A Hundred Flowers A Novel:

A Hundred Flowers Gail Tsukiyama, 2012-08-07 In 1950s China an ordinary family faces extraordinary challenges as the Communist Party's hundred flowers campaign gives way to a heartbreaking political upheaval. China 1957 Chairman Mao has declared a new openness in society. Let a hundred flowers bloom, let a hundred schools of thought contend. Many intellectuals fear it is only a trick, and Kai Ying's husband Sheng, a teacher, has promised not to jeopardize their safety or that of their young son Tao. But one July morning just before his sixth birthday, Tao watches helplessly as Sheng is dragged away for writing a letter criticizing the Communist Party and sent to a labor camp for reeducation. A year later, still missing his father, desperately, Tao climbs to the top of the hundred-year-old kapok tree in front of their home, wanting to see the mountain peaks in the distance. But Tao slips and tumbles thirty feet to the courtyard below, badly breaking his leg. As Kai Ying struggles to hold her small family together in the face of this shattering reminder of her husband's absence, other members of the household must face their own guilty secrets and strive to find peace in a world where the old sense of order is falling. In this powerful novel, bestselling author Gail Tsukiyama brings us a moving story of ordinary people facing extraordinary circumstances with grace and courage during the turbulent early days of the Chinese Cultural Revolution.

A Hundred Flowers Blossoming Xiao-Ming Yang, 2009-08-03 A Hundred Flowers Blossoming is a collection of literary essays written by faculty members of Xi'an International Studies University, China, with two distinctive features. The first one is a Chinese perspective on Western literary works, which is normally not found in the scholarship in the West. The second is the feminist stance demonstrated in most articles, as most of the contributors are female. There are four parts in this collection. Part One is titled A Room of Her Own and shows the feminist approach to literary works. Part Two is titled Through the Chinese Lens, as it presents a Chinese perspective in the analysis of the literary works. Form Is Meaning is the title of Part Three, which approaches literary works from a structuralist perspective. Part Four includes two articles, one exploring the theme of death in Joyce's Dubliners and the other reexamining the images of Faulkner's Trio and Hunting Tales.

The Protocols of the Elders of Sodom Tariq Ali,2020-05-05 These provocative essays explore the links between literature history and politics through an examination of the work of Cervantes Tolstoy Proust Musil Roth Platonov Soltzhenitsyn Grossman Munif Rushdie and others Tariq Ali draws out common themes as well as polarities and in each case locates the writer and his or her work in the appropriate political and historical context The title essay is inspired by one of Proust s lesser known reflections if Zionism seeks a biblical homeland for the Jews on the basis of persecution why not also look for a biblical homeland for gays and lesbians This collection showcasing Tariq Ali s range and polemical verve will be sure to attract critical attention and a wide readership

The Beauty and the Book Ellen Widmer,2020-03-23 Women entered the book trade in significant numbers in China during the late sixteenth century when it became acceptable for women from good families to write poetry and seek to publish their collected poems At about the same time a boom in the publication of fiction began and semiprofessional novelists emerged This study begins with three case studies each of which probes one facet of the relationship between women and fiction in the early nineteenth century It examines in turn the prefaces written by four women for a novel about women the activities of a woman editor and writer of fiction and writings on fiction by three leading literary women Building on these case studies the second half of the book focuses on the many sequels to the Dream of the Red Chamber one of which was demonstrably written by a woman and the significance of this novel for women As Ellen Widmer shows by the end of the century women were becoming increasingly involved in the novel as critical readers writers and editors And if women and their relationship to fiction changed over the nineteenth century the novel changed as well not the least in its growing recognition of the importance of female readers

Chinese Narrative Andrew H. Plaks, 2014-07-14 Although Chinese narrative and especially the genres of colloquial fiction have been subjected to intensive scholarly scrutiny no comprehensive volume has provided a framework that would permit an overall view of the tradition The distinguished contributors to this volume have taken an important first step in making possible the consideration of Chinese narrative at the level of comparative and general literary scholarship Originally published in 1977 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Female Rule in Chinese and English Literary Utopias Qingyun Wu, 1995-06-01 Qingyun Wu's work is a unique discovery in literary studies in the West Chinese utopian literature paired with its English counterparts form an original and valuable contribution to world literature In widely varying historical and cultural texts that span the last five centuries Wu analyzes the theme of female rule including a critique of patriarchy and emphasizing a vision for women To date Chinese utopias have been insufficiently explored and unavailable to Western scholars Wu's theories of the politics of female rule as seen in Chinese and English literature since the end of the sixteenth century are predicated on three significant changes that have taken place during those periods These include an outright rejection of rule by women to rule by women in the guise of men from individual to collective female rule and from an idealized matrilineality to anarchism by the female principle Works examined include Edmund Spenser's The Faerie Queen Luo Maodeng's Sanbao's Expedition to the Western Ocean Florence Dixie's Gloriana Charlotte Perkins Gilman's Herland Ursula K LeGuin's The Dispossessed Chen Duansheng's The Destiny of the Next Life Li Ruzhen's The Flowers in the Mirror and Bai Hua's The Remote Country of Women This critical view of the development of feminist utopias in both the East and West will be of interest to scholars of women's studies political science and anthropology as well as to those in literature for both the classical and modern periods
