Japanese Management in the Low Growth Era Daniel Dirks, Jean-Francois Huchet, Thierry Ribault, 2012-12-06 Japanese firms are in the midst of the most protracted economic crisis in their post war history The end of the bubble economy has led to a long era of low growth This change in the general business environment has profound consequences for the management and the organization of corporate Japan as well as for the theory of the Japanese firm The contributions to this book cover a broad range of subjects from the strategies and organizational structures to the management of human resources and innovation processes in the 1990s These changes are systematically commented on by field specialists from abroad especially Europe relating the situation in Japan to comparable developments in other countries

Yellow Steel William R. Haycraft, 2002 In Yellow Steel the first overarching history of the earthmoving equipment industry William Haycraft examines the tremendous increase in the scope of mining and construction projects from the Suez Canal through the interstate highway system made possible by innovations in earthmoving machinery Led by Cyrus McCormick s invention in 1831 of a practical mechanical reaper many of the builders of today s massive earthmoving machines began as makers of reapers plows threshers and combines Haycraft traces the efforts of manufacturers such as Caterpillar Allis Chalmers International Harvester J I Case Deere and Massey Ferguson to diversify from farm equipment to specialized earthmoving equipment and the important contributions of LeTourneau Euclid and others in meeting the needs of the construction and mining industries He shows how postwar economic and political events especially the creation of the interstate highway system spurred the development of more powerful and more agile machines He also relates the precipitous fall of several major American earthmoving machine companies and the rise of Japanese competitors in the early 1980s Extensively illustrated and packed with detailed information on both manufacturers and machines Yellow Steel knits together the diverse stories of the many companies that created the earthmoving equipment industry how they began expanded retooled merged succeeded and sometimes failed Their history a step by step linking of need and invention provides the foundation for virtually all modern transportation construction commerce and industry
