

many Oldsmobile dealers are equipped to handle tire warranty adjustment on certain makes of tires provided on 1972 Oldsmobile cars.

TIRE TRACTION—A decrease in driving, cornering, and braking traction occurs when water, snow, ice, gravel, or other material is on the road surface. Driving practices and car speed should be adjusted to the road conditions.

When driving on wet or slushy roads, it is possible for a wedge of water to build up between the tire and road surface. This phenomenon, known as hydroplaning, may cause partial or complete loss of traction, which adversely affects vehicle control and stopping ability. To reduce the possibility of traction loss, the following precautions should be observed:

1. Slow down during rainstorms or when roads are slushy.
2. Slow down if road has standing water or puddles.

3. Replace tires when tread wear indicators are visible. (See safety checks section.)

4. Keep tires properly inflated.

For temporary assistance when traction is lost on ice or snow, the use of AC Liquid Tire Chain is recommended.

Inflation Pressure

The tire inflation pressures listed in the accompanying table have been selected to provide you with the best tire life and riding comfort over the full range of normal driving conditions.

The use of improper tire inflation pressures can affect tire life and load carrying capacity, and may affect vehicle handling. Inflation pressures should be checked at least once a month (and preferably oftener) to insure that the right amount of air is contained in the tires. With regard to tire life, too little air pressure allows abnormal deflection of the tire causing excessive operating temperatures, while too much air pressure prevents normal deflection, making the cord body more vulnerable to road impacts.
