Now is an opportune moment to consider the shifts in youth and popular culture that are signalled by texts that are being read and viewed by young people In a world seemingly compromised by climate change political and religious upheavals and economic irresponsibility and at a time of fundamental social change young people are devouring fictional texts that focus on the edges of identity the points of transition and rupture and the assumption of new and hybrid identities This book draws on a range of international texts to address these issues and to examine the ways in which key popular genres in the contemporary market for young people are being re defined and re positioned in the light of urgent questions about the environment identity one's place in the world and the fragile nature of the world itself The key questions are What are the shifts and changes in youth culture that are identified by the market and by what young people read and view How do these texts negotiate the addressing of significant questions relating to the world today Why are these texts so popular with young people What are the most popular genres in contemporary best sellers and films Do these texts have a global appeal and if so why These overarching themes and ideas are presented as a collection of inter related essays exploring a rich variety of forms and styles from graphic novels to urban realism from fantasy to dystopian writing from epic narratives to television musicals The subjects and themes discussed here reveal the quite remarkable diversity of issues that arise in youth fiction and the variety of fictional forms in which they are explored Once seen as not as important as adult fiction this book clearly demonstrates that youth fiction and the popular appeal of this fiction is complex durable and far reaching in its scope

Cultural Encounters in Translated Children's Literature Helen Frank, 2014-04-08 Cultural Encounters in Translated Children's Literature offers a detailed and innovative model of analysis for examining the complexities of translating children's literature and sheds light on the interpretive choices at work in moving texts from one culture to another The core of the study addresses the issue of how images of a nation locale or country are constructed in translated children's literature with the translation of Australian children's fiction into French serving as a case study Issues examined include the selection of books for translation the relationship between children's books and the national and international publishing industry the packaging of translations and the importance of titles blurbs and covers the linguistic and stylistic features specific to translating for children intertextual references the function of the translation in the target culture didactic and pedagogical aims euphemistic language and explicitation and literariness in translated texts The findings of the case study suggest that the most common constructs of Australia in French translations reveal a preponderance of traditional Eurocentric signifiers that identify Australia with the outback the antipodes the exotic the wild the unknown the void the end of the world the young and innocent nation and the Far West Contemporary signifiers that construct Australia as urban multicultural Aboriginal worldly and inharmonious are seriously under represented The study also shows that French translations are conventional conservative and didactic showing preference for an exotic rather than local specificity with systematic manipulation of Australian referents betraying a perception of Australia as antipodean rural exoticism The significance of the study lies in underscoring the manner in which a given culture is constructed in another cultural milieu especially through translated children's literature
