For the Good of the Farmer Fred Whitford, 2013 The key role that farming plays in the economy of Indiana today owes much to the work of John Harrison Skinner 1874 1942 Skinner was a pioneering educator and administrator who transformed the study of agriculture at Purdue University during the first decades of the twentieth century From humble origins occupying one building and 150 acres at the start of his career the agriculture program grew to spread over ten buildings and 1 000 acres by the end of his tenure as its first dean A focused single minded man Skinner understood from his own background as a grain and stock farmer that growers could no longer rely on traditional methods in adapting to a rapidly changing technological and economic environment in which tractors were replacing horses and new crops such as alfalfa and soy were transforming the arable landscape Farmers needed education and only by hiring the best and brightest faculty could Purdue give them the competitive edge that they needed While he excelled as a manager and advocate for Indiana agriculture Skinner never lost touch with his own farming roots taking especial interest in animal husbandry During the course of his career as dean 1907 1939 the number of livestock on Purdue farms increased fourfold and Skinner showed his knowledge of breeding by winning many times at the International Livestock Exposition Today the scale of Purdue s College of Agriculture has increased to offer almost fifty programs to hundreds of students from all over the globe However at its base the agricultural program in place today remains largely as John Harrison Skinner built it responsive to Indiana but with its focus always on scientific innovation in the larger world

The Oxfam Poverty Report Kevin Watkins, 1995 Fifty years ago the United Nations Charter proclaimed universal rights to shared prosperity peace and security How far has that vision of world citizenship been realised Despite advances in human welfare and technology there is today a growing polarisation between rich and poor One in four of the world s people live in absolute poverty unable to meet their basic needs armed conflict is affecting millions of people and the global environment is under threat Yet there is a failure of political will to address the silent emergency of poverty The Oxfam Poverty Report draws on Oxfam s experience of working in over 70 countries to examine the causes of poverty and conflict It identifies the structural forces which deny people their basic rights and gives a wide range of examples of the ways in which men and women are bringing about positive change at every level from the household to the international arena Oxfam believes that it is time to renew the UN vision of universal basic rights The Report concludes by proposing policy and institutional reforms which would transform international institutions and trading relations and calls for a new commitment to work together to eradicate poverty and bring sustainable peace and security for all the world s people
