Rury, 2023-10-13 An Age of Accountability highlights the role of test based accountability as a policy framework in American education from 1970 to 2020 For more than half a century the quest to hold schools and educators accountable for academic achievement has relied almost exclusively on standardized assessment The theory of change embedded in almost all test based accountability programs held that assessment with stipulated consequences could lead to major improvements in schools This was accomplished politically by proclaiming lofty goals of attaining universal proficiency and closing achievement gaps which repeatedly failed to materialize But even after very clear disappointments no other policy framework has emerged to challenge its hegemony The American public today has little confidence in institutions to improve the quality of goods and services they provide especially in the public sector As a consequence many Americans continue to believe that accountability remains a vital necessity even if educators and policy scholars disagree Handbook of Research in Education Finance and Policy Helen F. Ladd, Margaret E. Goertz, 2014-12-17 Sponsored by the Association for Education Finance and Policy AEFPP the second edition of this groundbreaking handbook assembles in one place the existing research based knowledge in education finance and policy with particular attention to elementary and secondary education Chapters from the first edition have been fully updated and revised to reflect current developments new policies and recent research With new chapters on teacher evaluation alternatives to traditional public schooling and cost benefit analysis this volume provides a readily available current resource for anyone involved in education finance and policy The Handbook of Research in Education Finance and Policy traces the evolution of the field from its initial focus on school inputs and revenue sources used to finance these inputs to a focus on educational outcomes and the larger policies used to achieve them Chapters show how decision making in school finance inevitably interacts with decisions about governance accountability equity privatization and other areas of education policy Because a full understanding of important contemporary issues requires inputs from a variety of perspectives the Handbook draws on contributors from a number of disciplines Although many of the chapters cover complex state of the art empirical research the authors explain key concepts in language that non specialists can understand This comprehensive balanced and accessible resource provides a wealth of factual information data and wisdom to help educators improve the quality of education in the United States Personalized Learning Simon Cheung, Fu Wang, Lam Kwok, Petra Poulová, 2023-10-24 This self contained monograph reports the recent approaches methods and practices of technology enabled personalized learning It serves to provide some useful references for researchers and practitioners in the field in conceptualizing and deploying personalized learning Personalized learning emphasizes student centred learning that addresses individual learning strengths needs skills and interests and allows flexibility in the learning mode process time and space where students can take ownership of their learning It has been

Surveillance Education Nolan Higdon, Allison Butler, 2024-08-02 Surveillance Education explores the pervasive use of digital surveillance technologies in schools and assesses its pernicious effects on students Recognizing that the use of digital technologies will persist the authors instead offer practical ways to ameliorate their impact In our era of surveillance capitalism digital media technologies are ever more intertwined into the educational process Schools are presented with digital technologies as tools of convenience for gathering and grading student work as tools of support to foster a more equitable learning environment and as tools of safety for predicting or preventing violence or monitoring mental emotional and physical health Despite a dearth of evidence to confirm their effectiveness digital data collection and tracking is often presented as a way to improve educational outcomes and safety This book challenges these fallacious assumptions and argues that the use of digital media technologies has caused great harm to students by subjecting them to oppressive levels of surveillance impinging upon their right to privacy and harvesting their personal data on behalf of Big Tech In doing so the authors draw upon interviews from K 12 and higher education students teachers and staff civil rights and technology lawyers and educational technological programmers The authors also provide practical guidance for teachers administrators students and their families seeking to identify and combat surveillance in education This urgent eye opening book will be of interest to students and educators with interests in critical media literacy and pedagogy and the sociology of technology and education
