African Literature An Anthology Of Criticism And Theory:

African Literature Tejumola Olaniyan, Ato Quayson, 2007-07-10 This is the first anthology to bring together the key texts of African literary theory and criticism. Brings together key texts that are otherwise hard to locate. Covers all genres and critical schools. Provides the intellectual context for understanding African literature. Facilitates the future development of African literary criticism. African Women Writing Resistance Jennifer Browdy de Hernandez, Pauline Dongala, Omotayo Jolaosho, Anne Serafin, 2010-08-19 African Women Writing Resistance is the first transnational anthology to focus on women's strategies of resistance to the challenges they face in Africa today. The anthology brings together personal narratives, testimony, interviews, short stories, poetry, performance scripts, folktales, and lyrics. Thematically organized, it presents women's writing on such issues as intertribal and interethnic conflicts, the degradation of the environment, polygamy, domestic abuse, the controversial traditional practice of female genital cutting, Sharia law, intergenerational tensions, and emigration and exile. Contributors include internationally recognized authors and activists such as Wangari Maathai and Nawal El Saadawi, as well as a host of vibrant new voices from all over the African continent and from the African diaspora. Interdisciplinary in scope, this collection provides an excellent introduction to contemporary African women's literature and highlights social issues that are particular to Africa but are also of worldwide concern. It is an essential reference for students of African studies, world literature, anthropology, cultural studies, postcolonial studies, and women's studies. A Choice Outstanding Academic Book. Outstanding Book selected by the Public Library Association. Best Books for High Schools. Best Books for Special Interests and Best Books for Professional Use selected by the American Association of School Libraries. Critical Engagements on African Literature Abba A. Abba, Benedictus C. Nwachukwu, 2019-09-24 Beyond the critical examination of Isidore Diala's award-winning poetry and drama, the essays in this collection offer fresh insights on the complex methodological and theoretical patterns underlying the readings of African literary landscapes. This is the first book to devote considerable attention to the study of Diala's creative works. The Pyre drama and The Lure of Ash poetry. The majority of the contributors here are selected from among the finest of Diala's former teachers, colleagues, and students who know him very closely. The collection addresses fertile areas of African literary expression such as the relationship between literature and national history, African ritual aesthetics, affirmation, denial, and ambivalence as products of social constructions, and exile, migration, and homecoming. Contributions also explore poetry and poetic truths, semiotics, anticolonial revolutions, and postcolonial implosions, oil politics, discontent, and militancy, and feminism and gender politics. The book stands out among its peers and offers great insights to scholars, researchers, and teachers working in the fields of African literature, cultures, and aesthetics. Critical Readings of the Works of Ngugi wa Thiong'o Gambo Sani, 2024-04-18 In this collection of scholarly essays on the works of Ngugi wa Thiong'o, one of the most important postcolonial writers alive, the contributors adopt a range of reading approaches and analytical models like feminism, postcolonialism, historicism, formalism, and psychoanalysis to excavate new meanings and provide fresh insights into Ngugi's artistic oeuvre. Through some robust and engaging scholarly discourses, the volume animates the politics, poetics, and artistic vision of Ngugi wa Thiong'o as well as his commitment to the enterprise of decolonisation. The comprehensiveness of this collection is partly illustrated by the fact that it addresses a range of diverse issues in all of Ngugi's novels, most of his plays, and some of his scholarly works. To this end, the volume is a valuable addition to the body of literature on Ngugi's works and an important resource material to students, teachers, and researchers of African literature.

African Literature and the Future Adeoti, Gbemisola, 2015-12-01. Many African countries achieved independence from their colonisers over five decades ago, but the people and the continent largely remain mere spectators in the arena of their own dance. The post-independence states are supposed to be sovereign, but the levers of economic and political powers still reside in the donor states. Not in many fora is the complex reality that defines Africa more trenchantly articulated than in imaginative literature produced about and on the continent. This is the crux of the essays collected in African Literature and the Future. The book reflects on Africa's past and present, addressing anxieties about the future through the epistemological lens of literature. The contributors peep ahead from a backward glance. They dissect the trend and tenor of politics and their impact on the socio-cultural and economic development of the continent as portrayed in imaginative writings over the years. One salient feature of African literature is the close affinity between art and politics in its polemics. This is well established in all the six essays in the book, as the authors stress the interconnections between literature and society in their textual analyses. On the whole, there is an overwhelming feeling of angst and pessimism, but the authors perceive a glimmer of hope despite daunting odds under different conditions. Thus, they depict the plausible fate of Africa in the twenty-first century as informed by its ancient and recent past gleaned from primary texts.

