Designing Networks Cities Steve Whitford, James Brearley, 2024-01-31 designing networks cities presents a sophisticated multi disciplinary and multi dimensional approach to urban design Emerging from years of practice experimentation and research by designers landscape architects urban planners urban designers and architects this approach engages with contemporary thought across a number of disciplines to re invent the entrenched blunt instruments of the city making process A cry for flexible sharp instruments in urban design designing networks cities presents a multi dimensional way of seeing the essential components of the city form space time order and aesthetics It purposefully links traditional architectural design derivation mechanisms to urban design in the hope that cities will not only be pragmatic but also become sophisticated iconographically poetically and syntactically It provides the tools to enable decision making within a multiplicity of constraints and opportunities a philosophy of becoming not being a science of dynamic systems not stasis and an art of sensations not subjectivity And finally and most importantly it argues why it is important that cities embrace these multiple dimensions of society on a planet that is facing increasing environmental challenges an economics focused on equity for all not for some more than others a politics supporting a genuine representational democracy not one representing the overly influential and a culture including history that embraces difference not one that encourages division designing networks cities not only provides the means to identify these issues and a methodology to deal with them within a complex emerging co existence but also demonstrates the development of cities that embrace and respond to the complexities of life in what some are calling the Anthropocene Structure As Architecture Andrew Charleson, 2014-07-11 Structure as Architecture presents a comprehensive analysis of the indispensable role of structure in architecture An exploration as well as a celebration of structure the book draws on a series of design studies and case study examples to illustrate how structure can be employed to realize a wide range of concepts in contemporary architecture By examining design principles that relate to both architecture and structural engineering Andrew Charleson provides new insights into the relationship between both the technical and aesthetic aspects of architecture Now in its second edition the text has been extensively revised and updated throughout Features include A brand new chapter on hidden structure adding to the material on exposed structures Two new chapters on using structure to realise common architectural concepts through a combination of precedents and creative design Over 50 new case studies from across the globe Easy to understand diagrams and a highly visual design to aid understanding and accessibility More than two hundred case studies of contemporary buildings from countries such as the UK the US France Germany Spain Hong Kong Australia and Japan illustrate how a thorough integration of structure adds layers of richness and enhances the realisation of architectural design concepts Samrāṅgnasūtradhār Neena Singh Zutshi, 2025-08-25 The Samr g as tradh r compiled around the 11th century by R j Bhoj is a significant treatise on architecture from pre colonial India The book presents and interpretive architectural analysis of select content of the Samr g as tradh r explores the design process to generate temples palaces and dwelling units and discusses its correlation with contemporary architectural paradigms Also the book looks at contemporary issues of identity and culture as well as critical issues in the historiography of architecture in the postcolonial Indian subcontinent while unveiling layers of the traditional knowledge systems informing the popular idiom of the V st Shastra Strongly rooted in archival resources this book will be indispensable for scholars of history of Indian architecture heritage studies South Asian history conversation architectural design processes computational architecture and postcolonial studies The Theory of Architecture Paul-Alan Johnson, 1994-04-18 The Theory of Architecture Concepts Themes Practices Paul Alan Johnson Although it has long been thought that theory directs architectural practice no one has explained precisely how the connection between theory and practice is supposed to work This guide asserts that architectural theory does not direct practice but is itself a form of reflective practice Paul Alan Johnson cuts through the jargon and mystery of architectural theory to clarify how it relates to actual applications in the field He also reveals the connections between new and old ideas to enhance the reader's powers of critical evaluation Nearly 100 major concepts themes and practices of architecture as well as the rhetoric of architects and designers are presented in an easily accessible format Throughout Johnson attempts to reduce each architectural notion into its essential concept By doing so he makes theory accessible for everyday professional discussion Topics are arranged under ten headings identification definition power attitudes ethics order authority governance relationship and expression Areas covered under these headings include Utopic thought in theories of architecture Advocacy and citizen participation in architecture The basis of architectural quality and excellence The roles of the architect as artist poet scientist and technologist Ethical obligations of architecture Rationales for models and methods of design How authority is determined in architecture How architects structure their concepts Conventions of communication within the architectural profession Each section begins by showing the etymology of key terms of the topic discussed along with a summary history of the topic's use in architecture. Discussions probe the conceptual and philosophical difficulties of different theories as well as their potential and limitations in past and present usage. Among the provocative issues discussed in terms of their relationship to architecture are chaos theory, feminism, service to the community, and the use of metaphor. Johnson points out with stunning clarity the intentions as well as the contradictions and inconsistencies of all notions and concepts. All architects and designers as well as students and teachers in these disciplines will gain many insights about architectural thought in this groundbreaking text.
