Raj Gopal, Suman Sachar, 2000. The essays in the volume are by very established as well as up-coming scholars and the readers will realise the substantial values of the insights that the pieces contain. Most anthologies published carry a great load of articles on fiction writers who often are already familiar and researched. This anthology strikes a balance between poetry and fiction. It focuses upon relatively unknown poets whose poetry merits serious consideration for reason either of stylistic parameters or of thematological. Nemesiss essays on poetry carry comparative historical and formalistic approaches in relation to distinguished poets like Rabindranath Tagore, Nissim Ezekiel and Vikram Seth. The editor's interview with Charu Sheel Singh is added to bring variety and focus of perspective to what a creative writer feels about literature in question. Beautiful Poetry; Selected by the Editors of the Critic, London Literary Journal, 1854. Afro-modernist Aesthetics & the Poetry of Sterling A. Brown Mark A. Sanders, 1999. Sterling A. Brown's poetry and aesthetics are central to a proper understanding of African American art and politics of the early twentieth century. This study redefines the relationship between modernism and the New Negro era in light of Brown's uniquely hybrid poetry and vision of a heterodox pluralist modernism. Brown also a folklorist and critic saw the Harlem Renaissance and modernism as interactive rather than mutually exclusive and perceived the New Negro era as the dawning of African American modernity. Reading Brown's three collections of poetry in light of their respective historical contexts, Sanders examines the ways in which Brown reconfigured black being and created alternative conceptual space for African Americans amid the prevailing racial discourses of American culture. Brown's poetics call for revised conceptions of the Harlem Renaissance, black identity, artistic expression and modernity that recognize the range, depth and complexity of African American life. Distant Voices Still Heard John O'Brien, Malcolm Quainton, 2000-11-01. This book seeks to satisfy a pedagogical need. It is designed for the new graduate student in England and elsewhere although it may profitably be used by the enterprising final year undergraduate. Its aim is to introduce the modern student to readings of French Renaissance literature drawing on the perspectives of contemporary literary theories. The volume is organised by paired readings of five major sixteenth century French writers with interpretations covering among others structuralism, semiotics, feminism and psychoanalysis. Linking these interpretations is a constant interest in problems such as the role of the reader, the nature of the text and the question of gender. The Introduction contextualises the encounter between literary theory and Renaissance texts by using the contributions as pivotal points in the development of critical thinking about this period in early modern literature. All foreign language quotations are translated into English and the book is intended to be of practical interest to a wide range of readers from modern linguists to those studying critical theory, comparative literature or cultural history. The Poetics of Appropriation David Palumbo-Liu, 1993-09-01. The poets of the Northern Song dynasty 960-1126 were writing after what was then and still is acknowledged to be the Golden Age of Chinese poetry the Tang dynasty 618 907 This study examines how these Song poets responded to their uncomfortable proximity to such impressive predecessors and reveals how their response shaped their literary art The author's focus is on the poetic theory and practice of the poet Huang Tingjian 1045 1105 This first full length study in English of one of the most difficult and complex poets of the classical Chinese tradition aims to provide the background for understanding better why Huang was so greatly admired especially by the outstanding literati of his age and why later scholars claim Huang is the characteristic Northern Song poet The author concludes by considering how Huang's literary project resembles but ultimately differs from Western literary theories of influence and intertextuality