Fresh Ecocritical Voices in African Literatures and Cultures Chinonye Ekwueme-Ugwu, Joyce Onoromhenre Agofure, Nsah Mala, 2025-10-13. This edited volume brings together fresh voices, both emerging and established, on the ecocritical landscape within African literatures and cultures. In the era of the Anthropocene, the editors and contributors demonstrate how African cultural products address climate and ecological concerns, including activism, animal and plant conservation, climate change, environmental degradation, food security, disasters, ecosystems, and social injustice. The volume offers critical and comparative analyses that transcend the boundaries of languages, places, and textual genres. Significantly, it foregrounds the intersectionality of ecological issues with social, economic, and political dimensions. By doing so, it highlights how environmental challenges are intricately linked to questions of identity, space, justice, and indigenous knowledge systems. While espousing classical textual analysis and beginning to gesture towards empirical experimentation, the volume exemplifies ongoing decolonial and postcolonial approaches in environmental humanities from the African continent and the Global South.

Majority Nigerian Authors and the Me-Generation Eugenia Ossana, 2024-12-31. Nigerian Authors and the Me-Generation: New Shades of Black explores African literary issues and focuses on Nigerian generations throughout history. It also underscores women authors relatively unknown or dispersed role and their positions regarding Western feminism Concurrently the book acknowledges the emergence of a current Generation called the Me Generation dealing with erstwhile taboo themes and genre experimentation Three contemporary novels are singled out and analysed My Sister the Serial Killer by Oyinkan Braithwaite A Small Silence by Jumoke Verissimo and Freshwater by Akwaeke Emezi They deal with the trope of blackness as humour and satire as a healing space and as Igbo spiritual cosmovision which contests Western givens This book can become a reference for those interested in African literature and particularly Nigerian literature Concurrently it can be a starting point to enrich the debate on African literature

The Comic Imagination in Modern African Literature and Cinema Maik Nwosu, 2016-02-05 This book is a seminal study that significantly expands the interdisciplinary discourse on African literature and cinema by exploring Africa's under-visited carnivalesque poetics of laughter Focusing on modern African literature as well as contemporary African cinema particularly the direct-to-video Nigerian film industry known as Nollywood the book examines the often neglected aesthetics of the African comic imagination In modern African literature which sometimes creatively traces a path back to African folklore and in Nollywood with its aesthetic relationship to Onitsha Market Literature the pertinent styles range from comic simplicitas to comic magnitude with the facilitation of language characterization and plot by a poetics of laughter or lightness as an important aspect of style The poetics at work is substantially carnivalesque a comic preference or tendency that is attributable in different contexts to a purposeful comic sensibility or an unstructured but ingrained or virtual comic mode In the best instances of this comic vision the characteristic laughter or lightness can facilitate a revaluation or reappreciation of the world either because of the aesthetic structure of signification or the consequent chain of signification This referentiality or progressive signification is an important aspect of the poetics of laughter as the African comic imagination variously reflects across genres both the festival character of comedy and its pedagogical value This book marks an important contribution to African literature postcolonial literature world literature comic imagination poetics critical theory and African cinema

K. S. Makokha,2013 Reading Contemporary African Literature brings together scholarship on critical debates about and examples of reading African literature in all genres poetry fiction and drama including popular culture The anthology offers studies of African literature from interdisciplinary perspectives that employ sociological historical and ethnographic besides literary analysis of the literatures It has assembled critical and researched essays on a range of topics theoretical and empirical by renowned critics and theorists of African literature that evaluate and provide examples of reading African literature that should be of interest to academics researchers and students of African literature culture and history amongst other subjects Some of the essays examine authors that have received little or no attention to date in books on recent African literature These essays provide new insights and scholarship that should broaden and deepen our understanding and appreciation of African literature Indigenization of Language in the African Francophone Novel Peter W. Vakunta,2011 Indigenization of Language in the African Francophone Novel A New Literary Canon discusses the question of indigenization in the African Francophone novel Analyzing the prose narratives of Nazi Boni Ahmadou Kourouma and Patrice Nganang this book contends that African literature written in European languages is primarily a creative translation process Recourse to European languages as a medium of expressing African imagination worldview and cultures in fictional writing poses problems of intelligibility Developed to express and reflect Western worldviews and sensibilities European languages are employed by African writers to convey messages that seem to be at variance with European imagination These writers find themselves writing in languages they wish to subvert through the technique of literary indigenization The significance of this study resides in its raising awareness to the hurdles that literary creativity in a polyglossic context may present to readers and translators This book provides answers to intriguing questions centering on the problematic of translation in contemporary African literature It is a contribution to current research aimed at unraveling the conundrum surrounding the language question in African Europhone fiction particularly the cultural functions of translation in literature Potential translation problems have to be addressed in order to make African literature written in European languages intelligible to global readership With the advent of globalization transcultural communication has become an activity of enormous importance to the international community It is a subject of great interest to translators linguists language instructors and literary theorists

African Literature Jonathan P. Smithe, 2002 African literature like the continent itself is enormous and diverse East Africa's literature is different from West Africa's which is quite different from South Africa's which has different influences on it than North Africa's Africa's literature is based on a widespread heritage of oral literature some of which has now been recorded Arabic influence can be detected as well as European especially French and English Legends myths proverbs riddles and folktales form the mother load of the oral literature This book presents an overview of African literature as well as a comprehensive bibliography primarily of English language sources Accessed by subject author and title indexes
