There are several ways to extend the model. For example, we could allow the model to be extended to include a third variable, such as the number of children in the household. This would allow us to test the hypothesis that the number of children in the household is related to the number of children in the household. We could also extend the model to include a fourth variable, such as the number of children in the household. This would allow us to test the hypothesis that the number of children in the household is related to the number of children in the household.
