Arabic Literature S:

The Literature of Al-Andalus María Rosa Menocal, Raymond P. Scheindlin, Michael Sells, 2000-08-31 The Literature of Al Andalus explores the culture of Iberia adopting an interdisciplinary and comparative approach Arabic Literature of Africa John O. Hunwick, Rex Séan O'Fahey, 1994 Annotation A guide to the scholarly and literary production of Muslim writers of West Africa other than Nigeria including both biographies of scholars and lists of their writings Arabic Literature in the Post-Classical Period Roger Allen, D. S. Richards, 2006-04-13 The final volume of the series explores the Arabic literary heritage of the little known period from the twelfth to the beginning of the nineteenth century Even though it was during this time that the famous Thousand and One Nights was composed very little has been written on the literature of the period generally and Roger Allen and Donald Richards bring together some of the most distinguished scholars in the field The volume is divided into parts with the traditions of poetry and prose covered separately within both their elite and popular contexts The last two sections are devoted to drama and the indigenous tradition of literary criticism Themes in Medieval Arabic Literature Gustave Edmund Grunebaum, 1981 Arabic Literature for the Classroom Mushin al-Musawi, 2017-04-21 This book presents theoretical and methodical cultural concerns in teaching literatures from non American cultures along with issues of cross cultural communication cultural competency and translation Covering topics such as the 1001 Nights Maqamat Arabic poetry women s writing classical poetics issues of gender race and class North African concerns language acquisition through literature Arab spring writing women s correspondence issues connected with the so called nahdah revival movement in the 19th century and many others the book provides perspectives and topics that serve in both the planning of new courses and accommodation to already existing programs Contemporary Arab Fiction Fabio Caiani, 2007-09-12 This book introduces Western readers to some of the most significant novels written in Arabic since 1979 Despite their contribution to the development of contemporary Arabic fiction these authors remain largely unknown to non Arab readers Fabio Caiani examines the work of the Moroccan Muhammad Barrada the Egyptian Idwar al Kharat the Lebanese Ilyas Khuri and the Iraqi Fu ad al Takarli Their most significant novels were published between 1979 and 2002 a period during which their work reached literary maturity They all represent pioneering literary trends compared to the novelistic form canonized in the influential early works of Naguib Mahfouz Until now some of their most innovative works have not been analyzed in detail this book fills that gap Relying on literary theory and referring to comparative examples from other literatures this study places its findings within a wider framework defining what is meant by innovation in the Arabic novel and the particular socio political context in which it appears This book will significantly enrich the existing critical literature in English on the contemporary Arabic novel Studying Modern Arabic Literature Roger Allen, 2015-04-14 This book is devoted to the life and academic legacy of Mustafa Badawi who transformed the study of Modern Arabic Literature in the second half of the 20th century Looking Back at Al-Andalus Alexander E.

Elinson,2009 Looking Back at al Andalus focuses on Arabic and Hebrew Literature that expresses the loss of al Andalus from multiple vantage points In doing so this book examines the definition of al Andalus TM literary borders the reconstruction of which navigates between traditional generic formulations and actual political military and cultural challenges By looking at a variety of genres the book shows that literature aiming to recall and define al Andalus expresses a series of symbolic literary objects more than a geographic and political entity fixed in a single time and place Looking Back at al Andalus offers a unique examination into the role of memory language and subjectivity in presenting a series of interpretations of what al Andalus represented to different writers at different historical cultural moments Sea of Literatures Angela Fabris,Albert Göschl,Steffen Schneider,2023-12-18 Mediterranean studies flourish in literary and cultural studies but concepts of the Mediterranean and the theories and methods they use are very disparate This is because the Mediterranean is not a simple geographical or historical unity but a multiplicity a network of highly interconnected elements each of which is different and individual Talking about Mediterranean literature raises the question of whether the connectivity of Mediterranean literature can or should be limited in some way by constructing an inside and an outside of the Mediterranean What kind of connectivity and fragmentation do literary texts produce how do they build and interrupt references to the real to fictional forms of representation to history but also to other texts and discourses how do they create and deny communication and how do they engage with and reflect literary and non literary concepts of the Mediterranean These and other questions are considered and discussed in the over twenty contributions gathered in this volume Modern Arabic Literature Ragai N. Makar,1998-12-03 2 548 numbered entries of books chapters in books periodical articles poems and reference sources covering all genres of literature including ballads comedy drama fiction Israeli literature Islamic literature biographies Mahjar literature and poetry Books are included from every Arabic country and most of the titles are in English though titles in French and Arabic are also represented History of Arabic Literature H. A. R. Gibb,1998-01-01 Ottoman Canon and the Construction of Arabic and Turkish Literatures C. Ceyhun Arslan,2024-03-05 The Ottoman Canon and the Construction of Arabic and Turkish Literatures fleshes out the Ottoman canon s multilingual character to call for a literary history that can reassess and even move beyond categories that many critics take for granted such as classical Arabic literature and Ottoman literature It gives a historically contextualised close reading of works from authors who have been studied as pioneers of Arabic and Turkish literatures such as Ziya Pasha Jurji Zaydan Ma ruf al Rusafi and Ahmet Hamdi Tanpinar The Ottoman Canon analyses how these authors prepared the arguments and concepts that shape how we study Arabic and Turkish literatures today as they reassessed the relationship among the Ottoman canon s linguistic traditions Furthermore The Ottoman Canon examines the Ottoman reception of pre Ottoman poets such as Kab ibn Zuhayr hence opening up new research avenues for Arabic literature Ottoman studies and comparative literature A Literary History of the Arabs Reynold Alleyne Nicholson,2014-03 This Is A New Release Of The Original 1907 Edition The Migrant in

Arab Literature Martina Censi, Maria Elena Paniconi, 2022-12-20 This edited book offers a collection of fresh and critical essays that explore the representation of the migrant subject in modern and contemporary Arabic literature and discuss its role in shaping new forms of transcultural and transnational identities The selection of essays in this volume offers a set of new insights on a cluster of tropes self discovery alienation nostalgia transmission and translation of knowledge sense of exile reconfiguration of the relationship with the past and the identity and the building of transnational identity A coherent yet multi faceted narrative of micro stories and of transcultural and transnational Arab identities will emerge from the essays the volume aims at reversing the traditional perspective according to which a migrant subject is a non political actor In contrast to many books about migration and literature this one explores how the migrant subject becomes a specific literary trope a catalyst of modern alienation displacement and uncertain identity suggesting new forms of subjectification Multiple representations of the migrant subject inform and perform the possibility of new post national and transcultural individual and group identities and actively contribute to rewriting and decolonizing history
