Socio-Cognitive Dynamics in Strategic Processes Maren S. D. Breuer, 2010 Process related considerations in strategy research and approaches to managerial cognition constitute two highly valuable yet still only limitedly integrated fields of interest in strategic management To fill this void the work starts from a cognitive perspective with the overall aim of examining the emergence of organisational strategies in strategic processes The central research object strategy is thereby conceptualized as shared strategic orientations among an organisation's key actors The existing gap between strategy process research and cognitive strategy research is closed on a conceptual level first by developing and specifying a socio cognitive perspective on strategic processes In recognition of the central importance of social interactions in this context the focus is then set on a specific core forum for strategic activities i.e. strategic decision making groups In this the nature and the role of social interactions for the developing strategy related knowledge structures is examined first conceptually leading to the development of a socio cognitive model on strategic decision making in groups followed by a qualitative empirical study in this kind of activity forum With its truly interdisciplinary nature the dissertation is of interest for strategy scholars as it enlarges the pool of knowledge in strategic management both content wise and also methodologically with the innovative empirical research approach adopted For practitioners contributions are made by detailing the different dimensions of strategic processes and hence sensitizing to important factors for careful overall process designs At the micro level concrete suggestions are derived for composing and instructing strategy teams in such a way as to allow for efficient interchanges during the discussions themselves as well as to enable the effectiveness of these efforts beyond the specific group context and for the performance of the wider organisation Business Analytical Capabilities and Artificial Intelligence-Enabled Analytics: Applications and Challenges in the Digital Era, Volume 1 Abdalmuttaleb M. Coskun Samli, 2011-08-23 It is impossible to measure the full economic and psychological benefits of the sewing machine the polio vaccine or the Internet What we know is that these products have changed our lives for the better generating net benefits well beyond the metric of corporate profits As forces such as financial market volatility and fragmented markets demonstrate the fragility of the global economy the imperative to develop products and services that contribute to the well being of the many rather than the few is more pronounced than ever In this book A Coskun Samli explores this imperative of an innovation culture and how it can be encouraged at all levels from the individual to the nation or region He argues that without a global innovation culture committed to generating socially valuable products we are likely to face a deteriorating quality of life as wealth is concentrated at the top Integrating insights from management economics policy and psychology Samli demonstrates how creativity can be channeled into innovation and innovation can be channeled in turn toward economic development He discusses how national policies can be oriented toward encouraging such socially beneficial innovations as sustainable energy communication technology and medical discoveries The aim is to promote the development of products and services that improve quality of life and generate profits for those who invest in them He argues that all innovations whether radical or incremental must demonstrate social value in order to be truly profitable
