A Moral Climate The Ethics Of Global Warming:

A Moral Climate Michael S. Northcott, 2007 This text examines the most inconvenient truth of all and the most important our moral responsibility for climate change

The Ethics of Global Climate Change Denis G. Arnold, 2011-03-31 Global climate change is one of the most daunting ethical and political challenges confronting humanity in the twenty first century The intergenerational and transnational ethical issues raised by climate change have been the focus of a significant body of scholarship In this new collection of essays leading scholars engage and respond to first generation scholarship and argue for new ways of thinking about our ethical obligations to present and future generations Topics addressed in these essays include moral accountability for energy consumption and emissions egalitarian and libertarian perspectives on mitigation justice in relation to cap and trade schemes the ethics of adaptation and the ethical dimensions of the impact of climate change on nature

The EPZ Ethics of Climate Change James Garvey, 2008-03-21 Climate change is an issue at the heart of international public debate today this book explores the philosophical implications of and for this hugely topical contemporary debate

Global Warming John Houghton, 2015-05-07 Sir John Houghton s definitive full colour guide to climate change is brought fully up to date with the latest IPCC findings for students across a wide range of disciplines The simple logical flow of ideas gives an invaluable grounding in the science physical and human impacts and need for action on global warming

An Introduction to Climate Change Economics and Policy Felix R. FitzRoy, Elissaios Papyrakis, 2016-04-14 The 2nd edition of An Introduction to Climate Change Economics and Policy explains the key scientific economic and policy issues related to climate change in a completely up to date introduction for anyone interested and students at all levels in various related courses including environmental economics international development geography politics and international relations FitzRoy and Papyrakis highlight how economists and policymakers often misunderstand the science of climate change underestimate the growing threat to future civilization and survival and exaggerate the costs of radical measures needed to stabilize the climate In contrast they show how direct and indirect costs of fossil fuels particularly the huge health costs of local pollution actually exceed the investment needed for transition to an almost zero carbon economy in two or three decades using available technology

The Routledge Handbook of Religions and Global Development Emma Tomalin, 2015-02-11 This Handbook provides a cutting edge survey of the state of research on religions and global development Part one highlights critical debates that have emerged within research on religions and development particularly with respect to theoretical conceptual and methodological considerations from the perspective of development studies and its associated disciplines Parts two to six look at different regional and national development contexts and the place of religion within these These parts integrate and examine the critical debates raised in part one within empirical case studies from a range of religions and regions Different religions are situated within actual locations and case studies thus allowing a detailed and contextual understanding of their relationships to development to emerge Part seven examines the links between some important areas within development policy and practice where religion is now being considered including Faith Based Organisations and Development Public Health Religion and Development Human rights Religion and Development Sustainable Development Climate Change and Religion Global Institutions and Religious Engagement in Development Economic Development and Religion Religion Development and Fragile States Development and Faith Based Education Taking a global approach the Handbook covers Africa Latin America South Asia East and South East Asia and the Middle East It is essential reading for students and researchers in development studies and religious studies and is highly relevant to those working in area studies as well as a range of disciplines from theology anthropology and economics to geography international relations politics and sociology

Religion and Ecology in the Public Sphere Celia

Love in a Time of Climate Change Sharon Delgado, 2017-06-30

Love in a Time of Climate Change challenges readers to develop a loving response to climate change which disproportionately harms the poor threatens future generations and damages God's creation This book creatively adapts John Wesley's theological method by using scripture tradition reason and experience to explore the themes of creation and justice in the context of the earth's changing climate By consciously employing these four sources of authority readers discover a unique way to reflect on planetary warming theologically and to discern a faithful response The book's premise is that love of God and neighbor in this time of climate change requires us to honor creation and establish justice for our human family for future generations and for all creation From the introduction As we entrust our lives to God we are enabled to join with others in the movement for climate justice and to carry a unified message of healing love and solidarity as we live into God's future offering hope in the midst of the climate crisis that another world is possible God is ever present always with us Love never ends

