Nationalism in Sri Lanka Anoma Pieris, 2013 The role of the home the domestic sphere and the intimate ethno cultural identities that are cultivated within it are critical to understanding the polemical constructions of country and city tradition and modernity and regionalism and cosmopolitanism The home is fundamental to ideas of the homeland that give nationalism its imaginative form and its political trajectory This book explores positions that are vital to ideas of national belonging through the history of colonial bourgeois self fashioning and post colonial identity construction in Sri Lanka The country remains central to related architectural discourses due to its emergence as a critical site for regional architecture post independence Suggesting patterns of indigenous accommodation and resistance that are expressed through built form the book argues that the nation grows as an extension of an indigenous private sphere ostensibly uncontaminated by colonial influences domesticating institutions and appropriating rural geographies in the pursuit of its hegemonic ideals This ambitious comprehensive wide ranging book presents an abundance of new and original material and many imaginative insights into the history of architecture and nationalism from the mid nineteenth century to the present day Regional Rhetorics Jenny Rice, 2016-01-13 Regionalism is a term that has been used to describe many different kinds of phenomena including political geographical architectural and literary This collection examines rhetorical regionalism or the relationships we have to physical regions and the idea of regionality Regional rhetorics are more than simply the fact of local conditions in certain spaces They are the ways people produce feelings of belonging and discourses of normalcy within those spaces The authors in this collection bypass familiar narratives of nationality and localism in order to imagine regions as interfaces that help us to negotiate everyday life Regions are more than physical spaces therefore Regional rhetorics can provide different narratives in order to help us invent new kinds of connections to place and publics They give us new descriptions of relationships a power that merges together the tectonic spatial and the architectonic discursive impulses of rhetoric The book was originally published as a special issue of Rhetoric Society Quarterly Re-shaping Cities Michael Guggenheim, Ola Söderström, 2009-12-04 This original collection examines how architectural ideas social models and building forms circulate round the world and become mediated and adapted to local conditions The book shows how types such as skyscrapers mosques or living history museums are imported adapted and contested in different societies and how urban landscapes are reshaped by the global circulation of models drawn from elsewhere Written by scholars from different disciplinary backgrounds architecture anthropology geography linguistics science studies and sociology the book draws its inspiration from a series of different approaches and offers both original theoretical reflection and carefully crafted case studies Critical Strategies for Ecological Architectures Mathias Rollot, 2025-11-01 This book addresses the alarming state of the planet and considers a potential new role for architecture in the Anthropocene It explores ways in which architecture could contribute to solutions as well as how the discipline should prepare for the future Drawing on other disciplines such as bioregionalism animalism and decolonial thinking it demonstrates how architecture can extend its relevance The book introduces new theoretical approaches that encourage completely different ways of thinking showing and designing It introduces concepts such as human energy decolonial bioregionalism and emancipatory architecture which serve to challenge anthropocentric theories and promote more sustainable architectural practices This book makes an ethical appeal to architects and non architects alike proposing new strategies for thinking teaching and creating a wholly different kind of architecture for a rapidly changing world In doing so it addresses the challenges facing contemporary societies and ecological changes demonstrating how the ecological humanities can transform architecture as a field and radically alter its history references values and aims The book aims to contribute to a metamorphosis of architecture towards greater ecological and emancipatory capacity and towards pluriversal bioregions

The Idea of the Cottage in English Architecture, 1760 - 1860 Daniel Maudlin, 2015-07-24 The Idea of the Cottage in English Architecture is a history of the late Georgian phenomenon of the architect designed cottage and the architectural discourse that articulated it It is a study of small buildings built on country estates and not so small buildings built in picturesque rural settings resort towns and suburban developments At the heart of the English idea of the cottage is the Classical notion of retreat from the city to the countryside This idea was adopted and adapted by the Augustan infused culture of eighteenth century England where it gained popularity with writers artists architects and their wealthy patrons who from the later eighteenth century commissioned retreats gate lodges estate workers housing and seaside villas designed to appear as cottages The enthusiasm for cottages within polite society did not last By the mid nineteenth century cottage related building and book publishing had slowed and the idea of the cottage itself was eventually lost beneath the Tudor barge boards and decorative chimneystacks of the Historic Revival And yet while both designer and consumer have changed over time the idea of the cottage as the ideal rural retreat continues to resonate through English architecture and English culture

Constructing a New Agenda A. Krista Sykes, 2012-03-20 This follow up to Kate Nesbitt s best selling anthology Theorizing a New Agenda collects twenty eight essays that address architecture theory from the mid 1990s where Nesbitt left off through the present Kristin Sykes offers an overview of the myriad approaches and attitudes adopted by architects and architectural theorists during this era Multiple themes including the impact of digital technologies on processes of architectural design production materiality and representation the implications of globalization and networks of information the growing emphasis on sustainable and green architecture and the phenomenon of the starchitect and iconic architecture appear against a background colored by architectural theory as it existed from the 1960s on in a period of transition if not crisis that centers around the perceived abyss between theory and practice Theory s transitional state persists today rendering its immediate history particularly relevant to contemporary thought and practice While other collections of recent theoretical writings exist none attempt to address the situation as a whole providing in one place key theoretical texts of the past decade and a half This book provides a foundation for ongoing discussions surrounding contemporary architectural thought and practice with iconic essays by Greg Lynn Deborah Berke

