5.2 SETTLEMENT PATTERNS AND SURVEY METHODS I can identify different rural settlement patterns and methods of surveying rural settlements.
Read the following AMSCO Pages: 279-281 Refer to Textbook Pages: 22-23
Outline Notes:	Analysis and Application:
RURAL SETTLEMENT PATTERNS Clustered/nucleated settlements • a group of homes located near each other • like a village • have sense of community Dispersed settlements • Farmers are spread across country sides • No closely related areas • Lack of community Linear settlements • buildings/activity organized along body of water or near transportation route • Vital to live upon transportation route • Route unites community Agricultural Practices Impact Land-Use Patterns • use changed as land evolved because tech allows for more efficient farming • resulting in changes of land ownership as commercial farming overtakes family Farms Establishing Property Boundaries • English settlements used metes and bounds Metes and bounds • English plot boundary system also used in colonies • Metes are small specific reference points • bounds are larger broader areas	Take a look at the picture at the bottom of p.22 in the textbook. In the township and range system people were spread out on different parcels of land arranged in squares. How might that affect the way that communities form in these areas? • independent communities would form inside the different areas. • unites the community inside the area while pushing apart the larger area as a whole Which land use pattern do you think is best? Why? • I believe townships are the best because they are consistent • They also help maintain equal land for all owners A positive aspect of the long-lot system is that each landowner had access to water. What are some negative aspects of this system? • Plots are narrow • more difficult to travel across an area • Can lead to disputes over resources
