Africa South of the Sahara Robert F. Stock, 1995 Africa south of the Sahara is a region in transition. The optimism of the early postindependence years has long since faded, replaced by a pervasive sense of crisis that typically includes slow and often negative economic growth, a crushing debt burden, hunger, and ecological crisis, and the virtual collapse of the state in a number of countries. At the same time, the 1990s have seen recent cause for hope, most dramatically in the peaceful transition to black majority rule in South Africa. This much-needed text provides a broad and balanced introduction to the geography of this vast region. Examining sociocultural, political, and economic processes, patterns of resource utilization, and the dynamics of change in Africa's geography, the text is enhanced by vivid case studies, maps, and photographs. Also featured are lists of recommended reading and a glossary of key terms.

Ancestor Christology Cletus Chukwuemeka Nwaogwugwu, 2011-01-07 The study of the application of the title ancestor to Christ permits the author to delve into the Christological reflection in Africa today through one of the principal ways. At play here is the inculturation of the faith, which cannot be fully achieved without a process of theological assimilation of the fundamental parameters in the African life. The thesis therefore is not only limited to a mere description of the contemporary panorama in that respect but attempts to offer a theological evaluation of the real expressive capacity of the title as it has been proposed. The criterion used is therefore double. In the first place, the thesis tried to show that the human and the divine natures of Jesus Christ can be maintained in such a way that there is no rupture with the great tradition of the Christological councils. In the second place, if it is capable of responding to demands of Christology from above and from below. In all this, however, the horizon of the debate is not occidental exegetical investigation, well known by the author, but from the theological ambient of the sub-Saharan world. The conclusion is positive, pondering the terms involved. The work can be of great use in the christological endeavors of contemporary Africa, as well for those who desire to delve into it.

Don Alfonso Carrasco Rouco, director of the thesis and now Bishop of the Diocese of Lugo, Spain. The work of Don Cletus Chukwuemeka contains a clear description of what we may call African traditional religiosity, as well as the theological efforts to inject Christianity into this cultural and religious tradition. The central point of these efforts revolves around the understanding of Christ The most original aspect of this work is in the critical recourse to the figure of the ancestor or proto ancestor to present the identity of Christ in a way that is faithful to the Church tradition and at the same time significant for the religious and cultural tradition of Africa Dr Don Gerardo del Pozo Abejn Censor of the thesis

When the Sahara Was Green Martin Williams, 2021-10-05 The little known history of how the Sahara was transformed from a green and fertile land into the largest hot desert in the world The Sahara is the largest hot desert in the world equal in size to China or the United States Yet this arid expanse was once a verdant pleasant land fed by rivers and lakes The Sahara sustained abundant plant and animal life such as Nile perch turtles crocodiles and hippos and attracted prehistoric hunters and herders What transformed this land of lakes into a sea of sands When the Sahara Was Green describes the remarkable history of Earth s greatest desert including why its climate changed the impact this had on human populations and how scientists uncovered the evidence for these extraordinary events From the Sahara s origins as savanna woodland and grassland to its current arid incarnation Martin Williams takes us on a vivid journey through time He describes how the desert s ancient rocks were first fashioned how dinosaurs roamed freely across the land and how it was later covered in tall trees Along the way Williams addresses many questions Why was the Sahara previously much wetter and will it be so again Did humans contribute to its desertification What was the impact of extreme climatic episodes such as prolonged droughts upon the Sahara s geology ecology and inhabitants Williams also shows how plants animals and humans have adapted to the Sahara and what lessons we might learn for living in harmony with the harshest driest conditions in an ever changing global environment A valuable look at how an iconic region has changed over millions of years When the Sahara Was Green reveals the desert s surprising past to reflect on its present as well as its possible future

In Wealth Poverty and Politics Thomas Sowell one of the foremost conservative public intellectuals in this country argues that political and ideological struggles have led to dangerous confusion about income inequality in America Pundits and politically motivated economists trumpet ambiguous statistics and sensational theories while ignoring the true determinant of income inequality the production of wealth We cannot properly understand inequality if we focus exclusively on the distribution of wealth and ignore wealth production factors such as geography demography and culture Sowell contends that liberals have a particular interest in misreading the data and chastises them for using income inequality as an argument for the welfare state Refuting Thomas Piketty Paul Krugman and others on the left Sowell draws on accurate empirical data to show that the inequality is not nearly as extreme or sensational as we have been led to believe Transcending partisanship through a careful examination of data Wealth Poverty and Politics reveals the truth about the most explosive political issue of our time
