Unsettled Topics on the Use of IVHM in the Active Control Loop Rhonda Walthall,2020-07-01 The growth in global economies has led to a world that has become much more mobile in the last few decades The number of enplanements has increased and is expected to continue to do so at an annual average rate of 1.8% through 2039 1 Prior to the COVID 19 pandemic the number of aircraft in service was expected to increase annually to meet the travel demand Next generation more complex aircraft were scheduled to replace the older aircraft at a pace that still allowed sufficient capacity to meet the increasing demand The events of 2020 have driven the industry to accelerate retirement of older aircraft while deferring the introduction of new aircraft While the length of the industry recovery period cannot be predicted most analysts believe that demand for travel will return once a vaccine is widely available The impact to the design of next generation aircraft will likely be shaped by technologies that are being accelerated for the post COVID world as well as for new mobility platforms Technologies such as artificial intelligence and fault tolerant and self adapting control will use integrated vehicle health management IVHM capabilities as part of the decision making processes This SAE EDGE Research Report seeks to explore the unsettled issues surrounding embedding IVHM information into the active control loops of modern aircraft systems and in future generations of aircraft designs NOTE SAE EDGE Research Reports are intended to identify and illuminate key issues in emerging but still unsettled technologies of interest to the mobility industry The goal of SAE EDGE Research Reports is to stimulate discussion and work in the hope of promoting and speeding resolution of identified issues SAE EDGE Research Reports are not intended to resolve the challenges they identify or close any topic to further scrutiny Click here to access the full SAE EDGETM Research Report portfolio <https://doi.org/10.4271/EPR2020011>

Evaluation of Fault Reporting/Fault Isolation for F-15 Aircraft C. A. Mussari, AIR COMMAND AND STAFF COLL MAXWELL AFB AL., 1985 The author set out to see if the accuracy of the FR FI manuals is a factor in their non use Accuracy of the manuals was determined by analyzing actual reported inflight discrepancies Fault code accuracy was obtained by comparing each discrepancy as written on the TAC Form 122 Debriefing Record with the discrepancy depicted in the FR manual Accuracy of repair actions was obtained by tracking the repair action recommended by the fault isolation manual and comparing it with that shown on the TAC Form 122 Analysis revealed the F 15 fault reporting manual can accurately represent a random inflight malfunction 83 8% of the time and these malfunctions can be accurately isolated in the fault isolation manual 77 7% of the time These accuracy levels are acceptable and not a major factor in the non use of the manuals Observation of the debriefing and maintenance process and interviews with aircrews and maintenance technicians revealed a general lack of understanding and confidence in the FR FI system This lack of understanding and confidence exhibited by both aircrews and maintenance personnel is the primary reason for the system s non use Recommended actions to show the effectiveness of using the system as designed are provided

An Evaluation of Fault Isolation Manuals from the Maintenance Technician's Perspective John A. Medlin (MAJ, USAF.),1990 Aircraft Fault Isolation Based on Pattern of Cockpit Indications A. A. Burrows,W. L. Miles,1972 Study of Fault Detection and Isolation Filters on a Boeing 747 100/200 Nikhil H. Godbole,2008 Specification of Optimum Fault Isolation Presentation W. R. Atchley,J. Ver Hulst,D. J. Lehr,1964 The report describes the development of a System Analysis Model SAM utilizing equipment characteristics and maintenance environments of Air Force equipments which provides a guide for technical writers in the selection of the most efficient fault isolation presentations for current and R D systems From this model three characteristics which affect the efficiency of fault isolation presentation formats were selected for experimental manipulation and evaluation These characteristics 1 type of circuitry 2 type of indicators and 3 system complexity were used to evaluate the relative efficiency in terms of performance accuracy and time of three fault isolation presentation formats 1 standard schematics 2 data flow diagrams and 3 proceduralized instructions Their nonsignificant differences suggest that the criterion for choosing between standard schematics and data flow diagrams would be the cost of development when dealing with equipments with similar characteristics Significantly proceduralized instructions were found to be more efficient than the other two formats
