Spectacular Blackness Amy Abugo Ongiri, 2010 Exploring the interface between the cultural politics of the Black Power and the Black Arts movements and the production of postwar African American popular culture Amy Ongiri shows how the reliance of Black politics on an oppositional image of African Americans was the formative moment in the construction of authentic blackness as a cultural identity While other books have adopted either a literary approach to the language poetry and arts of these movements or a historical analysis of them Ongiri's captures the cultural and political interconnections of the postwar period by using an interdisciplinary methodology drawn from cinema studies and music theory She traces the emergence of this Black aesthetic from its origin in the Black Power movement's emphasis on the creation of visual icons and the Black Arts movement's celebration of urban vernacular culture

Raised Up Down Yonder Angela McMillan Howell, 2013-11-01 Raised Up Down Yonder attempts to shift focus away from why black youth are problematic to explore what their daily lives actually entail Howell travels to the small community of Hamilton Alabama to investigate what it is like for a young black person to grow up in the contemporary rural South What she finds is that the young people of Hamilton are neither idly passing their time in a stereotypically languid setting nor are they being corrupted by hip hop culture and the perils of the urban North as many pundits suggest Rather they are dynamic and diverse young people making their way through the structures that define the twenty first century South Told through the poignant stories of several high school students Raised Up Down Yonder reveals a group that is often rendered invisible in society Blended families football sagas crunk music expanding social networks and a nearby segregated prom are just a few of the fascinating juxtapositions

Race and Rurality in the Global Economy

Michaeline A. Crichlow, Patricia Northover, Juan Giusti-Cordero, 2018-09-26 Issues of migration environment rurality and the visceral politics of place and space have occupied center stage in recent electoral political struggles in the United States and Europe suffused by an antiglobalization discourse that has come to resonate with Euro American peoples Race and Rurality in the Global Economy suggests that this present fractious global politics begs for closer attention to be paid to the deep rooted conditions and outcomes of globalization and development From multiple viewpoints the contributors to this volume propose ways of understanding the ongoing processes of globalization that configure peoples and places via a politics of rurality in a capitalist world economy and through an optics of raciality that intersects with class gender identity land and environment In tackling the dynamics of space and place their essays address matters such as the heightened risks and multiple states of insecurity in the global economy the new logics of expulsion and primitive accumulation dynamics shaping a new savage sorting patterns of resistance and transformation in the face of globalization s political and environmental changes the steady decline in the livelihoods of people of color globally and their deepened vulnerabilities and the complex reconstitution of systemic and lived racialization within these processes This book is an invitation to ask whether our dystopia in present politics can be disentangled from the deepening sense of white fragility in the context of the historical power of globalization s raced effects This book is freely available in an open access edition thanks to Knowledge Unlatched an initiative that provides libraries and institutions with a centralized platform to support OA collections and from leading publishing houses and OA initiatives Learn more at the Knowledge Unlatched website at <https://www.knowledgeunlatched.org> and access the book online at the SUNY Open Access Repository at <http://hdl.handle.net/20.500.12648/7136>

Race and the Forms of Knowledge

Ben Spatz, 2024-02-15 Enacts a radically interdisciplinary intersectionality to position performance based research in solidarity with decoloniality This boldly innovative work interrogates the form and meaning of artistic research also called practice research performance as research and research creation examining its development within the context of predominately white institutions that have enabled and depoliticized it while highlighting its radical potential when reframed as a lineage of critical whiteness practice Ben Spatz crafts a fluid yet critical new framework explored via a series of case studies that includes Spatz's own practice as research to productively confront hegemonic modes of white writing and white institutionality Ultimately taking Jewishness as a paradigmatically molecular identity variously configured as racial ethnic religious or national they offer a series of concrete methodological and formal proposals for working at the intersections of embodied identities artistic techniques and alternative forms of knowledge Race and the Forms of Knowledge Technique Identity and Place in Artistic Research takes inspiration from recent critical studies of blackness and indigeneity to show how artistic research is always involved in the production and transformation of identity Spatz offers a toolkit of practical methods and concepts from molecular identities to audiovisual ethnotechnics and earthing the laboratory for reimagining the university and other contemporary institutions Retrieving the Human Rebecka Rutledge Fisher, Jay Garcia, 2014-08-21 In the more than twenty years since the publication of his book The Black Atlantic Paul Gilroy has become a leading Afro European intellectual whose work in the cultural studies of race has influenced a number of fields and made the study of black Atlantic literatures and cultures an enduring part of the humanities The essays in this collection examine the full trajectory of Gilroy's work looking beyond The Black Atlantic to consider also his work in the intervening years focusing in particular on his investigations of contemporary black life in the United States histories of human rights and the politics of memory and empire in contemporary Britain With an essay by Gilroy himself extending his longstanding examination of fascism racial thinking and European philosophical thought in addition to an interview with Gilroy this volume features Gilroy's own words alongside other scholars alternative conceptualizations and critical rereadings of his works

