Islam in Nineteenth-Century Wallo, Ethiopia Hussein Ahmed, 2021-10-01 While presenting an historical account of the internal dynamics of Islam in Wallo Ethiopia with particular emphasis on the modes of its introduction and dissemination and on its relationship with the Ethiopian state and regional power structure this book describes the background to and manifestations of the revival and consolidation of Islam in the region in the nineteenth century by assessing the role of Muslim scholars traders and chiefs in that process It also traces the origin of the tradition of Islamic renewal and reform and analyzes the response of Wallo Muslim religious intellectuals to the attempt of the Ethiopian Christian monarchs of the period to bring about the political unification of the kingdom by imposing a policy of religious coercion on the Muslims of Wallo Based largely on hitherto untapped oral and written indigenous sources and supplemented by external archival and documentary evidence the study is aimed at redressing the historiographical and interpretive imbalance embedded in the scholarly institutional and popular perceptions on Islam in Ethiopia

One-Volume Libraries: Composite and Multiple-Text Manuscripts Michael Friedrich, Cosima Schwarke, 2016-11-07 Composite and multiple text manuscripts are traditionally studied for their individual texts but recent trends in codicology have paved the way for a more comprehensive approach Manuscripts are unique artefacts which reveal how they were produced and used as physical objects While multiple text manuscripts codicologically are to be considered as production units i e they were originally planned and realized in order to carry more than one text composites consist of formerly independent codicological units and were put together at a later stage with intentions that might be completely different from those of its original parts Both sub types of manuscripts are still sometimes called miscellanies a term relating to the texts only The codicological difference is important for reconstructing why and how these manuscripts which in many cases resemble or contain a small library were produced and used Contributions on the manuscript cultures of China India Africa the Islamic world and European traditions lead not only to the conclusion that one volume libraries have been produced in many manuscript cultures but allow also for the identification of certain types of uses Compendium of documents on
