Encyclopedia of Contemporary Literary Theory Irene Rima Makaryk, 1993-01-01

The last half of the twentieth century has seen the emergence of literary theory as a new discipline As with any body of scholarship various schools of thought exist and sometimes conflict within it I R Makaryk has compiled a welcome guide to the field Accessible and jargon free the Encyclopedia of Contemporary Literary Theory provides lucid concise explanations of myriad approaches to literature that have arisen over the past forty years Some 170 scholars from around the world have contributed their expertise to this volume Their work is organized into three parts In Part I forty evaluative essays examine the historical and cultural context out of which new schools of and approaches to literature arose The essays also discuss the uses and limitations of the various schools and the key issues they address Part II focuses on individual theorists It provides a more detailed picture of the network of scholars not always easily pigeonholed into the categories of Part I This second section analyses the individual achievements as well as the influence of specific scholars and places them in a larger critical context Part III deals with the vocabulary of literary theory It identifies significant complex terms places them in context and explains their origins and use Accessibility is a key feature of the work By avoiding jargon providing mini bibliographies and cross referencing throughout Makaryk has provided an indispensable tool for literary theorists and historians and for all scholars and students of contemporary criticism and culture

Elegy for Theory D. N. Rodowick, 2014-01-06 Rhetorically charged debates over theory have divided scholars of the humanities for decades In Elegy for Theory D N Rodowick steps back from well rehearsed arguments pro and con to assess why theory has become such a deeply contested concept Far from lobbying for a return to the high theory of the 1970s and 1980s he calls for a vigorous dialogue on what should constitute a new ethically inflected philosophy of the humanities Rodowick develops an ambitiously cross disciplinary critique of theory as an academic discourse tracing its historical displacements from ancient concepts of theoria through late modern concepts of the aesthetic and into the twentieth century The genealogy of theory he argues is constituted by two main lines of descent one that goes back to philosophy and the other rooted instead in the history of positivism and the rise of the empirical sciences Giving literature philosophy and aesthetics their due Rodowick asserts that the mid twentieth century rise of theory within the academy cannot be understood apart from the emergence of cinema and visual studies To ask the question What is cinema is to also open up in new ways the broader question of what is art the various interpretive doxa collectively known as theory Montaigne's life and writings have drawn myriad interpretations While some scholars of his work focus on the content of the writings to define the man others stress his playful use of language Montaigne's complex and multifaceted works provide fertile ground for exploring themes of wide ranging significance within the field of literary theory including the relationship between biography and theory the critique of modernism a critical history of the confessional mode of writing sexuality and gender and the theory of practice The essays in this collection move beyond the current stalemate in Montaigne criticism by revisiting questions about the role of theory in literary studies and by opening up a dialogue on the validity and limitations or use and abuse of theory in Montaigne studies