Tuvalu, Theology, and the Geopolitics of Climate Change Maina Vakafua Talia, 2025-02-18 This book examines the threat posed by climate change to the low lying islands of Tuvalu through a lens of what it means to be a neighbour Those who live on Tuvalu are among the most vulnerable in the world to threats of rising sea levels and global climate change Their carbon emissions are miniscule and they are weak actors in terms of the geopolitics of climate change The task in Tuvalu is to take seriously the prospect of the submergence of islands and the potential for cultural extinction This prospect raises a network of interconnected questions to do with the rights of climate displaced persons and sovereignty over lands lost to climate change In this volume the author draws upon Indigenous knowledge the ethics of climate justice insights from climate science and familiarity with discourses surrounding the Anthropocene to explore the implications of the parable of the Good Samaritan The rhetoric of the question am I not your tuakoi neighbour inserts a theological and moral dimension into the complex politics of climate change The book will be of particular interest to scholars of theology ethics ecology and environment as well as those working in Pacific studies development studies and politics

Hope in the Age of Climate Change Chris Doran, 2017-04-27 It is difficult to be hopeful in the midst of daily news about the effects of climate change on people and our planet While the Christian basis for hope is the resurrection of Jesus unfortunately far too many American Protestant Christians do not connect this belief with the daily witness of their faith This book argues that the resurrection proclaims a notion of hope that should be the foundation of a theology of creation care that manifests itself explicitly in the daily lives of believers Christian hope not only inspires us to do great and courageous things but also serves as a critique of current systems and powers that degrade humans nonhumans and the rest of creation and thus cause us to be hopeless Belief in the resurrection hope should cause us to be a different sort of people Christians should think purchase eat and act in novel and courageous ways because they are motivated daily by the resurrection of Jesus This is the only way to be hopeful in the age of climate change Religion and Dangerous Environmental Change Dieter Gerten,2010 Given the increasing threats of environmental changes to human societies it is imperative to complement technological and economical problem solutions with alternative perspectives from the humanities and the arts This pioneering book attempts to advance climate and environmental sciences by including religion as a microcosm of cultural response to environmental change The authors are renowned in disciplines as diverse as hydrology religious studies theology cultural studies philosophy and visual arts They exemplify how religion can contribute to sustainable mitigation of climate change and to creative adaption to its impacts thus preparing for a deep cultivation of research on religion in environmental change Ethical and Unethical in the Old Testament Katharine Dell,2010-09-02 Discusses ethical behaviour in the OT and beyond through its characters its varying portrayals of God and humanity in mutual dialogue and through its authors Human Perfection, Transfiguration and Christian Ethics Robin Gill,2024-05-16 Most people would agree that human perfection is unattainable Indeed theologians have typically expressed ambivalence about the possibility of human perfection Yet paradoxically depictions of human perfection are widespread In this volume Robin Gill offers an interdisciplinary study of human perfection in contemporary secular culture He demonstrates that the language of perfection is present in church memorials popular depictions of sport food music and art liturgy and philosophy He contrasts these examples with the socio psychological concept of maladaptive perfectionism using commercial cosmetic surgery as an example as well as the adaptive perfectionism suggested in the lives of Henry Holland Paul Farmer and more ambivalently Ludwig Wittgenstein Gill then provides an in depth analysis of New Testament and Septuagint usage of teleios and theological debates about the human perfection of Jesus He argues that the Synoptic accounts of the Transfiguration offer a template for a Christian understanding of perfection that has important ecumenical implications within social ethics Reenvisioning Christian Ethics Darryl W. Stephens,2020-12-29 Christian ethics is a wide and varied field so diverse are the methods and approaches theological perspectives and starting points and scopes of inquiry and purposes dare we even call it a discipline that the field is rarely considered as a whole Christian ethics includes historical descriptive critical constructive and applied projects on countless topics Lending creative energy to this field of study are a range of partner disciplines including most prominently theology philosophy and sociology each containing multiple schools themselves To envision the entire field of Christian ethics is a difficult task to reenvision the entire field may perhaps be impossible for one person Thus this publication includes original research by multiple scholars each offering a distinct perspective from their primary partner discipline Chapters include Roman Catholic and Protestant voices from Europe Asia and North America In aggregate these writings contribute to a composite reenvisioning of Christian ethics refracting our collective vision through the prisms of diverse academic and methodological perspectives in this vast field of inquiry study and practice The Routledge Companion to Bioethics John