Forest Transition Deficiency Syndrome

Emmanuel Ametepeh,2019-01-04 While previous studies focus on lack of enforcement of forest laws poverty and ecological values of forest dependent people coherent studies on people s motivations for forest illegalities and non compliance behavior remain scanty Emmanuel Ametepeh argues that the systematic analysis of cause and effect patterns related to forest management measures and policies through the lenses of the Forest Transition Theory uncovers severe limitations The resulting multi complex stress factors adversely impact and hence manifest in the form of deviant compliance behavior syndrome in the management endeavor of forest fringe people The Author shows that motivations for forest illegalities and associated non compliance behavior is largely an outcome of adverse experiences forest people have been subjected to as a result of historical and contemporary neglects and marginalization in the management endeavor

Patterns and Processes in Forest Landscapes Raffaele

Lafortezza,Jiquan Chen,Giovanni Sanesi,Thomas R. Crow,2008-08-30 Increasing evidence suggests that the composition and spatial configuration the pattern of forest landscapes affect many ecological processes including the movement and persistence of particular species the susceptibility and spread of disturbances such as fires or pest outbreaks and the redistribution of matter and nutrients Understanding these issues is key to the successful management of complex multifunctional forest landscapes and landscape ecology based on a foundation of island bio geography and meta population dynamic theories provides the rationale to deal with this pattern to process interaction at different spatial and temporal scales This carefully edited volume represents a stimulating addition to the international literature on landscape ecology and resource management It provides key insights into some of the applicable landscape ecological theories that underlie forest management with a specific focus on how forest management can benefit from landscape ecology and how landscape ecology can be advanced by tackling challenging problems in forest landscape management It also presents a series of case studies from Europe Asia North America Africa and Australia exploring the issues of disturbance diversity management and scale and with a specific focus on how human intervention affects forest landscapes and in turn how landscapes influence humans and their culture An important reference for advanced students and researchers in landscape ecology conservation biology forest ecology natural resource management and ecology across multiple scales the book will also appeal to researchers and practitioners in reserve design ecological restoration forest management landscape planning and landscape architecture

Insect Ecology Timothy D. Schowalter, 2006-02-27 Dr Timothy Schowalter has succeeded in creating a unique updated treatment of insect ecology This revised and expanded text looks at how insects adapt to environmental conditions while maintaining the ability to substantially alter their environment It covers a range of topics from individual insects that respond to local changes in the environment and affect resource distribution to entire insect communities that have the capacity to modify ecosystem conditions Insect Ecology Second Edition synthesizes the latest research in the field and has been produced in full color throughout It is ideal for students in both entomology and ecology focused programs NEW TO THIS EDITION New topics such as elemental defense by plants chaotic models molecular methods to measure dispersion food web relationships and more Expanded sections on plant defenses insect learning evolutionary tradeoffs conservation biology and more Includes more than 350 new references More than 40 new full color figures Forest Preservation in a Changing

, 2003 General Technical Report NE, 1980 Proceedings of the 2003 Northeastern Recreation Research Symposium

, 2004 The Carbon Calculation Raquel Rodrigues Machaqueiro, 2023-03-07 The Carbon Calculation examines how climate science the policy world and neoliberalism have mutually informed each other to define the problem of climate change as one of market failure precluding alternatives to market based solutions Focusing on REDD Reducing Emissions from Deforestation and Forest Degradation the book demonstrates how industrialized countries are able to maintain their socioeconomic models largely unaltered while claiming to address global warming using forests in the Global South to offset their pollution By examining the creation and implementation of REDD historically and ethnographically the book traces the social life of this mechanism as it travels across a complex network spanning several interacting levels international national and local Through cases in the Brazilian state of Acre and the Zambezia province in Mozambique the author demonstrates how global climate policy has created new opportunities and rationales for unprecedented levels of intervention in the Global South all under the guise of saving the planet The Carbon Calculation critically highlights the ways in which politics has reinforced a scientific focus on one possible solution to the problem of climate change namely those that largely absolve the industrialized world from undertaking politically painful transformations in its own economic model
