Performative Inter-Actions in African Theatre 3 Kene Igweonu,Osita Okagbue,2014-01-02 This book is part of a three volume book set published under the general title of Performative Inter Actions in African Theatre Each of the three books in the set has a unique subtitle that works to better focus its content and differentiates it from the other two volumes The contributors backgrounds and global spread adequately reflect the international focus of the three books that make up the collection The contributions in their various ways demonstrate the many advances and ingenious solutions adopted by African theatre practitioners in tackling some of the challenges arising from the adverse colonial experience as well as the one sided advance of globalisation The contributions attest to the thriving nature of African theatre and performance which in the face of these challenges has managed to retain its distinctiveness while at the same time acknowledging contesting and appropriating influences from elsewhere into an aesthetic that is identifiably African Consequently the three books are presented as a comprehensive exploration of the current state of African theatre and performance both on the continent and diaspora Performative Inter Actions in African Theatre 3 Making Space Rethinking Drama and Theatre in Africa offers essays that seek to re conceptualise notions of drama and theatre in Africa and therefore redefine our understanding of the practice role and place they occupy in a constantly evolving African socio cultural contexts Contributions in Making Space Rethinking Drama and Theatre in Africa range from essays that explore notions of space in performance to those that challenge the perceived orthodoxy of conventional forms and approaches to theatre Human-Earth System Dynamics Rongxing Guo,2018-05-16 This book explores the factors and mechanisms that may have influenced the dynamic behaviors of earliest civilizations focusing on both environmental geographic factors on which traditional historic analyses are based and human behavioral factors on which anthropological analyses are usually based It also resurrects a number of common ancestral terms to help readers understand the complicated process of human and cultural evolution around the globe Specifically in almost all indigenous languages the words wa and any variants of it were originally associated with the sound of crying of and certainly were selected as the common ancestral word with the meanings of house home homeland motherland and so on by early humans living in different parts of the world This book provides many neglected but still crucial environmental and biological clues about the rise and fall of civilizations ones that have largely resulted from mankind s long lasting Win Stay Lose Shift games throughout the world The narratives and findings presented at this book are unexpected but reasonable and are what every student of anthropology or history needs to know and doesn t get in the usual text Professor Guo explores the dynamics of civilizations from the beginnings to our perplexingly complex world There are lots of thought provoking ideas

here on the rise and decline of civilizations and nations Anyone wishing to understand global developments should give this book serious consideration John Komlos University of Munich Germany and Duke University USA It is interesting to see a Chinese perspective on the questions of deep history that have engaged Jared Diamond Yuval Harari and David Christian Guo argues that understanding cyclical threats has been the key to human progress which is driven by the dialectic of material privation and human ingenuity Peter Rutland Wesleyan University USA National Myths Gérard Bouchard,2013-05-02 National myths are now seriously questioned in a number of societies In the West for instance a number of factors have combined to destabilise the symbolic foundation of nations and collective identities As a result the diagnosis of a deep cultural crisis has become commonplace Indeed who today has not heard about the erosion of common values or the undermining of social cohesion But to efficiently address this issue do we know enough about the nature and role of myths in modern and postmodern societies Against this background National Myths Constructed Past Contested Presents relies on a sample of nations from around the world and seeks to highlight the functioning of national myths both as representations that make sense of a collectivity and as socially grounded tools used in a web of power relations The collection draws together contributions from international experts to examine the present state of national myths and their fate in today's rapidly changing society Can or must nations do without the sort of overarching symbolic configurations that national myths provide If so how to rethink the fabrics and the future of our societies This book will appeal to students and scholars interested in sociology national identity and memory studies myths shared beliefs or collective imaginaries Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress.