D. Arras, Elizabeth Fenton, Rebecca Kukla, 2014-12-05 The Routledge Companion to Bioethics is a comprehensive reference guide to a wide range of contemporary concerns in bioethics The volume orients the reader in a changing landscape shaped by globalization health disparities and rapidly advancing technologies Bioethics has begun a turn toward a systematic concern with social justice population health and public policy While also covering more traditional topics this volume fully captures this recent shift and foreshadows the resulting developments in bioethics It highlights emerging issues such as climate change transgender and medical tourism and re examines enduring topics such as autonomy end of life care and resource allocation Handbook of the Philosophy of Climate Change Gianfranco Pellegrino, Marcello Di Paola, 2023-11-24 This Handbook offers a broad yet unified treatment of many philosophical issues connected with climate change ranging from foundational puzzles to detailed applications It extends to many branches of philosophy that are relevant to the understanding of the premises and implications of the impacts of climate change on human and nonhuman life on Earth More specifically the handbook examines the scientific accounts of climate change as well as its causes It explores the tools offered by social sciences and humanities to study the societal premises and impacts of climate change as well as delving deeper into the ethical and political issues connected with and resulting from climate change By doing so it puts it all in an ecological and historical context In addition the book offers solutions to some important philosophical puzzles and problems and indicates paths of interaction between philosophy and other disciplines The discussion about climate change and the mitigation adaptation policies spans many areas and levels from abstract science and philosophy to current on the ground politics However climate change is also a great a philosophical puzzle Indeed its existential and practical relevance can be thought to largely derive from the philosophical complications it engenders Climate change is applied philosophy par excellence Preventing dangerous anthropogenic climate change needs very good philosophy applied to concrete and specific practical issues Climate change is an area where scholars from very different provenances should cooperate on equal terms having in view a common and really important purpose contribute to preventing great burdens and even the extinction of humankind and the destruction of hospitable and valuable non human nature The Routledge Handbook of Religion, Spirituality and Social Work Beth R. Crisp, 2017-04-07 This international volume provides a comprehensive account of contemporary research new perspectives and cutting edge issues surrounding religion and spirituality in social work The introduction introduces key themes and conceptual issues such as understandings of religion and spirituality as well as definitions of social work which can vary between countries The main body of the book is divided up into sections on regional perspectives religious and spiritual traditions faith based service provision religion and spirituality across the lifespan and social work practice The final chapter identifies key challenges and opportunities for developing both social work scholarship and practice in this area Including a wide range of international perspectives from Australia Canada Hong Kong India Ireland Israel Malta New Zealand South Africa Sweden the UK and the USA this Handbook succeeds in extending the dominant paradigms and comprises a mix of authors including major names significant contributors and emerging scholars in the field as well as leading contributors in other fields of social work who have an interest in religion and spirituality The Routledge Handbook of Religion Spirituality and Social Work is an authoritative and comprehensive reference for academics and researchers as well as for organisations and practitioners committed to exploring why and how religion and spirituality should be integral to social work practice

Systematic Theology and Climate Change Michael S. Northcott, Peter M. Scott, 2014-06-05 This book offers the first comprehensive systematic theological reflection on arguably the most serious issue facing humanity and other creatures today Responding to climate change is often left to scientists policy makers and activists but what understanding does theology have to offer In this collection the authors demonstrate that there is vital cultural and intellectual work for theologians to perform in responding to climate science and in commending a habitable way forward Written from a range of denominations and traditions yet with ecumenical intent the authors explore key Christian doctrines and engage with some of the profound issues raised by climate change Key questions considered include What may be said about the goodness of creation in the face of anthropogenic climate change And how does theology handle a projected future without the human The volume provides students and scholars with fascinating theological insight into the complexity of climate change

Nature, Space and the Sacred Sigurd Bergmann, 2009 Nature Space and the Sacred offers the first investigative mapping of a new and highly significant agenda the spatial interactions between religion nature and culture In this ground breaking work different concepts of religion theology space and place and their internal relations are discussed in an impressive range of approaches Weaving together a diversity of perspectives this book presents an innovative and truly transdisciplinary environmental science Its broad range offers a rich exchange of insights methods and theoretical engagements
