Kuser, 2013-11-11

With the emergence of urban and community forestry as the fastest growing part of our profession in the last 15 years the need for a book such as this inevitably developed. The Society of American Foresters urban forestry working group counts 32 or more universities now offering courses in this subject and the number is growing. For the last several years I have coordinated a continuing education urban forestry course at Rutgers for nonmatriculated students. Registrants have included arborists, shade tree commissioners, landscape architects, city foresters, environmental commissioners, park superintendents and others whose jobs involve care and management of trees. The course was started by Bob Tate in 1980 around a core of managerial subjects such as inventories, budgets and public relations. After Bob left in 1984 to join Asplundh and later to start his own prosperous business in California, the course languished after it exhausted the local market for those subjects.

A comprehensive guide to the care of trees, this book covers all aspects of arboriculture from the fundamentals of tree growth and development to developing plant health care programs. It discusses aspects of site selection and modification including climate and soil and water management. The book follows the tree from selection in the nursery to planting and aftercare through such routine practices as pruning, fertilization, support systems and plant health care. Key management situations such as tree preservation, hazard assessment and problem diagnosis are discussed in detail. The fourth edition offers several new features that the student of arboriculture and practicing arborists will find valuable: Reorganization of topics to improve continuity of information; Addition of overviews and summaries for each chapter; Updated assessment of tree care practices such as soil amendments, mycorrhizae and tree growth regulators; Thorough evaluation of the benefits from trees; economic, environmental, ecological and psychological; including examples of the most recent research on cost/benefit analysis of trees in urban areas; Emphasis on special management situations such as structural soils, root/pavement conflicts and remnant forests.
