1912 1949 Archives and Emotions Ilaria Scaglia,Peter N. Stearns,Valeria Vanesio,Susan J. Matt,2024-12-12 Archives and Emotions argues at its most fundamental level that emotions matter and have always mattered to both the people whose histories are documented by archives and to those working with the documents these contain This is the first study to put archivists and historians scholars and practitioners from different settings geographical provenance and stages of career in conversation with one another to examine the interplay of a broad range of emotions and archives traditional and digital from the eighteenth to the twenty first centuries across national and disciplinary borders Drawing on methodologies from the history of emotions and critical archival studies this book provides an original analysis of two interconnected themes through a selected number of case studies the emotional dynamics affecting the construction and management of archives and the emotions and their effects on the people engaging with them such as archivists researchers and a broad range of communities Its main message is that critically investigating the history and mechanics of emotions including their suppression and exclusion also being conscious of their effects on people and societies is essential to understanding how archives came to hold deep civic and ethical implications for both present and future This study thus establishes a solid base for future scholarship and interdisciplinary collaborations and challenges academic and non academic readers to think work and train new generations differently fully aware that past and present choices have and might again hurt inspire empower or silence

Emerging Trends in Archival Science Karen F. Gracy,2017-11-01 Emerging Trends in Archival Science provides readers with an excellent overview of the variety and scope of current scholarly thinking in archival science A new generation of thinkers is making the case for the importance of archives for addressing grand societal challenges such as peace and security human rights and adaptation to technological change in the information society These emergent archival scholars are bringing fresh insights about the nature of the archival endeavor and the role of archives in preserving evidence of an increasingly complex and diverse society They are thinking about how people create manage and interact with records and how the next generation of archivists can best be equipped to handle the recordkeeping challenges of the twenty first century

Archives, Recordkeeping and Social Justice David A. Wallace,Wendy M. Duff,Renée Saucier,Andrew Flinn,2020-05-10 Archives Recordkeeping and Social Justice expands the burgeoning literature on archival social justice and impact Illuminating how diverse factors shape the relationship between archives recordkeeping systems and recordkeepers

this book depicts struggles for different social justice objectives Discussions and debates about social justice are playing out across many disciplines fields of practice societal sectors and governments and yet one dimension cross cutting these actors and engagement spaces has remained unexplored the role of recordkeeping and archiving To clarify and elaborate this connection this volume provides a rigorous account of the engagement of archives and records and their keepers in struggles for social justice Drawing upon multidisciplinary praxis and scholarship contributors to the volume examine social justice from historical and contemporary perspectives and promote impact methodologies that align with culturally responsive democratic Indigenous and transformative assessment Underscoring the multiplicity of transformative social justice impacts influenced by recordmaking recordkeeping and archiving the book presents nine case studies from around the world that link the past to the present and offer pathways towards a more just future Archives Recordkeeping and Social Justice will be an essential reading for researchers and students engaged in the study of archives truth and reconciliation processes social justice and human rights It should also be of great interest to archivists records managers and information professionals

Ghosts of Archive Verne Harris, 2020-12-21 Ghosts of Archive draws on the discourses of deconstruction intersectionality and archetypal psychology to mount an argument that archive is fundamentally and structurally spectral and that the work of archive is justice Drawing on more than 20 years of the author's research on deconstruction and archive the book posits archive as an essential resource for social justice activism and as a source or location of soul for individuals and communities Through explorations of what Jacques Derrida termed hauntology Harris invites a listening to the call for justice in conceptual spaces that are non disciplinary He argues that archive is both constructed in relation to and beset by ghosts ghosts of the living of the dead and of those not yet born and that attention should be paid to them Establishing a unique nexus between a deconstructive intersectionality and traditions of memory for justice in struggles against oppression from South Africa and elsewhere the book makes a case for a deconstructive praxis in today's archive Offering new ideas about spectrality banditry and archival activism Ghosts of Archive should appeal to those working in the disciplines of archival science information studies and psychology It should also be essential reading for those with an interest in social justice issues transitional justice history philosophy memory studies and postcolonial studies

Commercial Aircraft Propulsion and Energy Systems Research National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Aeronautics and Space Engineering Board, Committee on Propulsion and Energy Systems to Reduce Commercial Aviation Carbon Emissions, 2016-09-09 The primary human activities that release carbon dioxide CO₂ into the atmosphere are the combustion of fossil fuels coal natural gas and oil to generate electricity the provision of energy for transportation and as a consequence of some industrial processes Although aviation CO₂ emissions only make up approximately 2.0 to 2.5 percent of total global annual CO₂ emissions research to reduce CO₂ emissions is urgent because 1 such reductions may be legislated even as commercial air travel grows 2 because it takes new technology a long time to propagate into and through the aviation fleet and 3 because of the ongoing impact of global CO₂ emissions Commercial Aircraft Propulsion and Energy Systems Research develops a national research agenda for reducing CO₂ emissions from commercial aviation This report focuses on propulsion and energy technologies for reducing carbon emissions from large commercial aircraft single aisle and twin aisle aircraft that carry 100 or more passengers because such aircraft account for more than 90 percent of global emissions from commercial aircraft Moreover while smaller aircraft also emit CO₂ they make only a minor contribution to global emissions and many technologies that reduce CO₂ emissions for large aircraft also apply to smaller aircraft As commercial aviation continues to grow in terms of revenue passenger miles and cargo ton miles CO₂ emissions are expected to increase To reduce the contribution of aviation to climate change it is essential to improve the effectiveness of ongoing efforts to reduce emissions and initiate research into new approaches

Designing Smart and Resilient Cities for a Post-Pandemic World Anthony Larsson, Andreas Hatzigeorgiou, 2022-08-31 Are pandemics the end of cities Or do they present an opportunity for us to reshape cities in ways making us even more innovative successful and sustainable Pandemics such as COVID 19 and comparable disruptions have caused intense debates over the future of cities Through a series of investigative studies Designing Smart and Resilient Cities for a Post Pandemic World Metropandemic Revolution seeks to critically discuss and compare different cases innovations and approaches as to how cities can utilise nascent and future digital technology and or new strategies in order to build stronger resilience to better tackle comparable large scale pandemics and or disruptions in the future The authors identify ten separate societal areas where future digital technology can impact resilience These are discussed in individual chapters Each chapter concludes with a set of proposed action points based on the conclusions of each respective study These serve as solid policy recommendations of what courses of action to take to help increase the resilience in smart cities for each designated area Securing resilience and cohesion between each area will bring about the metropandemic revolution This book features a foreword by Nobel laureate Peter C Doherty and an afterword by Professor of Urban Technologies Carlo Ratti It provides fresh and unique insights on smart cities and futures studies in a pandemic context offers profound reflections on contemporary societal functions and the needs to build resilience and combines lessons learned from historical pandemics with possibilities offered by future technology

But Will It Fly? Iver P. Cooper, 2025-09-17 Conventional aircraft today are propelled by the action of propellers or jets and powered by the internal combustion of petroleum fuels in piston turboprop or jet engines But other power sources powerplants and propulsion devices for airships as well as aircraft have been proposed and even experimented with over the last few centuries The power sources considered include human muscles steam batteries nuclear reactors and hydrogen fuel and the propulsion devices include sails oars flapping wings rockets and cycloidal propellers This meticulously researched book presents the history of these unconventional aerial power and propulsion systems explains the underlying science and technology behind them and assesses the crucial question of practicality
