Pennsylvania Archives Samuel Hazard, John Blair Linn, William Henry Egle, George Edward Reed, Thomas Lynch Montgomery, Gertrude MacKinney, Charles Francis Hoban, 1902 A collection of documents supplementing the companion series known as Colonial records which contain the Minutes of the Provincial council of the Council of safety and of the Supreme executive council of Pennsylvania Archives of Maryland William Hand Browne, Clayton Colman Hall, Bernard Christian Steiner, 1895 Carceral Afterlives Katherine Bruce-Lockhart, 2022-07-05 Drawing upon social history political history and critical prison studies this book analyzes how prisons and other instruments of colonial punishment endured after independence and challenges their continued existence In Carceral Afterlives Katherine Bruce Lockhart traces the politics practices and lived experiences of incarceration in postcolonial Uganda focusing on the period between independence in 1962 and the beginning of Yoweri Museveni's presidency in 1986. During these decades Ugandans experienced multiple changes of government, widespread state violence and war, all of which affected the government's approach to punishment. Bruce Lockhart analyzes the relationship between the prison system and other sites of confinement, including informal detention spaces known as safe houses and wartime camps, and considers other forms of punishment such as public executions and disappearance by state paramilitary organizations. Through archival and personal collections, interviews with Ugandans who lived through these decades, and a range of media sources and memoirs, Bruce Lockhart examines how carceral systems were imagined and experienced by Ugandans, held within, working for, or impacted by them. She shows how Uganda's postcolonial leaders, especially Milton Obote and Idi Amin, attempted to harness the symbolic material and coercive power of prisons in the pursuit of a range of political agendas. She also examines the day-to-day realities of penal spaces and public perceptions of punishment by tracing the experiences of Ugandans who were incarcerated, their family members and friends, prison officers, and other government employees. Furthermore, she shows how the carceral arena was an important site of dissent, examining how those inside and outside of prisons and other spaces of captivity challenged the state's violent punitive tactics. Using Uganda as a case study, Carceral Afterlives emphasizes how prisons and the wider use of confinement, both as a punishment and as a vehicle for other modes of punishment, remain central to state power in the Global South and North. While scholars have closely analyzed the prison's expansion through colonial rule and the rise of mass incarceration in the United States, they have largely taken for granted its postcolonial persistence. In contrast, Bruce Lockhart demonstrates how the prison's transition from a colonial to a postcolonial institution explains its ubiquity and reveals ways to critique and challenge its ongoing existence. The book thus explores broader questions about the unfinished work of decolonization, the relationship between incarceration and struggles for freedom, and the prison's enduring yet increasingly contested place in our global institutional landscape.

Picking Presidents Gautam Mukunda, 2022-10-18. This book synthesizes a new way of understanding leader selection with research from political science, management, psychology, and other fields to provide an objective, non-partisan way to evaluate Presidential candidates that anyone can use and that requires only information about candidates that would be widely available before the election. It's a system that American citizens can use to answer the most important question they are ever asked: Should this person be President? We begin by identifying what sort of presidential candidates are likely to become Presidents who will make a real difference. Surprisingly, not all Presidents do. Some, despite the awesome power placed in their hands, are surprisingly inconsequential. Then we'll examine some of the best and worst of the 44 members of history's most exclusive club, which will help us understand what traits are likely to produce failed and successful presidencies and how to detect them. Next, we'll use this lens to examine Donald Trump, the modern president who has perhaps inflamed the most intense passions on either end of the political spectrum, and Joe Biden, the President as this book goes to print. Finally, I will suggest some plausible reforms to the way we nominate candidates and changes to the powers of the Presidency that might help us improve the quality and performance of future presidents      Report of the Work of the Public Archives ... Public Archives of Canada,1891      Municipal Archives and Records Sir James Allanson
