Architecture Since 14:

Chilean Modern Architecture Since 1950 Fernando Pérez Oyarzun, Rodrigo Pérez de Arce, Horacio Torrent, 2010 Chilean architecture along with that of Sao Paolo and Mexico City sets a benchmark for the intersection of modernism with vernacular influences in Latin America Culture landscape and the geology of this earthquake prone region have all served as important filters for the practice of post 1950s design in Chile This volume introduces the modern architecture of Chile to readers in the United States Looking primarily at domestic architecture as a lens for studying the larger movement Fernando Perez Oyarzun considers the relationship between theory and practice in Chile As he shows in his chapter during the early 1950s the School of Valparaiso offered the possibility of developing experimental projects accompanied by theoretical statements There visual artists considered poetry the starting point of modern architecture and contributed their radically modern views to the design process of the project Next Rodrigo Perez de Arce examines the material context of architecture in Chile the availability of materials and technologies the frequency of violent earthquakes and related seismic activity and the nation s craft based labor intensive building practices He applies these considerations to a series of case studies to demonstrate how they interact with cultural historical economic and even political influences In the book s final chapter Horacio Torrent reviews the interplay between the architectonic culture and modern shapes that came into sharp focus in the 1950s in Chile In another series of case studies he highlights the formation of a system of concepts thought processes instruments and values that have given Chilean architecture a certain singularity during the last fifty years

Thonberg,2010-12-15 Es bien sabido que la arquitectura es un tipo muy especifico de arte de ciencia o de acto etico porque los edificios las ciudades y los territorios son artefactos fisicos y sociales no representaciones virtuales como sucede en el cine en la literatura etc Mijail Bajtin era consciente de esta especificidad cuando afirmaba que la arquitectura toda la arquitectura solamente tiene sujetos esteticos potenciales no heroes esteticos reales 1 Sin embargo estas cualidades especificas de la arquitectura no significan que el proyecto arquitectonico virtual es decir un proyecto aun no construido aun no usado sea real See more at <http://ebooks.upc.edu/product/arquitectura-y-virtualidad-architecture-virtuality-sthashqKiK1LUK.dpuf>

Gatley,Stuart King,2018-02-02 Brutalism had its origins in b ton brut concrete in the raw and thus in the post war work of Le Corbusier The British architects Alison and Peter Smithson used the term New Brutalism from 1953 claiming that if their house in Soho had been built it would have been the first exponent of the New Brutalism in England. Reyner Banham famously gave the movement a series of characteristics including the clear expression of a building's structure and services and the honest use of materials in their as found condition. The Smithsons and Banham promoted the New Brutalism as ethic rather than aesthetic, privileging truth to structure, materials and services and the gritty reality of the working classes over the concerns of the bourgeoisie. But Brutalist architecture changed as it was taken up by others, giving rise to more sculptural buildings flaunting their raw materials, including off form concrete, often in conjunction with bold structural members. While Brutalism fell out of vogue in the 1980s, recent years have seen renewed admiration for it. This volume is consistent with this broader resurgence, presenting new scholarship on Brutalist architects and projects from Skopje to Sydney and from Harvard to Haringey. It will appeal to readers interested in twentieth century architecture and modern and post war heritage. This book was originally published as a special issue of Fabrications, the Journal of the Society of Architectural Historians, Australia and New Zealand.
