Politics and Lukewarm Economics      Russian Energy Strategy in the Asia-Pacific Elizabeth Buchanan, 2021-06-01 Given Australia's lack of energy security strategy it is not surprising that the country is void of institutional knowledge and know how of Russian foreign energy strategy. The lucky country as it were relies entirely on sea lines of communication to the north to supply fuel and to export Australian coal and natural gas. Australia has entered the 2020s as the world's largest liquefied natural gas LNG exporter however maintaining complacency in Canberra's current export activities will ultimately lead to a long term security crisis. This book critically examines Russian energy strategy in the Asia Pacific with a view to determining the security implications for Australia. Russia is important for global energy security chains because of its vast resource wealth and its geographical position a pivotal position to supply both the European and Asian markets. Australia has no such luxury geographically constrained as an island continent it relies on the nearby Asia Pacific import market to demand our energy and to facilitate the delivery of our national oil supplies. Understanding Russian foreign energy strategy in the region is crucial given the growing energy requirements in Australia's emerging Asia Pacific arena      America's Energy Gamble Shanti Gamper-Rabindran, 2022-01-13 Rigorous exploration of the Trump administration's pro fossil fuel policy and its lasting impact on public health the economy and the environment      External Sector Report, July 2018 International Monetary Fund, 2018-07-23 The External Sector Report presents a methodologically consistent assessment of the exchange rates current accounts reserves capital flows and external balance sheets of the world's largest economies. The 2018 edition includes an analytical assessment of how trade costs and related policy barriers drive excess global imbalances.

Sustainable Macroeconomics, Climate Risks and Energy Transitions Unurjargal Nyambuu, Willi Semmler, 2023-05-30 Given the industrialized world's historical dependence on fossil fuel based energy resources and the now realized perils of moving beyond the earth's carbon budget this book explores the myriad challenges of climate change and in reaching a low carbon economy. Reconciling the medium term competing yet frequently complementary needs for transition policies the book provides guidelines for complex and often conflicting climate policy tasks. The book presents empirical trends in the use of carbon emitting resources and evaluates market driven short termism and its adverse impact on resource use and the environment. It emphasizes a medium term macroeconomic perspective for the transition. The authors attempt a paradigm shift towards a framework of sustainable macroeconomics. They survey relevant historical models conduct empirical and numerical analyses of the climate change relevant dynamic models provide empirical illustrations and evaluate diverse policy options and implementations together with their historical evolution. New analytical issues are also considered e.g. strategic behavior in the energy and resource sectors energy competition and the dynamics of market shares in new energy technology and supporting policies for dealing with the tipping points encountered in climate change. The authors suggest a multitude of market based strategies and public fiscal monetary and financial policies and longer run planning for resource extraction all suitable for driving sustainable growth and a transformation of the energy sector. The book also examines the multiple delaying forces slowing the transition to a low carbon economy these typically arise from short termism lock ins irreversibility leakages non cooperative games and other political strategies Thus they explain the snail s pace evolution of current national and global climate policies The book will appeal to scholars and students of economics and environmental science It is also relevant for policymakers and practitioners in multilateral institutions research institutions as well as governments and ministries of countries interested in alternative energy sources climate economists and those who study the implementation of sustainable and low carbon based policies
