livelihoods exist outside of the law New Challenges to Food Security Ian

Christoplos, Adam Pain, 2014-11-13 Food security is high on the political agenda Fears about societal insecurity due to food price increases and hunger grave scenarios regarding the effects of climate change and general uncertainty about the impacts of investments in biofuels and so call land grabbing on food prices and availability have meant that food security is now recognised as being a multifaceted challenge This book is unique in that it will bring together analyses of these different factors that impact on food security This volume will describe a range of different perspectives on food security with an emphasis on the various meanings that are applied to food security crisis The challenges to be reviewed include market volatility climate change and state fragility Analyses of responses to food security crises and risk will cover rural and urban contexts arenas of national policy formation and global food regimes and investment in land and productive technologies This book is unique in two respects First it takes a step back from the normative literature focused on specific factors of for example climate change agricultural production or market volatility to look instead at the dynamic interplay between these new challenges It helps readers to understand that food security is not one discourse but is rather related to how these different factors generate multiple risks and opportunities Second through the case studies the book particularly emphasises how these factors come together at local levels as farmers entrepreneurs consumers local government officials and others are making key decisions about what will be done to address food security and whose food security will be given priority The book will explore how food production and consumption is embedded in powerful political and market forces and how these influence local actions
