Bog Tender Coming Home To Nature And Memory:

Bog Tender George H. Szanto, 2013 A memoir of Canadian author George Szanto Whatever Lola Wants George H. Szanto, 2014 Ted tells stories Perched high on a cloud he peers down at the Earth and the mortals who inhabit it listening to their memories Lola once a famous Hollywood bombshell now a god listens to his stories Ted's words capture her heart just as she captured the hearts of her fans Down below three families experience joy tragedy hope and loss Milton and Theresa are activists conservationists parents lovers fighters Cochran is a self-styled ecological leader haunted by sadness and fear And Carney is a disaster recovery specialist who can quench an oil platform fire but finds love hard to hold on to Through their attractions and battles their futures become bound as Cochran's vision for a new utopia a massive construction project threaten to rupture everything This is a story about stories those we tell others and those that fill us up It is also about the stories we tell ourselves and the ways they make us who we are admired artists despised monsters adored immortals From cover Always Love a Villain on San Juan Island Sandy Frances Duncan, George H. Szanto, George Szanto, 2013 Noel Franklin and Kyra Rachel travel to Moresby University on San Juan Island to investigate a case of plagiarism only to discover a more sinister crime the kidnapping of the daughter of a professor involved in sensitive research Storytelling for Sustainability in Higher Education Petra Molthan-Hill, Heather Luna, Tony Wall, Helen Puntha, Denise Baden, 2020-03-25 To be a storyteller is an incredible position from which to influence hearts and minds and each one of us has the capacity to utilise storytelling for a sustainable future This book offers unique and powerful insights into how stories and storytelling can be utilised within higher education to support sustainability literacy Stories can shape our perspective of the world around us and how we interact with it and this is where storytelling becomes a useful tool for facilitating understanding of sustainability concepts which tend to be complex and multifaceted The craft of storytelling is as old as time and has influenced human experience throughout the ages The conscious use of storytelling in higher education is likewise not new although less prevalent in certain academic disciplines what this book offers is the opportunity to delve into the concept of storytelling as an educational tool regardless of and beyond the boundaries of subject area Written by academics and storytellers the book is based on the authors own experiences of using stories within teaching from a story of the Ecology of Law to the exploration of sustainability in accounting and finance via contemporary cinema Practical advice in each chapter ensures that ideas may be put into practice with ease In addition to examples from the classroom the book also explores wider uses of storytelling for communication and sense making and ways of assessing student storytelling work It also offers fascinating research insights for example in addressing the question of whether positive utopian stories relating to climate change will have a stronger impact on changing the behaviour of readers than will dystopian stories Everyone working as an educator should find some inspiration here for their own practice on using storytelling and stories to co-design positive futures together with our students Secrets Ruby Greenlaw, 2000 Three short stories showing how secrets can affect people's lives

Artillery and Trench Mortar Memories - 32nd Division Ed R. Whinyates,2012-04-04 This book is a compilation of Diaries and Trench Mortar Memories contributed by various members of the 32nd Divisional Artillery and apart from anything else it goes some way to make up for the lack of a full divisional history The 32nd Division landed in France in November 1915 without its artillery which had been transferred to the 31st Division In return the 31st Divisional artillery joined the 32nd Division in France in December 1915 and was redesignated 32nd Divisional Artillery The War Office worked in even more mysterious ways than the Lord The diaries make up the bulk of the book which begins with the diary of Lieut A B Scott who served with the 32nd Divisional Artillery in X and W Trench Mortar Batteries TMB and from March 1917 onwards as Reconnaissance Officer at HQ Divisional Artillery As there is little written about operations with TMBs this well written diary is a most useful source of information on that aspect of artillery warfare on the Western Front But the main part of the book almost 500 pages is the diary of the Rev R E Grice Hutchinson the divisional artillery chaplain who left for France on 1 July 1916 and remained with the division to the end of the war But his diary goes on through to 19th October 1919 which makes it about the longest personal diary of the Great War to appear in print and it is a very good one If you want to know what the 32nd Division got up to look no further The last of the three diaries is that of Ludovic Heathcoat Amery of the Royal Devon Yeomanry who served as Staff Captain at the divisional artillery HQ from January 1917 till killed in action on 24th August 1918 The last twenty five pages are taken up with personal memories of six officers and men who fought with the division s TMBs There is no roll of honour list of awards etc nor index The Complete Works of Frances Hodgson Burnett \(Unabridged\)