Goodman, 2011-03-16 A sharp and lively text that covers issues in depth but not to the point that they become inaccessible to beginning students An Introduction to Architectural Theory is the first narrative history of this period charting the veritable revolution in architectural thinking that has taken place as well as the implications of this intellectual upheaval The first comprehensive and critical history of architectural theory over the last fifty years surveys the intellectual history of architecture since 1968 including criticisms of high modernism the rise of postmodern and poststructural theory critical regionalism and tectonics Offers a comprehensive overview of the significant changes that architectural thinking has undergone in the past fifteen years Includes an analysis of where architecture stands and where it will likely move in the coming years Architecture for Spain's Recovered Democracy Manuel López Segura,2023-03-30 Historical studies on the involvement of architecture in twentieth century politics have overlooked its contribution to building Spain s democracy This pioneering book seeks to fill that void Between the late 1970s and early 1990s Spain founded representative institutions launched its welfare state and devolved autonomy to its regions The study brings forth the architectural incarnation of that threefold program as it deployed in the Valencian Country a Catalan speaking region on Spain s Mediterranean shores There social democratic authorities mobilized architects planners and graphic artists to devise a newly open public sphere and to recover a local identity that Franco s dictatorship had repressed for decades The research follows the impetus of reform and its contradictions through urban projects designs for cultural amenities and the renovation of governmental and professional bodies Architecture for Spain s Recovered Democracy contributes to current debates on nationalism and the arts the environments of democratic socialism and postmodernism and neoliberalism As a result it widens our understanding of how peripheral regions may yield egalitarian architectures of resistance This book is written for students and researchers in architecture and planning art history spatial politics and Hispanic studies as well as for a general readership interested in inclusive politics in the built environment The Country Houses of John F. Staub Stephen Fox,2007 This ambitious study of Staub s work by architectural historian Stephen Fox goes beyond a description of Staub s houses Fox analyzes the roles of space structure and decoration in creating defining and maintaining social class structures and expectations and shows how Staub was able to incorporate these elements and understandings into the elegant buildings he designed for his clients In the process he contributes greatly to a fuller understanding of Houston s emergence as a premier American city BOOK JACKET The Routledge Companion to Landscape Studies Peter Howard,Ian Thompson,Emma Waterton,Mick Atha,2013-02-15 Landscape is a vital synergistic concept which opens up ways of thinking about many of the problems which beset our contemporary world such as climate change social alienation environmental degradation loss of biodiversity and destruction of heritage As a concept landscape does not respect disciplinary boundaries Indeed many academic disciplines have found the concept so important it has been used as a qualifier that delineates whole sub disciplines landscape ecology landscape planning landscape archaeology and so forth In other cases landscape studies progress under a broader banner such as heritage studies or cultural geography Yet it does not always mean the same thing in all of these contexts The Routledge Companion to Landscape Studies offers the first comprehensive attempt to explore research directions into the many uses and meanings of landscape The Companion contains thirty nine original contributions from leading scholars within the field which have been divided into four parts Experiencing Landscape Landscape Culture and Heritage Landscape Society and Justice and Design and Planning for Landscape Topics covered range from phenomenological approaches to landscape to the consideration of landscape as a repository of human culture from ideas of identity and belonging to issues of power and hegemony and from discussions of participatory planning and design to the call for new imaginaries in a time of global and environmental crisis Each contribution explores the future development of different conceptual and theoretical approaches as well as recent empirical contributions to knowledge and understanding Collectively they encourage dialogue across disciplinary barriers and reflection upon the implications of research findings for local national and international policy in relation to landscape This Companion provides up to date critical reviews of state of the art perspectives across this multifaceted field embracing disciplines such as anthropology archaeology cultural studies geography landscape planning landscape architecture countryside management forestry heritage studies ecology and fine art It serves as an invaluable point of reference for scholars researchers and graduate students alike engaging in the field of landscape studies

Hidden Geographies Marko Krevs, 2021-10-21 This book defines and discusses the term hidden geographies in two ways systematically and by presenting a variety of examples of the research fields and topics concerning hidden geographies with the aim of stimulating further basic and applied research in this area While the term is quite rarely used in the scientific literature more often as a figure of speech than to illustrate or problematize its deeper meaning we argue that hidden geographies are everywhere and many of them have significant impacts on other natural and social phenomena and processes subsequently triggering changes for example in landscape economy culture health or quality of life The introductory section of the book conceptualises hidden geographies and discusses cognitive geography symbolization of space and the hidden geographies in mystical literature Case studies of hidden environmental geographies address soils air pollution coastal pollution and the allocation of an astronomical tourism site Revealing hidden historical and sacred places is illustrated through examples of the visualisation of the subterranean mining landscape the analysis of the historical road network and trade border stones and historical spatial boundaries and the monastic Carthusian space Hidden urban geographies are discussed in terms of the urban development of an entire city presenting the role of geography in rescuing architecture revealing illegal urbanisation and the quality of habitation in Roma neighbourhoods Case studies of hidden population geographies shed light on the ageing of rural populations and the impact of spatial demographic disparities on fertility variations Discussions of hidden social and economic geographies problematize recent social changes and conflicts in a country present the implementation of the fourth industrial revolution and borders as hidden obstacles in the organisation of public transport Hidden geographies are explicitly linked to perceptions and explanations in case studies that address local responses to perceived marginalisation in a city the solo women travellers perceived risk and safety and hidden geographical contexts of visible post war landscapes The book brings such a diversity of views ideas and examples related to hidden geographies that can serve both to deepen their understanding and their various impacts on our lives and environment and to attract further cross disciplinary interest in considering hidden geographies in research and in our every day lives
