Macfarlane, 2013-03-20 In Silt bestselling travel writer Robert Macfarlane walks the Broomway the deadliest path in Britain In one of the most striking chapters of his brilliant 2012 book The Old Ways Robert Macfarlane walks the Essex offshore path which has claimed the lives of more than sixty people over the centuries His companion on this atmospheric and potentially perilous journey is his old friend and photographer David Quentin In this special e book edition the Broomway section of The Old Ways appears alongside a run of twenty two photographs taken that day by David which form a haunting counterpoint to the text itself In a newly written afterword David reflects on the walk on Robert Macfarlane's writing and on the fascinating legal terrain which paths like this one traverse even as they cross the land itself Praise for The Old Ways Macfarlane has shown how utterly beautiful a brilliantly written travel book can still be As perfect as his now classic The Wild Places Maybe it is even better than that William Dalrymple Observer A lovely book a poetic investigation into what it is to follow a path on land and at sea in the footsteps of both our ancient predecessors and such writers as Edward Thomas Macfarlane is reviving an entire body of nature writing here David Sexton Evening Standard Beautifully written moving thrilling It reminded me of how much stranger and richer the world is at walking speed Philip Pullman Guardian A magnificent meditation on walking and writing An astonishingly haunted book Adam Nicolson Daily Telegraph The Old Ways sets the imagination tingling it is like reading a prose Odyssey sprinkled with imagist poems John Carey Sunday Times Robert Macfarlane is the author of the award winning Mountains of the Mind The Wild Places The Old Ways which was shortlisted for the 2012 Samuel Johnson Prize for Non Fiction and Landmarks which was shortlisted for the 2015 Samuel Johnson Prize He is a Fellow of Emmanuel College Cambridge David Quentin is a barrister specialising in tax law He also takes photographs teaches Cambridge undergraduates about versification and plays the bass guitar in London based krautgoth noisegaze outfit The Murder Act

Beidler, 2022-05-03 Many of the touchstones of modernism reflect on death and devastation In Philip D Beidler's exploration of the modernist canon he illuminates how these singular voices looked extinction in the eye and tried to reckon with our finitude and their own The Great Beyond Art in the Age of Annihilation catalogs through lively prose an eclectic selection of artists writers and thinkers In 16 essays Beidler takes nuanced and surprising approaches to well studied figures the haunting sculpture by Saint

Gaudens commissioned by Henry Adams for his late wife Luchino Visconti's adaptation of Mann's Death in Venice and the author's own long fascination with Beckett's Waiting for Godot. The threads and recurring motifs that emerge through Beidler's analysis bridge the different media genres and timeframes of the works under consideration. Protomodernists Crane and Twain connect with near contemporary voices like Sebald and Morrison. Robert MacFarlane's 21st century nonfiction about what lies underneath the earth echoes the Furerbunker and the poetry of Gertrud Kolmar. In tracing how his subjects confronted nothingness be it personal or global Beidler draws a map of how we see the end of the road

Nature Prose Dominic Head, 2022-08-15 Nature Prose seeks to explain the popularity and appeal of contemporary writing about nature. This book intervenes in key areas of contemporary debate about literature and the environment and explores the enduring appeal of writing about nature during an ecological crisis. Using a range of international examples with a focus on late twentieth and early twenty first century writing from Britain and the US Dominic Head argues that nature writing contains formal effects which encapsulate our current ecological dilemma and offer a fresh resource for critical thinking. The environmental crisis has injected a fresh urgency into nature writing along with a new piquancy for those readers seeking solace in the nonhuman or for those looking to change their habits in the face of ecological catastrophe. However behind this apparently strong match between the aims of nature writers and the desires of their readers there is also a shared mood of radical uncertainty and insecurity. The treatment and construction of nature in contemporary imaginative prose reveals some significant paradoxes beneath its dominant moods moods which are usually earnest sometimes celebratory sometimes prophetic or cautionary. It is in these paradoxical moments that the contemporary ecological crisis is formally encoded in a progressive development of ecological consciousness from the late 1950s onwards. Nature prose fiction and nonfiction is now contemporaneous with a defining time of crisis while also being formally fashioned by that context. This is a mode of writing that emerges in a world in crisis but which is also in some ways in crisis itself. With chapters on remoteness exclusivity abundance and rarity this book marks a turning point in how literary criticism engages with nature writing

Durand-Rous, Margot Lauwers, 2023-10-10 Weaving Words into Worlds comes as the third spinoff of the international ecopoetics conference organized in Perpignan in 2016. Reflecting upon how the many stories we tell directly influence the world we live in, each of the contributions in this international volume directs our attention to the constant ecopoetic weaving of word to the world at work via the many entanglements between mind, matter, and meaning, whether on a local or a global scale. It encapsulates how the words, stories, and concepts we humans articulate as we try to make sense of the world we inhabit give part of its shape to the web of ecological relations that we depend on for survival. It seeks to cast light on the disenchanting and reenchanting powers of stories and poesis in general, as stories retain the power to make us either become oblivious to and destroy or to feel and honor the many complex ties between the multitudinous nature cultures intertwined within the fabric of a multispecies world, always in the making. This book offers a total of fourteen articles written by international scholars in ecocriticism and ecopoetics who, by their analyses of literature and/or films and the political subtext they thus render visible, aim at showing how the study of environmentally minded media may renew our attention to the entangled agencies of the human and the more-than-human realm. Thus, this work offers to counter a reproach: ecocriticism has often been met with, namely, the overpresence of US scholars and the lack of diversity in subjects in the field, since the articles presented provide a wide variety of approaches and topics, with examples of UK and Native American literature, Polynesian myth, graphic novels, or haiku. In doing so, the book expands on the fields of ecocriticism and ecopoetics, adding to this branch of study and enriching it with high-quality academic studies.
