ICT-based Interventions Utilized by Secondary English Teachers in Alaminos City Division During the Post Pandemic Education Christine Mae Baccay, 2023

In the 21st century the term technology is an important topic in many fields including education This is because technology has become the highway of knowledge transfer in most countries Technology integration has now revolutionized and transformed our society which has completely changed the way people think work and live Grabe 2007 As part of that schools and other educational institutions that are expected to prepare students for life in a knowledge society should consider incorporating ICT into their curricula Ghavifekr Afshari Jorge et al 2003 Young 2003 Jamieson Procter et al 2013

The Republic Act No 10533 K to 12 Program known as the 2013 Enhanced Basic Education Act is an Act that improves the Philippine basic education system by strengthening the curriculum and increasing the number of years of basic education The Basic Education program from kindergarten to high school aims to reform the education system in the Philippines It allows everyone to improve the quality of life of master the concept of develop lifelong learners graduate from higher education of develop intermediate skills and support employers To prepare for entrepreneurship and to avoid child exploitation and other related problems The expanded curriculum allows students to gain work experience while studying Each graduate will acquire information media and technology skills learning and innovation skills effective communication skills and life and professional skills Technology and Education for Life plays an important role in achieving the goals of the new Extended Curriculum Technology and Education for Life subjects attract many students with their commendable importance and vice versa The reason for this seems to be the perception of people that it does not require special training Students feel that they must learn skills even to cook and land at home Etc can be obtained without formal training People are unaware of the importance of specialized subjects that can help male and female students to be educated and help solve problems It also enables students to acquire skills especially those essential to independent living with personal and family needs in these financial difficulties Azubuike 2011

In the Alaminos City Division English is one of the primary focus to enhance the literacy of its learners to be globally competent The said subject helps learners to understand the true meaning of connecting to the world Indeed teachers in this division are taking into action just to develop the necessary skills needed by the learners in their future endeavors It is significant for the researcher to conduct this study to determine the level utilization of ICT based interventions utilized by secondary English teachers in Alaminos City Division during the Post Pandemic Education
