within Britain for Black and ethnicised students and academics in its inherently white Higher Education institutions. It brings together both established and emerging scholars in the fields of Race and Education to explore what institutional racism in British Higher Education looks like in colour blind post race times when racism is deemed to be off the political agenda. Keeping pace with our rapidly changing global universities, this edited collection asks difficult and challenging questions including why black academics leave the system, why the curriculum is still white, how elite universities reproduce race privilege, and how Black Muslim and Gypsy traveller students are disadvantaged and excluded. The book also discusses why British racial equality legislation has failed to address racism and explores what the Black student movement is doing about this. As the authors powerfully argue, it is only by dismantling the invisible architecture of post colonial white privilege that the 21st century struggle for a truly decolonised academy can begin. This collection will be essential reading for students and academics working in the fields of Education, Sociology and Race.

The Metabolic-Inflammatory Axis in Brain Aging and Neurodegeneration Fei Yin, Jia Yao, Roberta Diaz Brinton, Enrique Cadenas, 2017-08-16. Impairment of energy metabolism is a hallmark of brain aging and several neurodegenerative diseases such as the Alzheimer's disease. AD, age and disease-related hypometabolism is commonly associated with oxidative stress, and they are both regarded as major contributors to the decline in synaptic plasticity and cognition. Neuroinflammatory changes, entailing microglial activation and elevated expression of inflammatory cytokines, also correlate with age-related cognitive decline. It is still under debate whether mitochondrial dysfunction-induced metabolic deficits or the microglia activation-mediated neuroinflammation is the initiator of the cognitive changes in aging and AD. Nevertheless, multiple lines of evidence support the notion that mitochondrial dysfunction and chronic inflammation exacerbate each other, and these mechanistic diversities have cellular redox dysregulation as a common denominator. This research topic focuses on the role of a metabolic-inflammatory axis encompassing the bioenergetic activity.

brain inflammatory responses and their redox regulation in healthy brain aging and neurodegenerative diseases Dynamic interactions among these systems are reviewed in terms of their causative or in tandem occurrence and how the systemic environment e g insulin resistance diabetes and systemic inflammation impacts on brain function     Justice, Mercy, and Well-Being Peter G.
