

A MODEST PROPOSAL

TONE AND IRONY

Point of view:
"This number of souls in this Kingdom being usually reckoned one million and a half, it must necessarily follow that the least two hundred thousand couple should either be bred or sold."

Context:
The year 1726, eighteenth-century satirists in Britain (human beings – especially children – as if they were livestock or commodities only)

HISTORICAL CONTEXT

- Britain in 1726 during a time of intense poverty and famine in Ireland
- British landlords and their wealthy agents (the lords of the manor) practicing in England's English Ireland's land and resources
- The Catholic Irish majority suffered under harsh political and economic conditions, with little help from the British government
- References of the time often suggested that children "should be sold into service" – critical regard the British authority

UNDERSTATEMENT

Point of view:
"These children might be made into extremely good soldiers and musicians (leading to genocide)"

Context:
The suggestion is presented in a very calm, logical way, as though it were a practical solution to the problem of a government with a shortage of soldiers. The irony is that it is a suggestion that is clearly meant to be a cruel and dehumanizing one.
