Arab Women Writers Radwa Ashour, Ferial Ghazoul, Hasna Reda-Mekdashy, 2008-11-01 Arab women's writing in the modern age began with A'isha al Taymuriya, Warda al Yaziji, Zaynab Fawwaz and other nineteenth century pioneers in Egypt and the Levant. This unique study, first published in Arabic in 2004, looks at the work of those pioneers and then traces the development of Arab women's literature through the end of the twentieth century and also includes a meticulously researched comprehensive bibliography of writing by Arab women. In the first section, in nine essays that cover the Arab Middle East from Morocco to Iraq and Syria to Yemen, critics and writers from the Arab world examine the origin and evolution of women's writing in each country in the region, addressing fiction, poetry, drama and autobiographical writing. The second part of the volume contains bibliographical entries for over 1,200 Arab women writers from the last third of the nineteenth century through 1999. Each entry contains a short biography and a bibliography of each author's published works. This section also includes Arab women's writing in French and English as well as a bibliography of works translated into English. With its broad scope and extensive research, this book is an indispensable resource for anyone interested in Arabic literature, women's studies or comparative literature. The Other Air Force Matt Sienkiewicz, 2016-10 As it seeks to win the hearts and minds of citizens in the Muslim world the United States has poured millions of dollars into local television and radio programming hoping to generate pro American currents on Middle Eastern airwaves However as this fascinating new book shows the Middle Eastern media producers who rely on these funds are hardly puppets on an American string but instead contribute their own political and creative agendas while working within U S restrictions The Other Air Force gives readers a unique inside look at television and radio production in Afghanistan and the Palestinian territories from the isolated villages of the Afghan Panjshir Valley to the congested streets of Ramallah Communications scholar Matt Sienkiewicz explores how the U S takes a soft psy approach to its media efforts combining soft methods of encouraging entertainment programming such as adaptations of The Voice and The Apprentice with more militaristic psy ops approaches to information control Drawing from years of field research and interviews with everyone from millionaire executives to underpaid but ever resourceful cameramen Sienkiewicz considers the perspectives of the Afghan and Palestinian media workers trying to forge viable broadcasting businesses without straying outside American set boundaries for acceptable content As it carefully examines the interplay of U S military and economic might with the capacity for local ingenuity and resistance the book also analyzes the intriguingly complex programming that emerges from this tension Combining eyewitness reportage with cutting edge scholarship The Other Air Force reveals the remarkable creative output that can emerge even from the world's tensest conflict zones

Harriet Beecher Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in Arabic Abeer Abdulaziz AL-Sarrani, 2016-03-25 This book explores the challenges of cross cultural translation of American literary works into Arabic which I argue have prevented many nineteenth century literary works from being translated into Arabic I have used the Arabic translations of Harriet Beecher Stowe s Uncle Tom s Cabin and an abridged English text accompanying one of the translations as a case study Since most of the Arabic translations of English and especially American literary works are merely linguistic oriented ones I reinforce the importance of adopting a period specific cultural oriented approach that maintains the cultural context of American literary works including the historical cultural religious geopolitical and gender based elements during the literary translation into the Arabic culture I start with discussing the internationalization of American works and the importance of a cultural reading of these works Reviewing many translations of English and American works in general I categorize the challenges of cross cultural literary translation from English into Arabic into the following cultural religious geopolitical and gender based ones While I am not calling for accurate cross cultural literary translations since it is impossible however I am advocating for faithful translations which maintain the literary text s cultural and historical contexts The accuracy of a literary translation depends on the amount of linguistic skill a translator has while the faithfulness of a literary translation is based upon the translator s sincere effort to include the literary text s entire cultural context including the historical cultural religious geopolitical and gender based elements Using Uncle Tom s Cabin as a case study I discuss how the previous challenges had negatively affected the translation process of the work Despite the fact the work has been translated seven times into Arabic due to the linguistic oriented approach the historical and cultural significance of Stowe s novel has not yet been introduced to Arab readers through translation Due to the current era of globalization that demands individuals to have multicultural knowledge and understanding and due to the recent cultural and translation projects of literary works from English into Arabic this book reinforces the importance and possibility of addressing the cultural religious geopolitical and gender based challenges while using Uncle Tom s Cabin as an example

Cultural Criticism in Egyptian Women's Writing Caroline Seymour-Jorn,2011-12-23 The five influential women writers discussed in Seymour Jorn s timely work Salwa Bakr Nemat el Behairy Radwa Ashour Etidal Osman and Ibtihal Salem all emerged on the literary scene in the late 1970s and early 1980s They came of age at a time when women s writing was attracting critical attention and more venues for publication were opening up This widening platform enabled these writers to develop and mature as cultural critics resulting in the creation of a successful blend of politically and socially committed literature with artistically innovative literary techniques Artfully combining literary analysis with ethnographic research Seymour Jorn explores the ways in which these writers generate new patterns of thinking and talking about women society and social change She describes how the writers conceive of their role as authors particularly as female authors and how they refigure the Arabic language to express themselves as women By examining these authors works and lives Seymour Jorn illuminates the extent to which writing brings women into the public sphere an arena in which they have traditionally had limited access to positions of power and authority
