

Fission vs Fusion

Both fission and fusion release vast amounts of energy, but they do it in different ways.

Fission is the splitting of a large atomic nucleus into smaller particles.

Fusion is the combination of light atomic nuclei to form a heavier nucleus.

Energy Research Abstracts ,1986 Braid and Knot Theory in Dimension Four Seiichi Kamada,2002 Braid theory and knot theory are related via two famous results due to Alexander and Markov Alexander s theorem states that any knot or link can be put into braid form Markov s theorem gives necessary and sufficient conditions to conclude that two braids represent the same knot or link Thus one can use braid theory to study knot theory and vice versa In this book the author generalizes braid theory to dimension four He develops the theory of surface braids and applies it to study surface links In particular the generalized Alexander and Markov theorems in dimension four are given This book is the first to contain a complete proof of the generalized Markov theorem Surface links are studied via the motion picture method and some important techniques of this method are studied For surface braids various methods to describe them are introduced and developed the motion picture method the chart description the braid monodromy and the braid system These tools are fundamental to understanding and computing invariants of surface braids and surface links Included is a table of knotted surfaces with a computation of Alexander polynomials Braid techniques are extended to represent link homotopy classes The book is geared toward a wide audience from graduate students to specialists It would make a suitable text for a graduate course and a valuable resource for researchers Schonland Brian