Race and the Politics of Solidarity Juliet Hooker, 2009-02-03 Solidarity the reciprocal relations of trust and obligation between citizens that are essential for a thriving polity is a basic goal of all political communities Yet it is extremely difficult to achieve especially in multiracial societies In an era of increasing global migration and democratization that issue is more pressing than perhaps ever before In the past few decades racial diversity and the problems of justice that often accompany it have risen dramatically throughout the world It features prominently nearly everywhere from the United States where it has been a perennial social and political problem to Europe which has experienced an unprecedented influx of Muslim and African immigrants to Latin America where the rise of vocal black and indigenous movements has brought the question to the fore Political theorists have long wrestled with the topic of political solidarity but they have not had much to say about the impact of race on such solidarity except to claim that what is necessary is to move beyond race The prevailing approach has been How can a multicultural and multiracial polity with all of the different allegiances inherent in it be transformed into a unified liberal one Juliet Hooker flips this question around In multiracial and multicultural societies she argues the practice of political solidarity has been indelibly shaped by the social fact of race The starting point should thus be the existence of racialized solidarity itself How can we create political solidarity when racial and cultural diversity are more or less permanent Unlike the tendency to claim that the best way to deal with the problem of racism is to abandon the concept of race altogether Hooker stresses the importance of coming to terms with racial injustice and explores the role that it plays in both the United States and Latin America Coming to terms with the lasting power of racial identity she contends is the starting point for any political project attempting to achieve solidarity

Magical Thinking, Fantastic Film, and the Illusions of Neoliberalism Michael J. Blouin, 2016-06-29 This book analyzes how contemporary popular films with fantastic themes including Candyman Frozen The Cabin in the Woods and The Incredible Burt Wonderstone cultivate neoliberal subjectivities These films promise dramatic change but they too often deliver more of the same Although proponents maintain the illusion that the militant enforcement of freemarket economics will resolve racism climate change and imperialism their magical thinking actually fuels the crises Magical Thinking Fantastic Film and the Illusions of Neoliberalism explores the ways in which the visual economies of Hollywood fantasy compliment this particular political economy

Identity Politics and the New Genetics Katharina Schramm, David Skinner, Richard Rottenburg, 2012-01-01 Racial and ethnic categories have appeared in recent scientific work in novel ways and in relation to a variety of disciplines medicine forensics population genetics and also developments in popular genealogy Once again biology is foregrounded in the discussion of human identity Of particular importance is the preoccupation with origins and personal discovery and the increasing use of racial and ethnic categories in social policy This new genetic knowledge expressed in technology and practice has the potential to disrupt how race and ethnicity are debated managed and lived As such this volume investigates the ways in which existing social categories are both maintained and transformed at the intersection of the natural sciences and the cultural politics The contributors include medical researchers anthropologists historians of science and sociologists of race relations together they explore the new and challenging landscape where biology becomes the stuff of identity

The Unfinished Project Lorenzo C. Simpson, 2013-10-18 As humanity becomes increasingly interconnected through globalization the question of whether community is possible within culturally diverse societies has returned as a principal concern for contemporary thought Lorenzo Simpson charges that the current discussion is stuck at an impasse between postmodernism s fragmented notions of cultural difference and humanism s homogeneous versions of community Simpson proposes an alternative one that bridges cultural differences without erasing them He argues that we must establish common aesthetic and ethical standards incorporating sensitivity to difference if we are to achieve cross cultural understanding

The Slave in Legal and Political Philosophy Tom Frost, 2025-02-18 This book explores how the figure of the slave has been used to construct ideas of freedom in Western political and legal philosophy The figure of the slave has supported philosophical and legal defences of colonialism coloniality and the supremacy of the white subject Yet for Giorgio Agamben the slave stands almost counterintuitively as an exemplar of a potential form of future positive political existence Developing this line of thought the book reads key thinkers Agamben engages with in his thought and writings including Aristotle Saint Paul and G W F Hegel and draws on decolonial theory to argue that the lives of people who were enslaved and unfree and their actions and gestures can point towards a paradigmatic form of political belonging By reading Agamben in a decolonial direction we can imagine alternative forms of agency recognition and subjectivity which can challenge the necropolitical world of racial capitalism in which we live This study will appeal to scholars researchers and graduate students with an interest in the thought of Giorgio Agamben radical politics legal and political philosophy and decolonial theory
