The Age of the Maccabees Annesley Streane, 2015 The decree of Cyrus 538 BC seems to have been acted upon with all speed by a portion of the Jews resident in Babylon That portion however doubtless consisted of the less well to do and those who had formed no very close ties commercial or otherwise with the locality in which they had grown up Many had acted to the full upon the advice given them by Jeremiah 29 5 7 and to borrow a Jewish phrase which has been applied to the present case the bran returned the tine flour was left behind in Babylon Thus it came to pass that the returned exiles were the more easily reduced to inactivity by the difficulties which speedily came upon them in their attempts at the renovation of their old home Mainly through the hostility of the Samaritans on their offer of cooperation being repulsed but perhaps in some degree owing to the absence of royal favor on the part of Cyrus s two successors Cambyzes and the Pseudo Smerdis the work of restoration was for more than nine years 529 520 BC in abeyance In the year 520 BC however two years after the accession of Darius the heartening which their prophets Haggai and Zechariah sought to give them and the efforts of Joshua the high priest and Zerubbabel evoked renewed energy Darius's approval was obtained and four years later the Temple was dedicated to the service of God

The Age of the Maccabees A. W. Streane, 2014-11-16 This is a short history that covers Jewish history in the Near East during antiquity from the 6th century BC to the revolt of the Maccabees From Chapter 1 BEFORE entering on our main subject it is desirable that we should take a brief retrospective glance over that part of the earlier history which lies between the return of the Jews from their captivity in Babylon 538 BC and the commencement of that which we may call the Maccabean period The decree of Cyrus 538 BC seems to have been acted upon with all speed by a portion of the Jews resident in Babylon That portion however doubtless consisted of the less well to do and those who had formed no very close ties commercial or otherwise with the locality in which they had grown up Many had acted to the full upon the advice given them by Jeremiah 29 5 7 and to borrow a Jewish phrase which has been applied to the present case the bran returned the tine flour was left behind in Babylon Thus it came to pass that the returned exiles were the more easily reduced to inactivity by the difficulties which speedily came upon them in their attempts at the renovation of their old home Mainly through the hostility of the Samaritans on their offer of cooperation being repulsed but perhaps in some degree owing to the absence of royal favor on the part of Cyrus's two successors Cambyses and the Pseudo Smerdis the work of restoration was for more than nine years 529 520 BC in abeyance In the year 520 BC however two years after the accession of Darius the heartening which their prophets Haggai and Zechariah sought to give them and the efforts of Joshua the high priest and Zerubbabel evoked renewed energy Darius's approval was obtained and four years later the Temple was dedicated to the service of God

a view as is attainable of the main features which are characteristic of Jewish literature during the period dealt with That period though it may briefly be called the Age of the Maccabees embraces in fact as will at once be seen a much larger space We have thought it well therefore to commence by giving a sketch of the history of the period from the Return of the Jews in accordance with the decree of Cyrus till the accession of Herod the Great 37 B C We seek in the next place to estimate the social political and religious condition of the Jewish people during the period dealt with and the rest of the book is mainly occupied with an examination of the literature of the time as closely bound up with the aspirations and various modes of thought which are exhibited in the life of the nation mainly though we cannot say exclusively in Palestine and Egypt About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works The Age of the Maccabees... Claude Gerald Lygre,1940 A Handbook on 3-4 Maccabees Roger Aubrey Bullard,2018 The Maccabees in the World War \(Classic Reprint\) Knights of the Maccabees,2015-07-06 Excerpt from The Maccabees in the World War June 28 1914 a bullet smaller than a sewing thimble pierced the vitals of the Prince of Imperial Austria Hungary and brought down upon the earth a deluge of death suffering and destruction such as mankind had never before experienced History simply calls it The World War but in these three solemn words is summed up the whole range of human tragedy from the innocent victim in the cradle to the proud nation that over night faded into memory Who Caused The War Perhaps time will one day definitely and irrefutably place the blame for the war This much we now know the train of war like events that started with the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand heir to the dual throne of Austria Hungary at Sarajevo June 28 th 1914 had its inception in Vienna and was fostered by Berlin A formal inquiry into the assassination was made but of this the world heard but little And then on that ill omened day July 23 1914 Austria Hungary served its ultimatum on Serbia demanding the latter submit to humiliating terms terms utterly uncalled for in the eyes of all nations but those few which were predetermined to accept the slightest pretense to involve all Europe in war Austria had no satisfactory proof that Serbia as a nation was involved in the murder of Ferdinand Serbia and many other nations as well knew this and sensed the real intent of the ultimatum was war Europe was aghast at the potential evil in the situation Statesmen of the chief powers of the west tried in vain to temper Austrias belligerency Serbia sent her answer to the dual monarch on July 25th protesting her innocence in the alleged conspiracy But the little nation counseled by the Triple Entente and Russia agreed to Austrias terms Serbias tone was conciliatory and she promised to submit all issues involved to the Hague Austria to her undying shame and regret ignored this reasonable even humble offer and on July 28 th formally declared war on Serbia

Russia had begged the Austrians to postpone action for a few days at least but Vienna was truculent and on July 27th the Russians formally pledged their aid to their Slavic Ally. Thus the controversy became chiefly one between Russia and Austria. Steps were taken by Sayonoff, Foreign Minister of Russia to avert the impending strife. Perhaps Sayonoff knew too well that Russia was not prepared to fight and especially without the aid of France who as yet was neutral but to the great and unfortunate nation of the Czars belongs indisputably the credit for attempting to prevent war when war was created by militaristic Germany through her Allies. Even in the face of this situation France nominally Russias Ally and England joined in an endeavor to establish mediation. It seemed for a time until July 31st that their efforts would succeed. But Austria had already progressed in her preparation for the invasion of Serbia and Russia was not far behind her in mobilization. Up to this time the power to fight or to maintain peace lay between Austria and Russia. It seems entirely safe to state that the Austrians alone would have responded to the importunities of the Russians for peace. But Germany stood in the way for every normal mind knows the German government counseled and probably directed every move of the Austrians toward a European war. While Germany has divulged much war correspondence she has never given to the world the communications between her Foreign Office and Vienna during this critical period. Suffice to say Austria was Germanys stepping stone to the Balkans and Constantinople for vast ambitions in the east which Teutonic minds had dreamed for many many years. Ecn Rohrbach the well informed German writer has gone on record as saying that Germany promised after the murder at Serajevo to stand by Austria for life and death. Germany denied any knowledge of the Austrian ultimatum prior to its service on Serbia but
