Graduate Attributes in Higher Education Carey Normand, Lorraine Anderson, 2017-03-31. Graduate Attributes in Higher Education illuminates the value of graduate attributes for students, graduates and lecturers in higher education. A coherent, intelligent, subtle and important enhancement to the field, this text guides readers through a theoretical and historical analysis of graduate attributes using interdisciplinary and interprofessional lenses. This unique approach offers pertinent coverage of a wider range of graduate attributes than one usually sees, generating multiple perspectives and discourses that have implications for both theory and practice. Through an open and exploratory analysis, this text asks questions such as the following: Are programmes of study which claim postgraduate attributes providing something further, deeper or enhanced in comparison or just more of the same? Should we be developing continuing professional development attributes for our professional learning programmes of study or are attributes of this nature established at the undergraduate level? How can we embed graduate attributes in curricula in a wide range of subject-discipline specific and interdisciplinary ways? In a culture of lifelong learning and a cross-disciplinary, changing global market, are attributes simply a starting point, a launch pad for future and ongoing development required for a world of increasing complexity Clearly structured and offering a mix of case study and theoretical frameworks to explore each GA practical guidance is offered at the end of each chapter on how to embed the relevant graduate attribute whilst providing well researched theoretical underpinning The varied methods applied and methodological attitudes espoused will prove inclusive to a wide range of readers Bringing together analysis of specific case studies from a wide range of professional and discipline specific contexts Graduate Attributes in Higher Education will be a valuable text for educators and professionals focused on curriculum development and professional learning

Handbook of Research on Teachers of Color and Indigenous Teachers Conra D. Gist, Travis J. Bristol, 2022-10-15 Teachers of Color and Indigenous Teachers are underrepresented in public schools across the United States of America with Black Indigenous and People of Color making up roughly 37% of the adult population and 50% of children but just 19% of the teaching force Yet research over decades has indicated their positive impact on student learning and social and emotional development particularly for Students of Color and Indigenous Students A first of its kind the Handbook of Research on Teachers of Color and Indigenous Teachers addresses key issues and obstacles to ethnoracial diversity across the life course of teachers careers such as recruitment and retention professional development and the role of minority serving institutions Including chapters from leading researchers and policy makers the Handbook is designed to be an important resource to help bridge the gap between scholars practitioners and policy makers In doing so this research will serve as a launching pad for discussion and change at this critical moment in our country s history The volume s goal is to drive conversations around the issue of ethnoracial teacher diversity and to provide concrete practices for policy makers and practitioners to enable them to make evidence based decisions for supporting an ethnoracially diverse educator workforce now and in the future

Arts-Based Multiliteracies for Teaching and Learning Peters, Beryl, 2024-10-17 The current educational landscape demands more than traditional literacy skills to equip learners with the necessary tools to thrive in the modern world The traditional focus on reading and writing print text may not be sufficient to comprehend the diverse forms of meaning making necessary for effective communication and understanding in diverse communities This poses a crucial challenge for educators who aspire to foster engaged and critically aware learners who can navigate the complexities of contemporary society Arts Based Multiliteracies for Teaching and Learning offers a transformative solution by advocating for a pedagogy of multiliteracies centered on arts based approaches By redefining literacy to encompass diverse modalities such as dance drama music visual arts and multi media this book challenges educators to expand their understanding of literacy beyond traditional boundaries The book provides a compelling rationale for integrating arts based multiliteracies across all levels and curricular areas

Games and Education: Designs in and for Learning , 2018-11-26 We live in a time of educational transformations towards more 21st century pedagogies and learning In the digital age children and young people need to learn critical thinking creativity and innovation and the ability to solve complex problems and challenges Traditional pedagogies are in crisis and many pupils experience school as both boring and irrelevant As a response educators and researchers need to engage in transforming education through the invention of new designs in and for learning This book explores how games can provide new ideas and new designs for future education Computer games have become hugely popular and engaging but as is apparent in this book games are not magical solutions to making education more engaging fun and relevant Games and Education explores new designs in and for learning and offer inspiration to teachers technologists and researchers interested in changing educational practices Based on contributions from Scandinavian researchers the book highlights participatory approaches to research and practice by providing more realistic experiences and models of how games can facilitate learning in school
